ULCERATED TONSILS.

Burdock Blood Bitters cured Mr. John Couch, of Wiarton, Ont., 11 years ago, and he has had no return of the trouble.

Ulcerations or Ulcerated Sores, no matter where they occur on the body, are an indication of bad blood. There is no means of curing them and healing up the sores unless the blood is purified, and there is no remedy can do this with such effectiveness as Burdock Blood Bitters. The case of Mr. John Couch, which we give below, is only another example of the wonderful thoroughness and permanency of the curing properties of B.B.B. Here is the letter written by Mr. Couch's daughter, dated Wiarton, Ont., Jan. 23rd, "This is to certify that some years ago my father, John Couch, was troubled with ulcers in his tonsils. After suffering for about a year and getting no relief from the doctors, he was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters, which he did.

"On taking the first bottle there was a great change for the better, and before the second bottle was finished he was completely cured. We have great faith in B.B.B. as a blood purifier and family medicine, and would recommend it to all those who suffer from any disease resulting from impure blood." ETTA J. COUCH. Here is the letter written a short time ago by Mr. John Couch: "It is now nearly eleven years ago since I took Burdock Blood Bitters for ulcerated tonsils, from which I had suffered for 'The cure made then was a complete and permanent one, as I never had the slightest return of the trouble since

A most successful remedy has been found for sexual weakness such as imother results of self-abuse or excesses. It cures any case of the difficulty, never fails to restore the organs to full natural strength and vigor. The doc-tor who made this wonderful discovery wants to let every man know about if He will therefore send the receipt, giv-ing the various ingredients to be use so that all men at a trifling expense can cure themselves. He sends the recipe free, and all the reader need do is to send his name and address to L. W. Knapp, M.D., 1710, Hull Bldg., Detroit, requesting the free recipe as reported in this paper. It is a generous offer and all men ought to be glad to have such an opportunity.

VERBENA THE NEW SCENT, REPLACES THE VIOLET.

Has Set in Against the Purple Flower - The Latest in Bounets - The Cab- fashionable woman's busy day. riolet-Painted Muslins-A Sweet Paris

Whether the exclusiveness of the violet has been harped upon so much that the flower and its perfume have lost distinction may be a question. sweet, spicy, old-fashioned garden growth, is the favorite of the hour der rebellious ends. with the Parisiennes. Therefore, with the advance guard among American women of fashion.

It is the delightful and the proper thing for those who can afford the arrangement to make an early summer trip to Paris, returning to Newport or Naragansett which the latest costume for the gay season at one or the other of these representative resorts. I have had the fortune to overhaul the trunks, of a knowing mondainepotency, varicocele, shrunken organs, nervous debility, lost manhood, night emissions, premature discharge and all saying that a mandaine is knowing—saying that a mandaine is knowing that a mandaine and am informed upon some of the latest phases of French fancies.

White, in every feature of woman's present wear, is extremely chic. Her gowns are uncolored, her hats, her gloves, her parasols, hence her perfumes. Thus the ban which for half a dozen years or so has been upon all odors except violet is removed. And it may be that the romen of fashion keep their equilibrium in this way.

pute. Wiseacres called it intoxicating; said that the scent produced artificial exhilaration which was not ennobling. Whether or no, it is a matter of history, not surmise, that the verbeug has known to physicians as a cooling rem- summer, fall and winter they must edy. The verbena grows in every tem- have new hats or else have the ones perate part of the world. Most of us already on hand retrimmed so they recall it tenderly as a lowly blossom of luxurious growth and surpassing sweetness in grandmother gardens.

Among the lovely new things in the trunk from Paris was a cabriolet, bonnet, made of finest, thinnest white satin, put on without a pucker, trimmed with a wreath of white verbenas and their green leaves. The long strings to tie under the chin and hang away down were of pure white tulle. The cabriolet, newer then the Spanish toque, to which we were so devoted, in contrition or compliment, earlier in the season, is the afternoon or dress head covering of first favor in Paris at the moment, and among the leaders of American fashions at Newport. Cabriolets are made from tulle, straw and, rarely, of satin. This last may be a foretaste of colder weather. It nearly always happens that the fashions of August as known and illustrated by the few are in vogue the following winter.

