GIVES EVIDENCE OF GAME-THROWING

National League President Publishes Details of Private Investigation.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—President John Heydler of the National League tonight made public evidence he has gathered in a private investigation of alleged baseball gambling and "game throwing" and declared President Comiskey, Chicago Americans, and Manager Gleason were convicted after the first world series game last year that the series had been "fixed" and sought his aid in an investigation.

The matter was brought to the attention of President B. B. Johnson, American League, but Johnson did not seem very enthusiastic over starting an investigation, Heydler said.

Heydler brought the name of Jean Dubuc, former Detroit American League pitcher, into the scandal, and also gave hitherto unrevealed details of the Hal Chase and Lee Magee case.

President Heydler quoted J. C. (Rube) Benton, New York National League pitcher, as saying Dubuc was the man who received telegrams from Bill Burns, former Major League pitcher, tipping him that the world series had been fixed, and that Benton had received his information from this telegram.

Benton told Heydler he had seen Hal Chase make one bet of $100 on the series, Heydler said.

Discussing the Magee case, Heydler said he and William Yeck, president of the Chicago National League, had obtained Magee's confession that he had attempted to throw a game, and that Magee had shown them a check sent him by Hal Chase.

Heinz Zimmerman also had been accused of throwing games, said Mr. Heydler, but he would neither confirm nor deny reports that Zimmerman was released by the New York Giants for that reason. Reports that Zimmerman was suspended a year ago for trying to throw a game, and no longer breaking training, as was announced, were not denied.

President Heydler expects to testify before the grand jury Tuesday. He will give additional evidence on the case, he disclosed tonight, he said, including a quantity of documentary evidence.

Deny They Are Involved.—Fred McMullin and Buck Weaver, Chicago American players, tonight denied they were involved in the alleged "throwing" games in the world series last fall. Reports of evidence given the Cook County grand jury, said McMullin had acted as the "go-between" between a ring of gamblers and the Chicago players. It also was said McMullin had taken a small oblong package to Weaver's home after one game and that Weaver, when he came home and found the package, refused at first to accept it, but finally did keep it.

PAVING THE WAY FOR REAL WORK

Delegates to Financial Conference Are Holding Informal Meetings.

Brussels, Sept. 26.—The public session of the financial conference has been characterized only by the presentation of an enormous mass of data and figures, the instant. He invited representatives in the lobbies of the chamber of representatives and the committee rooms have furnished occasion for the leading delegates to exchange views and pave the way for the real work of the conference, which will begin tomorrow, when the vice-president, R. H. DeLamotte, will open the debate on the general financial situation.

The exchange of views has not developed any tangible proposition, but has shown a tendency to settle the world's financial troubles thru regular financial channels, the longer look for the various governments to aid each other. The German delegates are among the most assiduous and attentive at the conference, they are manifestly ill at ease.

Herr Bergmann, head of the delegation, told the correspondent that he had come here with a total budget of 24,000,000 marks in an effort to find a way for the financial ills of Europe and all, to avoid a world-wide economic crisis, and to reserve what he had to say for the conference itself, adding that the German delegation might be counted on to do everything possible to make the conference a success.

Dr. Schuller, head of the Austrian delegation, expressed the hope that some generally effective means might be found by the conference, but said he regretted only unofficially creating a "Balkan" which reminded him of a conference by French debtors and creditors, with the principal creditor being Austria, with a deficit of 12,000,000,000 crowns, "is the possibility of a currency and export, which means raw materials, or, in other words, credit abroad."

"The outstanding features of the financial statements thus far presented are without exception, a heavy burden of debt, provided capital necessary for development can be obtained, and the pessimism of the European nations, which complain of trade restrictions and a well-nigh increased debt and the need of capital at home. Such is the situation particularly with Spain, which points out a deficiency of 800,000,000 pesetas in the budget affords great anxiety to Spanish statesmen, necessitating new taxes of 45 pesetas per head.

MORE EXAGGERATION BY SINN FEIN LEADER

Dublin, Sept. 26.—Arthur Griffin, founder of the Sinn Fein, yesterday sent the following telegram to Professor Eamonn de Valera, president of the Irish republic, who is in the United States.

"The English press announces that the English city of Newcastle has decided to adopt Ardra in the devastated region of France. Armed forces of England in Ireland are now devastating Irish towns, the edgeworks of atrocity surpassing those of the war against Germany in Belgium or Turkey in Armenia. Everywhere the people are helping homeless women and children, but the systematic destruction of factories, workshops and creameries deprives the men of employment. I suggest that in aid of the state of the union our kindred should adopt one of our devastated towns."
