Nobody wants to patronize a business that is "down-at-the-heels." If a merchant wants to be prosperous, he must look the part. A clean, bright store, cheerful service and well displayed goods attract custom, if the business is properly advertised. The advertising is really part of the store's "front" or appearance, and is judged by it as much as by its windows and show cases.

PARKS WILD ANIMALS LOSING FEAR OF MAN

Are Seen in Towns, and on Golf Courses and Highways in Canadian National Parks

Each succeeding year's round of tourists bring new expressions of wonderment and surprise at the reality with which the animals in the Canadian National parks are losing their fear of man. Parks officials, who administer wild life protective measures, have watched this condition develop and to them it was to be expected, but to the tourist new to the parks, the holding up of one's car on a park highway by a band of friendly Rocky Mountain sheep is a novel experience.

Visitors to Rocky Mountain park in Alberta are always sure to have once-upon-a-view of mountain sheep and other wild animals at different points on the highways, and bears are frequent visitors to the outskirts of the towns in the parks. In the past year or two, among the most wary of animals, have been reported to have made their appearance on the golf links at Banff while the play was in progress. In the early part of October of this year, about fifteen elk trotted out on the fairway of the 12th hole, on their way from the Bow river to the upland forests. These exhibitions of animal friendliness are not confined to Rocky Mountain park. In Jasper Park, on the occasion of Sir Douglas Haig's visit in July of this year, two young black bears interrupted the Field Marshall's game by their appearance on the links.

The growth of wild animals in the parks and the ease with which they may be encountered and photographed is year by year becoming a greater attraction to tourists.

Now she is the proud possessor of one of the trays, which we give as a premium for securing eight subscriptions new or renewals. Do you want one?

Fire broke out at 5 o'clock Saturday morning and destroyed the home of Cecil Phinney on the Nictaux Side of the Annapolis River. The funeral was held at the home of the deceased, and most of the bedding was saved. It is thought that defective wiring was the cause of the fire. The house and contents were partially covered by insurance.

Mr. Freeman Schofield, of Canby, again won the distinction and honor of having the highest test for his cream for the month of November at McKenzie's Creamery, the figures being 53 per cent. We congratulate Mr. Schofield and hope he will keep up his good record and receive many more honors in the same line of productive dairying.

Give a Waterman Pen for Christmas. We are agents, and have a large stock to pick from. Middleton Pharmacy. 10-2c

We are pleased to note that our local creamery manufactured during the month of November 25,622 pounds of butter. We understand this is the greatest output of the local creamery since the month of November last year, showing that this enterprising industry is yearly increasing its output of business. We extend our good wishes to this local firm and hope the new year, about to dawn, will bring them abundant prosperity.

Do not miss this theatrical success. "Among the Breakers" given by a brilliant cast of young people under the management of Mrs. W. D. Lockett, of Bridgetown.

The Town Council have enacted one of the most important legislations ever put on the town's records: that of protecting the future development in the building line by dividing the town into five zones, in which only buildings of a certain class will be granted permission to erect. This is certainly a step in the right direction and the council deserve credit for their action. If you are anti-path building, lay your plans and specifications before the council and secure your permit.

A few days ago we paid a visit to the fox ranch of Ralph Schroeder at Melvern Square. There we found one of the cleanest and best kept places we have had the pleasure of seeing. Every pen is "thoroughly cleaned each day and everything put in tip-top shape." The foxes were a splendid lot, all well and happy. They give one the impression of well bred animals. Mr. Schroeder is a first class rancher, and thoroughly understands the fox industry. He is always pleased to explain any matters pertaining to this lucrative industry.

It is gratifying to note that our local creamery, under the able management of J. D. McKenzie has manufactured during the past year, nearly half a million pounds of butter, and about forty thousand quarts of ice cream. This proves that the creamery has a very good record, and the farmers in the Valley are beginning to realize what a benefit such an industry is to them. Several have already purchased additional good dairy cows, and with the wide-awake business manager the creamery has, we fully expect to see an even larger output during the next year.

