

CONTENTS

XV

|                                                                                         |      |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------|
| Holy-Cross Day                                                                          | PAGE |
| ust 2                                                                                   | 450  |
| Dark Tower Came "2                                                                      | 453  |
|                                                                                         | 454  |
|                                                                                         | 458  |
|                                                                                         | 458  |
| A SOUL'S TRAGEDY                                                                        |      |
| LURIA                                                                                   |      |
| CHRISTMAS-EVE AND EASTER-DAY                                                            | 50   |
| MEN AND WOMEN                                                                           | 51   |
| "Transcendentalism: A Poem in Twelve Books"                                             | 51   |
| How it Strikes a Contemporary                                                           | 53   |
| Artemis Prologizes                                                                      | 5    |
| An Epistle containing the Strange Medical Experience of Karshish,The Arab Physician | 53   |
| Johannes Agricola in Meditation                                                         | 54   |
| Pictor Ignotus. Fre Woodhouse p. 345                                             | 54   |
| Andrea del Sarto                                                                        | 55   |
| *The Bishop orders his Tomb at Saint Praxed's Church 3                                  | 55   |
| Cleon                                                                                   | 57   |
| Rudel to the Lady of Tripoli FRU. W. p.                                          | 57   |
| One Word More                                                                           | 51   |
| IN A BALCONY                                                                            | 51   |
| BEN KARSHOOK'S WISDOM                                                                   | 51   |
| DRAMATIS PERSONÆ                                                                        |      |
| James Lee's Wife                                                                        |      |
| Gold Hair: A Story of Pornic                                                            |      |
| Dis Alter Visum; or, Le Byron de nos Jours                                              | 61   |
| Too Late                                                                                | 61   |
| Abt Vogler                                                                              |      |
| Rabbi Ben Ezra                                                                          | 614  |
| A Death in the Desert                                                                   | 617  |
| *Caliban upon Setebos.                                                                  | 628  |
| Confessions                                                                             | 633  |
| May and Death.                                                                          | 634  |
| Deaf and Dumb                                                                           | 634  |
| Prospice                                                                                | 634  |
| Eurydice to Orpheus.                                                                    |      |
| Youth and Art.                                                                          |      |
| A Face                                                                                  |      |
| A Likeness                                                                              |      |
|                                                                                         |      |
| THE RING AND THE BOOK                                                                   |      |
| I. The Ring and the Book                                                                |      |
| II. Half-Rome                                                                           |      |

U.B.C. LIBRARY