KINRADES ABSENT ONLY FOUR MINOR WITNESSES HEARD

QUEST ADJOURNS

As a result of an order from the attorney-general's department, all the passes issued were this morning canceled, it being stated that the disorder at times in the court-room during previous sessions had worried Mr. Blackstock. There were, however, about 100 interested auditors present, outside of a small army of newspaper men, who were to-night banished beyond the rail-

MRS. ERNEST KINRADE HAD ENGAGEMENT WITH ETHEL

HAMILTON, April 22.—(Special.)—"Isabelle Kinrade," "Isabelle Kinrade." Three times in an impressive silence was Mrs. Kinrade's name called at the inquest on the death of Ethel Kinrade here to-night. No answer.

Proprietor of Department House Declines to Say Whether They Were in the City Last Night

A World reporter who called at the "Adderley," 258 Sherbourne-street, last night, had an interesting time extracting any information from the proprietor.

"May I see Miss Florence Kinrade?" was the question. "Who said Miss Kinrade was here?" came the quick rejoinder.

"Well, Mrs. or Miss Kinrade did not answer to their names at the inquest to-night. Perhaps they would like to make an explanation to avoid being misunderstood."

Interest cannot be said to have been fluffed in any degree in one of the most mysterious crimes that have ever occurred in Canada. To-night's proceedings aroused interest in the tragedy of March 25.

15,000 KILLED BY FANATIC MOOSELS

Terrible Tales of Slaughter From Asiatic Turkey — Women and Children Are Not Spared.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 22.—The situation in Asiatic Turkey, according to the latest intelligence received here, is distinctly threatening.

The wave of fanaticism which originated in Odessa some ten days ago and found its expression in the killing of the Christians, apparently is spreading generally thru the eastern provinces. Upward of 10,000 Armenians were massacred in Syrian towns and villages, principally in the Vilayet of Adana, during outbreaks in the spring festival in honor of Mohammed and upon the receipt of the news of the overturn of the "heretical" government at Constantinople. One embassy places the estimates of killed as high as 15,000.

The government has sent urgent commands to the vilayets of Adana that the mob must be put down and the leaders harshly dealt with. The attacks on the Armenians appear to have been instigated solely by the reactionaries.

A despatch from Mersina says the Armenian town of Madjin is besieged by Moslem tribesmen, who are only waiting sufficient numerical strength to rush the improvised defenses erected by the Armenians. The Armenians, however, are well armed, and will put up a vigorous defence.

Another despatch from Tarsus dated April 20, and sent by courier to Mersina, sets forth that the missions there were giving shelter to 800 refugees and were well protected. Martial law has been declared and the situation was showing some improvement. Five hundred houses had been burned in the Armenian quarter of the city, where fifty persons had been killed. Others had been killed in the surrounding villages.

The town of Kirken, which is located a short distance from Rellian, and southeast of Adana, has been sacked and burned.

At Tarsus 100 persons have been killed, 200 houses have been burned and there are to-day 5000 persons without homes.

Important Congress of Commercial Delegates at Detroit to Discuss Trade With Canada.

DETROIT, April 22.—(Special.)—A Canadian reciprocity conference, called by the Detroit Board of Commerce, to thoroughly discuss and investigate the matter of more cordial trade relations with Canada, was called to order in the new Y. M. C. A. auditorium in Detroit at 7 o'clock this afternoon by President E. A. Sumner of the Detroit Board of Commerce.

There was a large attendance of delegates from more than ten states, a great majority coming from New York, Chicago, Boston and from states bordering on the frontier. Many of the largest trade organizations in the country are represented. Following Mr. Sumner's opening remarks, the conference received an official welcome from Gov. Fred. M. Warner, who said in part:

"The subject to be considered by this conference is of paramount importance. It is well worth the time and attention of the best thought of men of large financial and industrial interests, men of extensive business experience, such as I see before me this afternoon."

"Coming as you do from various sections of the country, which are most concerned in the movement, to take steps which will, at an early day, let trade relations between the United States and Canada, you are prepared to discuss this important question in all its bearings and map out a course of procedure that will be mutually satisfactory and beneficial."

"Of paramount importance. Situated as the two countries are, separated only by an invisible line, populated by people of the same race and of like attainments and ambitions, it would seem that there should exist between them trade relations of the widest possible scope and the greatest cordiality."

"The rapid development of the Canadian territory and its marvelous resources make the improvement of our trade relations with that country of great importance."

Immediately following Gov. Warner's address, the conference organized for business, with ex-Gov. M. H. Herricks, president of the Merchants' Association of New York; James R. Garfield, formerly secretary of the International Association of America; and J. A. Macdonald, editor of the Toronto Globe, and Ryerson Ritchie of Buffalo and Philadelphia.

Ex-Gov. Herricks was given close attention thruout. After expatiating at length upon the extensive trade and commercial relations at present existing between the United States with all countries, Mr. Herricks created great enthusiasm when he closed his speech with the statement that "with Herricks in the States as willing, nay, so national, to increase, preserve and maintain trade relations with the citizens of that nation than with any other people, in great truth, the United States is a nation whose veins flow the same Anglo-Saxon blood and with whom we are already in any other nation in the world."

Disley Bill Criticized.

The Disley tariff bill, introduced in a previous session at the hands of C. W. Ketcher, one of the most prominent of Michigan lumber men, and his minor associates, has been the subject of no words in declaring the bill as a "senseless" and one which had already cost the State of Michigan more than $12,000,000 within the past 12 years, on account of its ridiculous impost of $2 per thousand on lumber.

Henry R. Towne of New York, representing the Merchants' Association of that state, delivered a rousing address, in the course of which he said: "If we face squarely and with open eyes the problem of better trade relations between the United States and Canada, we may come to a realization of what free citizenship really means."

He would be well for both countries if there were less extravagance of devotion to mere form.

freedom and more jealous concern for the common and every-day rights of the average citizen. While we protest our loyalty to this or that form, our loyalty to this or that form is hampered by primal liberties may be.
