CARGO OF GAS OIL GOES TO MONTREAL

Shipment of Million and Half Gallons Being Un-
loaded From Tanker

MONTREAL, Sept. 11.—For the first time since the Sun Oil Company, Limited, became established in Canada, they are bringing in a cargo of gas oil for general distribution in Montreal. The oil tanker Dixiano arrived on Wednesday morning from Marcus Hook refinery in Delaware Bay, Pa., and is now unloading a cargo of a million and a half gallons at Section 84.

The Sun Oil Co., Ltd., have recently leased the 2,500,000-gallon tankage space of the Montreal Light, Heat and Power plant at Hochelaga, and will make distribution from there in addition to their own tankage space on St. Patrick street, where oil is unloaded from cars.

Several years ago the company brought up cargoes for special customers, but this oil, which is suitable for use in oil furnaces, is the first carried here for general distribution.

In anticipation of the growing demand for gas oil, motor tankers are now on the ways at Chester, Pa., being built specially for the Canadian subsidiary company. It will have a length of 231 feet, a breadth of 41 feet and is to be an ocean-going vessel capable of carrying 20,000 barrels of oil. Should the ship be launched within the next two months, it is expected that she will make her first trip to Montreal before the close of navigation. In any case, the Dixiano is scheduled to make a more regular trip during the season. The home company has a fleet of tankers with tonnage aggregating 150,000 tons, but these boats are being kept continually in operation on other routes, making necessary the construction of a tanker for the Canadian trade.

Weddings

Clark-Walker.

St. Andrew's Kirk, Germain street, is beautifully decorated with white phlox, palms and ferns, for the marriage at 6 o'clock this evening of Miss Frances Isabel Walker, daughter of Mrs. and the late Daniel Walker, King street East, to Allan Douglas Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Clark of Saint John. Rev. J. Sutherland Bonnel will perform the ceremony.

The bride, who will be given in marriage by her uncle, Hugh McPherson, will wear a gown of ivory of Montreal, will be a simple, trimmed with rose point lace and pearls. Her tulle veil will be arranged from a coronet of rose point lace, encircled with orange blossoms and she will carry a shower bouquet of sweet peas.

Miss Anna McPherson of Montreal, her cousin, will be her only attendant, and will wear a French gown of pale pink georgette, pink picture hat with silver trimmings, and will carry an arm bouquet of pink snapdragons, and sweet peas. Arthur Clark, of New York, will be groomsmen, and Frank Garton of Halifax and Robert Patterson will act as ushers. Mrs. J. Milton Barney will give in marriage, and as the bride enters the church, will render "The Voice That Breathed Our Being." After the ceremony "Mendelssohn's" wedding march. During the signing of the register Miss Audrey Barney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Fiddling Rankine, will sing "Until."

After the ceremony an informal reception will be held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Daniel Walker, which will be attended by relatives of the contracting parties. The house is beautifully decorated with a profusion of white flowers, white sweet peas and ferns. The bride's table artistically arranged, and is centred with the wedding cake and white sweet peas, and ivory candles in silver candlesticks, are used in the decorative scheme.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark will leave on the Boston train for a wedding trip to Boston, New York and Philadelphia, and on their return will reside at the Chipman Hill Apartments. The bride will travel in a dress of deep blue Canan crepe, and tailored coat of brown marvella, with beaver trimmings. She will wear a blonde felt hat, with shoes and stockings to match.

Among out-of-town guests in the city for the wedding are Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McPherson and Miss Anna McPherson, of Montreal, Frank Garton, of Halifax and Arthur Clark of New York. Many beautiful gifts, including silver, cut glass and linen, were received from the friends of the young couple, who extend best wishes for their future happiness.

MacQueen-MacLeod

Something new in the way of wedding marches was experienced last evening in Saint John when the members of the Van Arnam Minstrel Company escorted one of the members, Herchel MacQueen and his bride, Miss Eileen MacLeod, from the east side ferry boats to the Imperial. Cheers from the crowd on the streets greeted them when it was seen that a wedding was being celebrated. Miss MacLeod and Mr. MacQueen met here a year ago when he was here with Mr. Van Arnam's company. The bride, nursing assistant in the dental office of Dr. W. P. and P. L. Bonnell, Germain street, is a daughter of the late J. Ernest and Mrs. Ann MacLeod, of Middle street, West Saint John. She was married in her own home in the presence of relatives and friends by Rev. W. A. Robbins, of the Ludlow street Baptist church, in which congregation she was chorister and Sunday school teacher. After a ten day's honeymoon tour, which includes the Maritime Hierarchy of the Van Arnam Minstrels, Mrs. MacQueen will return to her professional duties and subsequently will join her husband to take up residence in Chicago. Mr. MacQueen is a young citizen of Streeter, Ill., where his family is prominent.

Riley-McColgan.

The United Church, Fairville, was the scene of a pretty wedding this morning at 8 o'clock, when Miss Lydia Victoria McColgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McColgan of Harding street, Fairville, was united in marriage to Frank Lester Riley, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Riley of Durban street. The church was beautifully decorated with golden glow and ferns by girl friends of the bride. The pews reserved for relatives were marked with bows of white tulle and bride's bouquet. Rev. S. H. B. Strothard solemnized the marriage ceremony in being signed Mrs. Lohereau, and the presence of relatives and friends.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and was becomingly attired in a dress of dark raspberry crepe, romaine, with hat to match, blonde shoes and stockings and carried a bouquet of Columbine roses. Little Doris McColgan, her sister, was flower girl and wore a dainty frock of mauve crepe de chine with hat to match and carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses, sweet peas and gypsophila. As the bridal party entered the church Miss Audrey McColgan, sister of the bride, and organist of the church, played the wedding march. On their return Mendelssohn's wedding march as they left the church. While the register was being signed Mrs. Cougle sang "At Dawning," Miss Hazel Kelly, cousin of the bride, and Roland Riley, brother of the groom, witnessed the signing of the register.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Riley left by auto for a wedding trip through Nova Scotia. On their return they will reside at 50 Queen street. The groom is a commercial traveler for Hall & Fairweather, Ltd. For travelling the bride wore the costume a montigny needle point coat with natural lynx trimmings. Many beautiful gifts of silver, cut glass and linen were received, including an electric bridge lamp from the choir of the church, of which the bride is a valued member, and a silver basket from the Y. P. S. of the church. The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a substantial check, to the organist, a gift of gold, to the soloist a brooch with pearl settings, and to the flower girl, a ring. Mr. and Mrs. Riley have many friends who extend good wishes for their future happiness.

Test For All Drivers.

(London Express)
Surely the time has come to impose a driving test on all applicants for a motor license. At present there is no test whatever, and the increase in motor accidents is doubtless largely due to this laxity of the law. Even children nowadays are sometimes allowed to drive a car. In Norfolk a little girl of eleven has actually been summoned for driving without a license. Her father was fined a pound for aiding and abetting.