MIDDLETON PHARMACY—HEAD-QUARTERS FOR BEAUTIFUL BOX COCOALATES 50c. to $5.00 10-2c

W. A. Curry, of Wilmet is awake to the advantages of good dairy stock on the farm as will be seen from the size of his cheque received from J. D. McKenzie for cream during November. His last cheque was made out for $133.70. That listens pretty good to us, and we hope many other farmers in the Valley will take the tip and show us what they can do in the dairy line. Mr. V. B. Leonard, of Clarence is nearly always the recipient of a good sized cheque. This gentleman received one for $128.70 for his last month's cream. Come on farmers. Don't let one or two farmers get all the glory. Buck up and show them you can be right there with the goods as well as them.

*Special Window of French Irony at $1.00, reg. $1.75 value at Saunders, the Jeweller.

The local Women's Institute held an interesting meeting Friday evening in the McDonald School Hall, the new officers being in their places for the first time. Among the important business matters taken up was the appointment of a committee to arrange for the carrying of Christmas cheer to any needy families in this community. Following the business session a pleasing program was carried out. Mrs. F. R. Elliott told a story portraying "Christmas in Other Lands." Mrs. A. Reed gave an outline of Dickens' Christmas Carol.

Mrs. W. G. Parsons read a paper on the "Origin of Christmas." The singing of Christmas carols and refreshments closed the enjoyable evening's program.

Middleton, like a great many places in the province, has been visited by sneak thieves. In some instances the thieves have secured booty, and in others they received a bad righting. Mr. O. P. Goucher's home was invaded and over $20 taken, but the man left a pair of shoes and rubbers as a souvenir of his visit. The footwear may prove of considerable value in assisting to land the culprit behind the bars. A good bloodhound would no doubt ferret out the miserable whelp, and we do not know but what the animal may be secured and put to work. Other places in town have been entered, while only an attempt was made in some instances. There is one thing certain, the woeer these depredations are stopped, the better for all concerned, and one of these times the thieves or thief will make a mistake and try to pull off a job on somebody that will reward his efforts with lead in the pants.

Law is working on those petty robberies, and several suspects are no doubt, under careful observation; so it wouldn't surprise us a bit if one of these nights the culprits will be caught "cold."

SPECIAL CHRISTMAS DINNER WILL BE SERVED AT "AMERICAN HOUSE" AT 1 p.m. CHRISTMAS DAY. KINDLY MAKE YOUR RESERVATIONS.

96th BIRTHDAY IS CELEBRATED

Lawrencetown, Dec. 12—At the home of Mrs. Ernest Whitman, South Street, Lawrencetown, on Friday a large number of friends gathered to pay their respects and to extend their congratulations to Mrs. Whitman's hale and hearty, enjoying the use of her faculties and appreciating the company of her friends.

Of Mrs. Elliott's family, which numbered twelve, eight still remain—all of whom were either present in person or extended their greetings to their revered mother. They are as follows: Mrs. Hamilton Young, Mrs. Ernest Whitman, Mrs. Herbert Boland, Mrs. Elsie Corbett, Lawrence Corbett, Mrs. Fred Longley, of Lynn, Mass. Besides the children there are many grand children and great grandchildren. Several of whom were present on the happy occasion.

Will ye editor have dog soup or curky meat for dinner Christmas? Depends largely upon the deliquents. Been here five years—still behind on the grub line. If you owe—will you try and pay before Christmas.

Improves the tone reproduction of any good set

New beauty of tone, new life-like realism comes with the Musiconic, the new cone-type Tone Recreator. This sensational new speaker simply "purs sound in the room"—does not "blow" sound at you. It is non-directional. All the volume you want—smooth, rich and mellow.

The full-floating cone is free from any vibration of its own end, therefore, distortionless. Small in size, slender and chaste in design, Harmonizes exquisitely with any setting.

At the new low price of $19.75, the Musiconic represents the best value ever offered in a tone-recreator. Come in and hear it.