It is in keeping with the early Victorian revival that we should wear poke bonnets. The cabriolet is like the scoop bonnet of the Salvation Army lasses, too. It spreads more at the sides, but the general effect certainly will suggest to any one familiar with War Cry millinery that our fashionables have gone in for sanctified effects in their head coverings.

The cabriolet is a fashion which adapts itself to older or younger women, and no doubt will come forth in rich velvets with the fall. Feathers are used to great advantage in trimming the cabriolet, though, by all signs, they must be of the color of the body of the hat-black. It seems that the next is to be a peculiar season for harmony in color of costumes. We shall have to spend much time in matching this, that and some other. There were many scarfs in the trunks from Paris-exquisite things of thin silk, to be worn as a means of grace or coquetry rather than as real protection from sudden chill. China crape is the most adaptable material for the scarf, and white is the best color. Two and a half and three yards are regulation lengths. Pecu- leaper sauce, the complement of boiled

"Stocks and neck fixings," said the returned voyager, "are high as ever at the back and behind the ears. But you must make them from the sheerest material, boning them un and down twice at the back and at the ears. Just in front there is a stiff depth of some coarse lining material, the color of the fabric used. It is as well to have these collars not made on the waist. Then there is a little change between a white and a blue one, perhaps, with the same gown.

Painted muslin has had great success in Paris this summer. But its extreme perishableness is lamented. Painted hats, even, have been managed successfully.

There were no heavy gown with water colorings among the fineries of my returned friend. The painting of costumes is an exceedingly expensive style of decoration, and while it is likely to be an extreme fashion with cooler weather, she preferred to wait for the precise turn of affairs before ordering heavy materials done with white vebenas, or whatever may be de rigueur for the melancholy days of

One sweet Paris gown of shrimp pink foulard, dotted with brown and frilled with tiny foulard ruffles, edged with brown velvet ribbon, ought to be mentioned particularly. It is intended for outdoor use in August and house wear in the early autumn. A lightweight frock of much distinction is of maize China crape with painted corn flowers, scarf of maize-colored crape and cabriclet in the same shade.

A drawing of a correct 1830 costume shows many lines of the toilet of 1899. We lack the ample skirt and sleeve of that period, but have come to the poke bonnet, the long, low shoulder, the scarf and the chemisette. It is easy unaccustomed perfume, the verbena- to picture this 1830 fitment sweet with

Although there is no question that Americans are following closely English fashions in many ways, particularly in the street gowns, there is not yet that absolute copying that makes it possible to wear winter hats early in the summer with the bland unconsciousness of an English girl when she wears a velvet-or even fur hat long before the first frost. But women who make a point of always being well gowned, who, in fact, rather "undertake the fashions," find it necessary of headgear every little while. They are not contented to concentrate all their energy upon their street bonnet -and indeed street bonnets no longer been used in certair rites, and it is are remarkable anyway-but in spring, will look like new.

> The latest hats are all large and almost invariably becoming. The favorite shape is the Directoire, the revival of a Louis XVIII. fashion. These shapes come now in fine straws, the flaring brims faced with shirred mousseline and filled in against the hair with wreaths of roses and in some cases with only a band and bow of black ribbon velvet. Sometimes they are tied with white or black strings. The outside trimming is very simple consisting of two or three straps of ribbon velvet around the small high crown and two ips; or two tulle rosettes one above the 5ther. These hats must not be worn with the hair dressed a la Pompadour.

The wise man profits by the advice that he does not follow.

Nowadays when women are trying to do everything it is not strange that many things are over-done. It is not strange that there are all kinds of physical and mental disturbances. If the woman who is a doctor, or a lawyer, or a journalist, or in business would not try to be a society woman, too, it might be different; but the woman who knows she has done a day's man who knows she has done a day's work has yet to be born. Usually a work has yet to be born. Usually a woman's way is to keep doing until she drops. Working in this way has manifold evils. The most common trouble resulting from over-exertion, either mentally or physically, is consti-pation of the bowels, with all its attendant horrors.
