

Canadian Courts, which latter have enabled him to note the manner in which those principles have been interpreted and applied in the various Provinces.

It will be seen that many points commented upon have not yet come before our Courts for consideration, and the Author has had to place reliance on foreign rulings. Other points, which have been adjudicated upon, may, should they again arise, receive a different interpretation if taken to the higher Courts.

F. W

MONTREAL, 1ST JUNE, 1888.