

Cornfield Blues

I must then take that class again, though I heave a mighty sigh
And all I ask is a proud heart and the wit to get me by,
But my reason kicks and my head rings and my whole insides are shaking,
And there is a gray tinge on my pale face: my strong will is breaking.

Glee Club To Present Macbeth November 25

Art Hartling Will Play Title Role In Year's First Major Production

The Glee Club has issued the names of the cast for its presentation of Macbeth, which will appear towards the end of the month. Mr. H. Leslie Pigot is directing the production, who is well known both at Dal and in the city for the success of the plays which he has directed at Dal in the past.

In the title role will be Art Hartling, veteran of Glee Club shows as far back as '44. He is also a veteran in Shakespeare, having played the Duke in The Merchant of Venice, Twelfth Night and As You Like It.

Holly Fleming, a newcomer to the Club, will play her first major role as Lady Macbeth, the cold-blooded instigator of Macbeth's series of murders. Marg Goode, Ruth in last year's production of Dear Ruth, will return as the Gentlewoman.

Banquo will be played by Eddy Grantmyre, of King's Horrible Hindus fame. Macduff will be Heber Kean, and Malcolm, George Tracy. Frank Fleming, whose Sir Andrew in Twelfth Night two years ago is still remembered by all who saw it, will be cast as Duncan. Others in the cast are:—

- Ross Vince Allen
- 1st Witch Nancy Allen
- 2nd Witch Sally Newman
- 3rd Witch Anita Simpson
- Murderer Alf Harris
- Murderer Don Urquhart
- Sergeant Dave Graham
- Fleance Malcolm Graham

REHEARSAL SCHEDULE

There will be a rehearsal for the full cast of Macbeth on Saturday night at 7.30 in the Gym.

Full cast, with costumes, on Sunday at 2.15 in the Gym.

A short but original opening is still available in the cast for one man—as Macbeth's head. One volunteer per show required. Apply in the Glee Club office.

Ignoble Nature

It is just growing like a tree
In bulk that makes man bigger be;
There, sitting like an oaf for many hours,
He shuns his spouse's gaze and basely cowers—
A willy-nilly way,
But who's to say
That though he is a bit obese
He cannot live with merry ease,
For in small measures one may active be,
But when one's fat it's best to ape a tree.

BEN JOHNSON

LEST I FORGET

BY LEW MILLER

The following thought has foundation in fact.—Ev Merchant, Dave McGibbin, and I were three of approximately six hundred and twenty-five junior Canadian officers who voluntarily served on loan to various units of the British Army. Capt. Ev Merchant served with the 5th Battalion of the Seaforth Highlanders, Lieut. Dave McKibbin, the 5th/7th Bn. of the Gordon Highlanders, and I, with the 5th Bn. of the Black Watch. Respectfully I should like to dedicate this work to Dave, Ev, and the many more of my Canloan friends, and all others, who died fighting for an idea that now regrettably cannot but seem to be illusory.

Just looking at my will today—
The will required by army rules
For every man, despite his wealth
Or lack of wealth, before he fought—
Recalled the day I made my will,
When Dave and Ev and I were hunched
Together on a folding form
Pretending to respect a chap
Who bored us with his army law,
When luckily—we thought so then—
Another officer came in
Who brought with him a sheaf of forms.
"These forms," he said to us, "are wills."
And Dave and Ev and I just laughed—
What sense in pessimism then?
"Just fill them in with pen and ink,
And don't forget the witnesses—
Two signatures are all you need."
We took the forms and made our wills.
My friends were witnesses for me,
And Ev and I signed Dave's for him,
And Dave and I then signed for Ev.

A year went by since my return—
My useless will came back to me.
And looking at the names today
Of Dave and Ev, recalled with awe
The day we laughed unthinkingly,
For in their wills my name is used,
My will alone remains unused.

U.N.B. Student Council Bans Campus C.C.U.F.

Last week the University of New Brunswick Student Representative Council voted 9-4 to prevent the Commonwealth Co-operative University Federation from establishing a branch on their Campus. Their explanations for doing this were somewhat weak.

Promptly the U.N.B. Newspaper, the "Brunswikan," printed a front page editorial condemning the Council's action in the matter, claiming that such undemocratic sentiments certainly did not represent the opinions and the wishes of the student body as a whole.

University Grads Needed by R. C. A. F.

The R.C.A.F. is looking for university graduates to fill vacancies in its Aircrew and Technical branches. This need was emphasized in a recent letter to the University R.C.A.F. Liaison Officer, Professor Theakston. It stated that such graduates will be appointed to permanent commissions upon completion of their initial training.

Applications for appointment to the technical lists are restricted to individuals who hold degrees in pure and applied science, while both branches require the usual health and citizenship standards.
