ALMA

Alma, Jan. 21—The funeral of Miss Myrtle Alexander, who died from tuberculosis of the lungs on the morning of the 12th inst., took place in the Methodist church. The funeral services at the church and grave were conducted by the Rev. K. Kingston, who gave an appropriate address, basing his remarks on the 14th chapter of St. John's gospel. Hymns suitable to the occasion were sung.

Messrs. P. J. Keirstead, L. J. Molins, Roy Hilmore, J. R. Kelly, Edwin McKinley and Chas. Dixon were the pallbearers. She was buried in the family lot in the Methodist cemetery.

The top of the casket was covered with beautiful wreaths of flowers provided by the following: Mr. and Mrs. J. Connelly and family of Apohaqui, her brother, Cecil, Hanford Keirstead, The Ladies' Aid and the young people of Alma. She leaves to mourn, her father, Capt. D. T. Alexander, one brother, Cecil, two sisters, Mrs. L. Munson and Mrs. L. Dixon.

The deceased who was in her twenty-second year, was a member of the Methodist church and choir, and a teacher in the Sunday school. During the service in the church, the Sunday school occupied the pews behind the mourners.

During the early autumn many observed that she was losing her robust appearance. Early in November she went to Apohaqui for a rest and change of air. She soon began failing rapidly and, consulted Drs. McAllister and Townshend. They advised her father to bring her home and care for her there, as she was falling rapidly, and nothing could be done for her. He brought her home on the 8th December, and had her tenderly cared for until she passed away. The deepest sympathy prevails for the bereaved family.

Capt. Alexander expresses his sincere thanks to the many friends in Alma and other places for their many acts of kindness and words of sympathy during the illness of his daughter.

HARTLAND

Hartland, Jan. 21—The boys at the front evidently were determined not to let the Christmas season go by without at least some of the festivities they were accustomed to before the war. The King's uniform and crossing the briny to fight for King and country. The following letter was received today by Mrs. T. Simms from her son, Curtis, who is doing his bit "Somewhere in France."

He says: "Dear mother, I received a nice letter from father this morning, also one from you, and as this is Christmas Eve I thought I would make use of my spare time in writing."

"How times have changed, as it was only three years ago we were all home together, and now separated; but it is God's will, and I trust that next year I will be home. I am sleeping with two other fellows in a dandy dugout, and tonight we all chipped in and bought a treat of oranges, apples, bananas, nuts and chocolates and are certainly enjoying ourselves before a nice comfortable fire after working hard all day, but now I must turn in, with the hope that a year from tonight I will have the chance of wishing you all a merry Christmas personally."

Christmas Day

"Well, mother, I will add a few more lines to this epistle. We worked this morning, but broke off to enjoy a dandy dinner of turkey, dressing, cabbage, beans and potatoes. Not bad, eh! The turkeys were bought from the canteen fund and every seven men had one turkey, so we are in high spirits, as we have the afternoon off. "I cannot write any news, as they are very strict on this part of the front, which we are on, so I must close."

"CURTIS."

HOPEWELL HILL

Hopewell Hill, Jan. 21—The most interesting session yet of the Women's Institute of this place was held recently at the home of Miss Orla Peck, the president. There was a splendid attendance of interested members present when the institute "Ode" was sung.

The roll call was answered by answering the question "Given a dollar, how would you spend it in order to get the most pleasure out of it?"

The majority were in favor of subscriptions to papers, magazines, (needlecraft) and books. A nice letter was recently received by Private P. Ivery. Other correspondence acknowledging money and work was read. It was decided to hold a Farmer's Supper on Monday evening, February 19th, at which the members' husbands and friends will be entertained. A travel talk by Miss Susan Pallaze, followed which was intensely interesting. She describes her stay of several weeks in Switzerland, giving the members an excellent idea of the country, mountain climbing, etc., and Swiss customs. The session closed with the National Anthem and the Women's National Anthem.

Colonel McAvity and Capt. May of St. John, held a recruiting meeting in Oulton Hall, Albert, recently. Violin music was furnished by Mr. McNece which was much appreciated. Miss Jennie Prescott also gave instrumental selections. Moving pictures of the Martyrdom of Edith Cavell were interspersed during the evening's speeches. Geo. D. Prescott, M.L.A., was chairman. An address of welcome to the returned officers was presented by Mrs. S. C. Murray.

Mr. and Mrs. Renforth Fullerton are rejoicing in the advent of a son. Clarence Wilbur of Lower Cape, had the misfortune to crush his foot while working in the woods.

The Robinson-Wright Co. are shipping their deals by rail from this station.

A quantity of pressed hay is also being shipped this week by local exporters.
