John, must do more than they yet have done. A strong British offensive in the west has met with some success, but the west has met with some success, but the fact that the veteran fighters were not able to hold all they gained shows that the Germans are far from being weakened on that front. No doubt the battle reported in last night's papers and given in more detail this morning, cost our forces heavy losses and these must be replaced by fresh troops, and it must be remembered that this is not a mather than the remembered that this is not a mather than the remembered that this is not a mather than the remembered that this is not a mather than the remembered that this is not a mather than the remembered that this is not a mather than the remembered that this is not a mather than the remembered that the remembered that this is not a mather than the remembered that the remembered that the remembered that the remembered that the remember that the remembered that the remembered that the remembered that this is not a mather than the remember of men in the original expeditionary force of 150,000,000 men, it has since raised an army of 3,000,000 men, it has since raised an army of 3,000,000 men, it has since raised an army of 3,000,000 men, it has since raised an army of 3,000,000 men, it has since raised an army of 3,000,000 men, it has since raised an army of 3,000,000 men, it has since raised an army of 3,000,000 men, it has since raised an army of 3,000,000 men, it has since raised an army of 3,000,000 men, it has since raised an army of 3,000,000 men, it has since raised an army of 3,000,000 men, it has since raised an army of 3,000,000 men, it has since raised an army of 3,000,000 men, it has since raised an army of 3,000,000 men, it has since raised an army of 3,000,000 men, and the British casualtreather than the British casualtreather than the British casualtreather than the British casualtreather the second time army of 3,000,000 men, it has since raised an army of 3,000 men, it has since raised an army of 3,000 men, it has since raised an army of 3,000 men, it has since raised an army of 3,000 men, it has since raised an a ter of one battle alone, but of daily conflict, so there is a steady wastage which must be just as steadily overcome. And the Allies' offensive in the west has only been begun.

There are signs, too, of a further widening of the field of battle. Roumania and then Greece may well be expected to be involved in the world war and in that portion of the fighting ground Britain and her dominions will have to do a large share in the supplying of fighting men. Now is the time for preparing troops to take their part. Now is the time for men to come forward as volunteers to play a man's part. Germany and her allies must be defeated; they shall be, but unless we want to see this

THE WAR.

The war news supports the dictum of Lord Kitchener that he must have more men. That, in fact, is the outstanding feature. Canada, New Brunswick, St. John, must do more than they yet have done. A strong British offensive in the west has met with some special way. It is a special way to be gone.

The war news supports the dictum of problem can be briefly stated. The main problem can be briefly stated. The more specially men, artillery, and munitions are furnished the shorter the duration of the war and, consequently, the less will be the ultimate expenditure."
