TUESDAY, JANUARY 6.

MAYOR WILLIAM E. McKEOUGH.

The magnificent majority by which the citizens yesterday selected Mr. William E. McKeough as their chief magistrate for the year 1903 was beyond the biggest expectations of his most sanguine supporters. It establishes a record for Chatham. Never before have its people honored any men with a plurality of seven hundred votes and such a unanimous and magnificent vote of public confidence and appreciation

The people are to be congratulated en paying this splendid tribute to honesty, energy, enterprise and uprightness. They have issued an emphatic mandate in favor of earnest and conscientions service as against wire-pulling and political manipulation; they have spoken in an unmistakable manner for straight-forwardness and sterling integrity in civic affairs. And it will be well for the future of our prosperous young city if the verdict is heeded.

In Mr. McKeough the people have chosen as their Mayor a man who will a very pleasing and unique coincido them credit, whose abilities and dence in placing the McKeough bro energies will be devoted whole-heartedly to the public welfare, who has unbounded confidence in the future of Chatham and who is fired with zeal for the prosperity and development of the municipality.

Mr. McKeough enters upon his arduous and honorable duties backed with such a sweeping expression of confidence as no other man was ever accorded by the people of Chatham. It will strengthen him in the good work we are assured he will proceed to inaugurate. Mr. McKeough has a splendid municipal record and we predict a prosperous and profitable year under his regime.

Here's to you, Mayor McKeough! The people of Chatham have paid you blues, yellows, mauves, unless there is a magnificent tribute of confidence and esteem. It was well deserved.

To the health of his worship, Mayor McKeough, and to the prosperity of our good city!

THE MAYORALTY.

One of the most satisfactory features of the wonderful victory of Mr. McKeough in the mayoralty contest is the complete vindication of clean campaigning which has been recorded. It is evident that the day is past in Chatham when candidates and their hirelings can secure votes and influence by crusades of offensive personalities, unfair and un truthful invendoes and the application of uncalled for epithets.

Mr. McKeough has fought a clean bonest and manly campaign, he has discussed the issues, he has appealed to the electorate on a vigorou and progressive platform and he has spurned to descend to any lower means of enhisting support.

And, if we mistake not, a liberal share of his overwhelming majority resulted from this manly course. In the hour of victory one can afford to be generous, and it is with no unkind or hostile spirit of exultation that The Planet asks Mr. Cowan and his supporters to read the lesson We would hesitate to believe that gentlemen responsible for many of the vulgar and offensive es which characterized the campaign against Mr. McKeough, but was unfortunate in associating self with men beneath his calibre, nen whose campaign ethics are imperation and abuse. Men like enry Smyth may be permitted the ndulgence of a passing hour but peir career inevitably ends in de-

THE NEW COUNCIL.

Although it cannot be denied that certain good men have been "left a home," the personnel of the new City Council gives great promise. With Mayor McKeough and Ald. McCoig, Mounteer, Edmondson, Robinson, Scullard, Marshall, Martin, Piggott and Taylor the Maple City should have a vigorous and progressive civic

This is well, for, as was pointed out during the campaign, the present year will not prove an unimportant one in the municipal annals. There are many important matters to be dealt with, including the Bell Telephone franchise and the settlement of the Lake Erie railroad difference. The people will look to their representatives to deal with these questions freely, fearlessly and fairlyand we do not think they will be disappointed.

Many citizens have requested a full audit of the city's books and we trust that the new council will see their way clear to take up this matter A careful and official government audit of the civic finances at the present time would be a judicious and progressive move.

EDCUATIONAL PROGRESS.

It is an undeniable fact that during the past 'year splendid progress has been made in educational matters in our public schools, under the regime of the present Public School Board. And to this fact we believe s due the return of the members who vesterday went before their constituents.

This is satisfactory to the extent that it demonstrates the interest and encouragement the public are prepared to extend to the development and progress of this important branch of civic service.

Mr. H. S. Clements, the only new member of the Board, is to be congratulated on the phenomenal run he curing the services of this energetic ruler. and progressive young man and The Planet bespeaks for him a long and efficient service at the Board.

The suggestion has been made -and it is a happy one-that the Board this year honor Dr. Geo. T. McKeough with re-election to the chairmanship of the Board. It would be a graceful and appropriate tribute to his extended and splendid service in the educational interests of Chatham and furnish thers in two of the principal civic seats of honor for the same year.

No unduly thick or fat hand should ever be incased in anything lighter in the way of gloves than a mouse col ored tint unless the wearer be all in white, declares an authority on gloves White gloves should never be worn by anybody who is not wearing an-other distinctive touch of white on gown or hat. The contract is too crude. The woman with a large hand, if it is well shaped, may wear white, but not a pure white; rather the "oyster" white, with black stitching. Black gloves should only be worn with black gowns and coats. For your gown in every shade of brown, from chocolate down to the range of mastic and pastel lines, you can have gloves to match. The same with gravs. For evening dresses some particular lace trimming or em-broidery in white or ivory, the palest musbroom or mastic tints are safest.

