

THE HARRISON BATHS.

The "Harrison Baths," which are soon to be opened on the site of the old St. Patrick's Market, Stephanie-place, will be the first public indoor swimming baths in Toronto. The institution was to have begun its career on July 1, but for various reasons the work which is in the hands of the city architect's department has been delayed. In view of the many sultry days of this summer, the city's slowness has been exasperating to hundreds of Torontonians, young and old, who would gladly have indulged in the cooling plunge.

The bath-house is of modern brick and concrete construction. There is an entrance on one side for male patrons, and on the other for fair bathers, with a separate commodious tank for each sex. The baths are named after Controller Harrison, who originated the idea.

The easiest way to reach the baths is by the Queen or McCaul-street car. Stephanie-place is the first street north of Queen, and the baths are half a block west.

TORONTO FIREMEN ELICIT HEARTY PRAISE

Fine Old Family Residence Badly Damaged—West Toronto News—County Matters.

NORTH TORONTO, Aug. 6.—(Special.)—Fire in the fine old family residence known as the "Lauder Building," situated just to the west of the Metropolitan power house on Yonge-street and immediately south of the old Belt Line Railway, at 6 o'clock did full $5000 worth of damage.

The flames were first noticed by Mrs. Lloyd, wife of the tenant, shortly after 5 o'clock and an alarm was sent to the North Toronto fire department, and similarly to the city brigade, and both responded promptly, but the flames had secured a strong grip before their arrival.

The three divisions of the North Toronto brigade, Davisville, Eglinton and Bedford Park, under command of Chief Collins and deputies Atkinson, Speers and Douglas made good time.

The local men ran out about two feet of hose from the hydrant at the large tracks, and this was later supplemented with about 60 more from the city brigade.

Two large basins at the rear of the residence, altogether more than 100 feet in length, were utterly consumed, while the kitchen and roof of the large 16-roomed residence were badly damaged by fire and water. The furniture was removed in safety, but practically everything in the two barns was burned.

The house was built by the late Mr. Lauder and was regarded as a landmark in the Deer Park district.

The building was leased and occupied by Thomas Lloyd, and a portion sub-leased to Thomas Williams. Both Mr. Williams and Mr. Lloyd, who were builders, lost their carpenter kits worth $200 each.

The building was bought by the Grand Trunk Railway about a year ago in anticipation of the opening up of the old Belt Line and was handled by the National Trust Company.

Deputy-chief Smedley warmly complimented the North Toronto firemen on their showing.

Citizens generally do not relish the thought of 22 1-2 mills levy, and some consider that the present rate declared, namely 22 1-2 mills, is unnecessarily high, and if the council would put forth effort they could easily keep the rate as low as last year. The estimates as worded seem to show amounts not properly annual current expenses, and it is known that if the school board tried they could cut nearly $2000 out of their estimates and apply for the amount from the council to be raised by debenture. The credit of North Toronto requires careful consideration.

Property in the vicinity of Glen Grove-avenue has been changing hands very rapidly lately. Usher, Strath &

Co., real estate brokers, whose North Toronto office is on Yonge-street at the terminus of the Glen Grove-avenue, have closed several substantial deals within the last few days.

They have sold to Jas. S. Douglas of The Mail and Empire, 200 feet at the extreme end of Glen Grove, right next to the city bridge, and those wishing to erect a comfortable home. The firm have also sold to Mrs. M. Cohen of Toronto another 300 feet for a home only a few hundred feet away, and also to Jas. P. Jamieson next door to Mrs. Cohen.

It is also stated that they have sold Nicholas Garland's house on Glen Grove for $4400 to Geo. Purdie of Toronto, who will remove to North Toronto.

RESIDENTS DON'T LIKE 'EM.

Kingston-road residents are up in arms against the noisy and inconsiderate drivers of the automobiles, and are petitioning the council to take measures to prevent the excessive speed at which these machines are allowed to race up and down this road.

From the Woodbine to the Half-Way House these days for the dwellers along the Kingston-road is not worth living.

The dust nuisance is awful, chargeable in a measure to the weather, but also to the excessive speed of the automobiles.

It is doubly intensified by the clouds which the autos leave behind them in their flight. The dust is an hour's ride is said to be an ordinary clip, and it is probable that this rate is exceeded. Everywhere along the road the trees, shrubbery, and lawns are covered with a heavy coating of fine dust, due almost wholly to the autos.

"I will never like to ride before these machines come along," said a prominent Kingston-road property owner yesterday. "The ordinary farmer's traffic would never bring about such a condition of things."

The officials of the Hunt Club in short time will be the effect of oil in the streets of this city, and a great improvement was shown, but the cost is thought to be prohibitive on a large scale.

"If the county authorities would send a man down that way in plain clothes, alert to the situation, this nuisance to life and limb, it alone would, would soon be stamped out," said an old resident on Friday. "If someone is not done there will be a rebellion."
