OPENING ATTRACTS MANY ENTHUSIASTS

Artistry in the Highest Form of Millinery Evolved for Spring

TRIP THRU SIMPSON'S

Paris, London and New York Send Models of Latest and Best

Artistry in the highest form of millinery, as shown at the opening of the Robert Simpson Co., at their millinery opening yesterday, found entrancing vistas on every hand. Showcases filled with headpieces of all sorts, from the simple to the elaborate, and with their many neighbors in the variety and richness of the offerings. For early wear in the department for the debutante, the hats are small, with the promise of extending in size as the season advances. The shapes are mostly turban, to perch jauntily on one side, or narrow-brimmed sailors, which tilt easily with bewitching effect. Flowers in rare garlands and delicate French wreaths, quaint ornaments and the almost omnipresent bow, are favorite trimmings, and the varied and bunched variety of bloom, that looks like the old-fashioned bouquet turned out by the modern color scheme artist, is a delightful feature in fashion's dictum.

Black and White Good. Black and white in weave and trimming are pronounced good, and Flanagan green, orange, blue, army blue, khaki, dune, putty, sand, aeroplane, are all displayed. Crowns are made from plaid ribbons and Milan, Tegel and Leghorn are all used. In these styles there are many hats with low, flat crowns and brims of fairly wide width, as well as a diversity of small models. The shepherdess, with graceful brim drooping back and front, is revived. Militarism has influenced not color alone, but also shape and design, as seen in the high helmet and the shako ornaments prevalent under a variety of forms. A French model of special distinction is of rice white silk braid with Tam o' Shanter crown perched high at one side, the back velvet brim giving contrast and the tall shako of white crepe tipped with black and just touched with orient coloring in the center displaying style and taste in a marked degree. A Furmann helmet in fine sand straw, with small ostrich tip at side, was distinctly new. One of the largest models was of black tulle, lined with tan Tuscan, with bow and long streamers at back, massed with wild daisies, poppies, corn-daisies and wheat in front.

A Dainty Model. Among the daintiest models is a sailor in white tulle, with open crown of silk and chiffon, a band of shadowed black velvet, embroidered daisies and blue velvet strapped across the crown, with small bows and streaming ends. Color runs riot in the flower cases, where scarlet, bloom, blazes in gorgeous profusion, outlined by purple and massive orchids and massed brown and yellow baby mums, glowing golden rod, cherries, black, and berries in variety. Ivy of the valley and roses of every hue, Mounds and ospreys are still seen, and ostrich is always in vogue.

Georgette, Evelyn Varon, Germaine, Mendel and names of other designers found on the models, testify that Paris, London and New York have sent the Robert Simpson Co., Limited, samples of the world's best in the line of millinery.

SEVERE NEURALGIA

Cured Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

There is an excellent reason why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured the most severe cases of neuralgia, sciatica and other complaints in the group known as disorders of the nerves. This group also includes St. Vitus' dance, partial paralysis and the common state of extreme nervousness and excitability. Each of these complaints exists because there is something the matter with the nervous system. If the nerves have tone and are strong and healthy you will not have any of these complaints. The reason why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure nervous disorders is that they restore weak, run down nerves to their proper state of tone. They act both directly upon the blood supply and the nerves. The highest medical authorities have noted that nervous troubles generally attack people who are bloodless and that the nerves are toned when the blood is renewed. It is thus seen that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure nervous disorders by curing the cause of the trouble. The following is an instance: Miss Annie Jones, London, Ont., says: "For over a year I was an intense sufferer from neuralgia, which located in my face and head. The pain at times was so intense that I could scarcely keep from screaming, and nothing I was doing for the trouble seemed to help me. As time went on my whole nervous system was affected. At last, when I felt that my case was beyond remedy, I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The result of this treatment was that I am now enjoying such comfort as I had not known for years, and only those who have suffered from neuralgia can realize what a blessing the Pills have been to me."

If you are suffering from any blood or nervous disorder begin to cure yourself today with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which you can get from any medicine dealer or by mail, at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SUIT CAN BE USED IN EITHER MANNER

Strictly Tailored Wear or Transformed Into Dressy Costume

POPULAR SHIRTTWAIST

Plain Silk for Street or Morning, Fancy for Afternoon

Elaboration in the street suit is now passe. With the increased popularity of the smart, strictly severe suit—the coat boasting no more trimming than a belt and buttons covered in the same material, the skirt short, full, and absolutely plain in most instances—the "fussy" blouse again comes into its own. With a well-chosen and faultlessly fashioned waist, the suit is rendered correct for strictly tailored wear, or transformed into a costume suitable for dressy occasions.

The plain silk shirt waists are continuing in popularity for street and morning wear, but the most wonderful concoctions of nets, satins, laces and exquisite silks are being shown for afternoon wear. There is also a distinct type of blouse for theatre wear—it is very dainty, showing employment of costly patterned nets, veiling, silver lace, or beaded motifs, that shimmer effectively from the transparent fabric gracefully draped on the latest lines.

The set-in sleeve is shown in a number of interesting styles, being "set-in" with dainty pipings, cordings and hem-stitched effects. The smock type of blouse gives splendid opportunity of combining fine lace with brocades of soft satins. Flowered tulle is also often used in the over-blouse models.

Small buttons of queer shape are displayed for trimmings, and these are introduced in many novel ways. One very exclusive model made of cream dotted net with a loose smock-like over-blouse of blue, in the new army tone, had high rolled back collar and long set-in sleeves. The only trimming was in the rows of tiny black set buttons which ran from the waistline to the neck in front.