Are High Heels Harmfulf A young lady vehemently defends the they are much more in accordance with the laws of nature than heavy, stodgy, so called "common sense" shoe heels.
"All the 'finishing schools' which teach young women how to attain a graceful earriage," she says, "have one inex-orable law that is dinned into one's ears morning, noon and night, 'Do keep off your heels, my dear,' or what is the same thing, 'Walk more lightly, Miss Blank.' And when you step lightly you invariably rise on your toes more. Try it yourself and see. If you will keep an eye on your low heeled girl, you will see that her movements are anything but graceful. The reason lies in what I have told you. She settles back on her low heels, and the result is a logy, stodgy, stiff and uncomfortable gait."-Exchange.

Baked Bananas and Rice.

Place in a double kettle two cups of new milk, a teaspoonful of butter and a half teaspoonful of salt and let come to a boil. Then add gradually. stirring, a half cup of well warm rice, cover closely and boil half an hour. Lay six ripe, large bananas in a ple pan, pour over them hot water until the bottom of the pan is well covuntil the bottom of the pan is well covered, place them in a good steady oven and bake until soft. About fifteen minutes will do this. Take from the oven, pour off water, if any, set back and dry off five minutes. Put a spoonful of the warm bolled rice on a plate, spread out a little and place on the top the baked banana, from which the skin has just been removed, bend the bannan into a neat circle on the rice, drop a bit of good butter into the cen-ter and carry to the table hot.—Good Housekeeping.

HER FRENCH A FAILURE.

The Tragedy of a Blacking Bottle In the Latin Quarter. She was spending her first month in the Latin quarter of Paris. She spoke English fluently, with a Boston accent also she spoke German, could make a fair stagger at Italian and knew a few words of Hindoostanee, but of French not a syllable.

or a syllable.

One morning she found herself in a bottle of one morning she round hersen in a wrestling match with a bottle of French shoe blacking. The pesky bottle, understanding that it had to deal with an alien, refused to give up its cork. She had no corkscrew of her own and did not know how to ask for one, even if she dared suspect that her next door neighbor might be possessed of the luxury. The tine of her pet fork she had bent on the obstinate plug, the point of her best penknife she had broken off short, and nothing remained except to throw the bottle out of a window to get at its contents. She decided as a last resort to try breaking the neck off the bottle. With a "stove lid lifter" she administered several cautious taps in the region of the jugu lar of the obstinate neck. "Nothin' doin'." Then she tapped harder still, and the blacking came. All over her fingers it came, all over her light woolen skirt and over much of the floor and window sill.

She decided to have the skirt cleaned and, packing it into a bundle, tripped off to an establishment where she found embarrassment because she could not understand questions. Finally she got the drift of the conversation The cleaners wanted to know what had caused the spot. Fortunately bottle of shoe blacking was standing near by, and she pointed at this and "ouid" and "ouid" until she left in heightened spirits, feeling that she was not helpless and that she had made the cleaners understand. When the skirt was duly returned the following week, it was dyed black.

Speaking of homes and ways of liv-ing, Mr. Luigi Villari in "Italian Life In Town and Country" reveals a curious state of affairs. In Italian cities there are no slum districts. The poorest of the poor may be lodged in the same palace with people whose income runs over $25,000 annually. The poor are packed away in the garrets or in the cellars, to be sure, and their misery must be rendered all the more acute by the sight and scent of such lavish living. High class Italians have no objections whatever to dwelling over a shop or place of business.

He caused a watch to be set upon the clerks in the office in the usual way and finally caught his man spending a portion of his ill gotten gains

Lighthouse Without a Light. The most extraordinary of all British lighthouses is to be found on Arnish rock: Stornoway bay-a rock which is separated from the island of Lewis by a channel over 500 feet wide. On this on its summit a lantern is fixed, from which, night after night, shines a light rock a conical beacon is erected, and which is seen by the fishermen far and wide. The way in which this lighthouse is illuminated is this: On the island of Lewis is a lighthouse, and from a window in the tower a stream of light is projected on to a mirror in the lantern on the summit of Arnish rock. The consequence is that, to all intents and purposes, a lighthouse exists which has neither lantern nor lighthouse keeper.

One of Mrs. Stanton's Retorts. Once a fashionable woman of New-port expressed to Elizabeth Cady Stanton a fear that it was not entirely modest for a woman to speak in public The dignified president of the suffragists looked at her with mild surprise. "Why," she said, "there are not so many people at our convention as there were at the ball last night, and surely speech in quiet costume than to ex-hibit one's bare arms and shoulders at a public dance in the embrace of a strange gentleman."

Women as Jewelers. Time was, not so very far back either, when the woman of artistic talents who sought to earn her own living found no outlook beyond selling an occasional picture or giving lessons in painting Now the artistic sphere for women has widened to include so many depart ments that there is almost an embar-rassment of riches from which to make a choice.

women is the designing of artistic jew-elry. In England particularly women have been meeting with much success in this line, and there seems to be no eason why it should not be more wide ly taken up. It is a craft to which a woman's light and dainty manipulation is particularly adapted. Certainly the present renaissance in the jeweler's art seems to have come to stay. It has spread from France to England, Austria, Germany, Denmark and Belgium. It recognizes the art of the metal worker as an important factor and quite independent of costly stones. It considers beauty of form and color rather than a display of costliness of material.
