GENERAL ENACTMENTS—OFFENCES NEW, OR ALTERED, OR EXTENDED.

13. Abolition of rule that a wife committing an offence in presence of her husband acts under coercion.

The rule, however, will still subsist for a wife who is accessory after the fact to her husband. And (new) a husband accessory after the fact to his guilty wife will be presumed to act under coercion, sec. 63.

16-60. (Drawn by Lord Blackburn for Imperial draft.) This part of the Act in the main represents the existing law as to the circumstances which excuse or justify acts which would otherwise be crimes, and more particularly the law relating to the degree of force which may be used in arresting offenders. Such alterations as it makes are for the most part made necessary by the abolition of the
