TORONTO REQUIRES PROTECTIVE TARIFF

articles produced by the factories of Ontario cover a very wide field. In fact, almost every kind of manufacturing in Canada is represented in the province of Ontario, and there is a very wide distribution of manufacturing activity throughout the province. This situation has attributed to the flow of the west city of food and unsanitary conditions on the farms.

Given a stable tariff and harmony between capital and labor, he believed the country would enter upon a period of great prosperity. The tariff was a tariff it would be difficult to get capital to develop industries. Since the war 140 branches of United States industry have been located in Toronto owing to the tariff.

The plan of improving Toronto harbor involves the expenditure of $25,000,000, and of this sum about $12,000,000 has been spent. These works are now being carried out and it is hoped that the industrial future of the city is assured.

Protection Essential. Mayor Church, who addressed the convention, referred to the growth of Toronto since the adoption of the protective tariff, as shown by the building permits, bank clearings, customs returns, manufacturing, employing both men and women, and he disputed the statement that the protective tariff had populated the rural parts of the province. This situation he attributed to the flow of the west city of food and unsanitary conditions on the farms.

CONVENTION IS HOSTILE TO "STEAM ROLLER"

A little later there was another cheering followed. No Cut and Dried Program. A little later there was another cheering followed. A striking committee, which had been previously selected, was about to be named. This did not suit a great many of the delegates; it looked too much as if things had been cut and dried. The delegates wanted to know all about those whom it was proposed to appoint to the committee—were they lawyers or not? Another wanted to know plain that every delegate would be given an opportunity to vote so that it could not be said that business had been railroaded thru.

It is not fair to foist this important committee on us without telling us all about those whom it is proposed to appoint. What the committee is for, and other things, is what we want to know. The protests were all finally accepted and the convention itself named the members of the committee. It was the first victory for the rank and file.

Mr. Hollinshead, president of the Toronto manufacturers, submitted a statement giving the following details of Toronto's trade: The attention of the commission is respectfully directed to the remarkable industrial development of the province now produces 14 per cent of all the goods manufactured in Canada, and 31 per cent of all goods manufactured in the province of Ontario.

According to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics estimates, which are available, there were in that year 2335 manufacturing establishments in Toronto representing an investment of $14,778,778; employees numbered 106,123, and salaries and wages paid amounted to $185,000,000. The Toronto manufacturing industries cost $265,580,781, and the value of goods produced amounted to $125,000,000.

Assuming that each of the 106,000 Toronto people employed in manufacturing industry in 1919, the average person employed 200,000 citizens of Toronto or 40 per cent of the entire population are dependent on the salaries and wages paid by Toronto manufacturing establishments.

The manufacturing industries of the province are varied in character, including heavy industries, employing men, such as steel and metal works; medium industries, employing both men and women, such as electrical industries; and light industries, employing chiefly women and girls, such as white-ware, biscuit and confectionery industries. A conservative estimate places the number of lines of industry in this city at 2335.

Since the National Policy was adopted in 1878, the population of Toronto has been multiplied by about ten. It is also significant that about 140 branches of United States industry have been located in Toronto owing to the tariff.

The plan of improving Toronto harbor involves the expenditure of $25,000,000, and of this sum about $12,000,000 has been spent. These works are now being carried out and it is hoped that the industrial future of the city is assured.

GRANT MORDEN EXPLAINS RISE IN CELLULOSE SHARES

(London, Dec. 1.—(Can. Associated Press).)

Colonel Grant Morden, interviewed by The Evening Standard London, concerning recent activity in British Cellulose Company's shares, despite the fact that the loss on the year's working of the company was 237,739 pounds sterling, says that the factory is making artificial silk which proved an enormous success, and doubled accounts for the activity in the shares.

"I am no longer a director," having resigned last year," he added. "I went up to work the other day, and I was in the office. I never went into it to make money, but I was there to see that the company was getting on its feet."

NEED HIGH FLAGSTAFF AT MAIN DUCK ISLAND. Kingston, Ont., Dec. 1.—(Special).—Marine is wanted at the main Duck Island, what men say that where the crew of the steamer Randall was found, is a high flagstaff, erected at the highest part of the island, near the light house, to hoist a distress signal when help is wanted. Hundreds of steamers pass by; if some of last year were about 16,000. The word at the first port they stop at.

HOW HE CAME BY IT. "That's a fine umbrella you carry." "Yes." "Did you come by it honestly?" "I haven't quite made it, but I started to run the other day and I stepped into a doorway to wait till it stopped. Then I saw a young fellow coming along with a nice large umbrella, and I thought if he were going as far as my house I would beg the shelter of his umbrella. So I stepped out and asked, 'Where are you going with that umbrella, young fellow?' and he dropped the umbrella and ran."

Competition From Japan. H. Fullerton of Cobourg, manufacturer of matted from jute, said his firm had a capitalization of $200,000, and was doing about $300,000 a year, and paid out about $70,000 a year in wages. The profits in 1919 were about $15,000. The raw material was imported from Japan and India, and came in duty free. There was competition from India from a firm in Japan, and it was essential for the Canadian industry to have the protection of a tariff.

Favored Free Market. Joseph Beaumont, manufacturer of woolen goods at Glen Williams, said that before the war 80 per cent of the wool used in his factory was from New Zealand. He was now using considerable Canadian wool, but favored a free market.

George Oakley, representing the cut stone contractors of the province, asked
