

fervent hearts, and willing tongues, sing hallelujah; the Kingdoms of the world are become the Kingdoms of our God, and of his Christ. Amen and Amen.

London,
Prescot-street, No. 60,
July 18, 1785.

London, August 16, 1785.

MR. John Marrant liv'd with us about 3 years, which he did with honesty and sobriety—he feared God, and had a desire to save his soul before he ever came to live with us;—he shewed himself to be such while he lived with us, by attending the means of Grace diligently, and by being tender hearted to the poor, by giving them money and viſtuals if he had left himself none. He left us with no misunderstanding whatever, about April last.

This is nothing but the truth.

(Signed)

Cotton-Merchant,
No. 38, Dowgate-Hill.

John Marsden,
H. Marsden.