"Get a wireless message to-day." "That so?" asked his interested friend. "What was it?" "A postal card."

A Kansas man fell off a wagon and bit his tongue in two. That's nothing; we know a man who fell off the water wagon and became speechless.

A Much Prized Book.

Few books are so universally known and so highly prized as Dr. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is the medicine which has done more for the relief of the human race than any other medicine in the world over and is practically the only actual cure for all forms of cough.

Jack—There goes Mrs. Parson. She used to be a decidedly pert girl. Tom—Isn't she pert still?

Jack—No. Marriage seems to have tamed her and now she's an ex-pert.

"Why do they always refer to Father Time and never Mother Time?" asked the young widow with a yawn. "Because," replied the still old bachelor with the rasping voice, "time waits for no man, while a woman will wait for any man."

CASTORIA.

"Now, here," said the proprietor of the musical comedy. "What is it?" inquired the stage manager.

CASTORIA.

"Last night you gave the last act first. Probably nobody noticed it, but it shows lack of system. Don't let it occur again."

CASTORIA.

"The lanky tramp removed his tattered hat and displayed his intellectual brow."

CASTORIA.

"Ah, lady," he confided. "I have brought to birth. There is nothing I like better than to tackle knotty problems."

CASTORIA.

"Indeed!" she said. "Well, you go down to the road pile. You will find that last load the most knotty problem you ever tackled during your career."

CASTORIA.

"The surgeon commander—What's the nature of the attack?" "First interse—it appears to be an incision on the outer integument, sir. The lookout calls it a leak."

CASTORIA.

"The surgeon commander—Never mind what the lookout calls it. Treat it with sterilized cotton and surgeon's plaster. If the symptoms do not abate report to me and I will arrange a consultation."

CASTORIA.

"Theory vs. Experience." "Theories are often very beautiful, but they are not to be trusted as much as a practical man's experience. It is always safe to be guided by the experience of others and only occasionally to try one's own theories."

"He came home at night to find the house deserted. There was a crumpled note on the centre table. He read it. His wife had eloped with a fascinating billiardier."

CASTORIA.

"He sang the note on the floor. Then he shrilly whistled. There was no response. He whistled again. He saw it all now. Blue had gone and taken the dog with her!"

CASTORIA.

"I have gone away with William," she wrote. "I felt that I needed a change."

"Twenty minutes later he handed this 'portentous' note to the 'wants' counter of the leading morning daily."

The New Postal Law.

The New Glasgow Eastern Chronicle expatiates as follows: As far as they could be gathered the county newspapers met in Yarmouth last fall and protested vigorously against the insane postal law and memorialized the government.

During the present session of the Legislature a meeting of the Press Association will be held in Halifax. Let all the county newspapers send a representative to that meeting.

"We cannot understand why this privilege would be extended to the dailies and not to the weeklies. So far as interchange of newspapers with the United States is concerned the weeklies are of greater importance than the dailies. Another thing, the daily newspaper if often only an exchange. However, we decline to believe the above sentiment is final and it certainly is not satisfactory."

A tickling cough, from any cause, is quickly stopped by Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. And it is so thoroughly harmless and safe, that Dr. Shoop tells mothers everywhere to give it without hesitation even to very young babies. The whole family can be kept in good health by using this remedy.

Sinking Sensations in the Stomach.

These unpleasant feelings of weakness and collapse indicate that the sympathetic nervous system is out of order.

The cause is impairment of nerve tone, arising from failure of the stomach to perform its work. Acute indigestion follows and the natural result is mental depression, and a feeling of collapse and extreme weakness.

New Millinery.

The rage for over loaded millinery is abating and the tide has turned definitely so far as exaggerated shapes are concerned. Such badger is not yet out of the run, to be sure, but it has had notice to quit, and its time is short. The tiny toque, prophesied as a natural reversion from the big head-covering that has been worn so long, has not yet been seen in any great numbers. One sees it, but it has not yet attained the status of a vogue. The hat of modern size and big crown leads all other among the recent novelties. Especially among all for and fur trimmed hats one sees this style displayed plentifully.

A Frightful Death.

Is one from suffocation and sometimes follows a bad attack of Asthma. The old fashioned remedies may relieve, but never cure. Best results come from Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is because Chamberlain's Cough Remedy kills the Asthma germs that it cures. Choking spells and labored breathing are relieved, suffocating sensations and loss of breath are cured. Every trace of Asthma is driven from the system, and even old chronic experience immediate relief and lasting cure. Equally good for Bronchitis, Throat Trouble and Catarrh. Sold by all dealers in medicine. Get Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to-day—It does cure.

What is Love?

What is love—the thing we all make such a fuss about and so rarely feel, and what does it matter after all? It is just this—being lifted up into another world and breathing purer air and thinking better thoughts? Or is it a strange sweet sort of pain, that is only still when some one—only one—person is near? Or is it to see everything in a sort of fairy glamour that turns common things and hard things to magic splendor and beauty? Or is it to be happier than you can bear, or to feel there is nothing you cannot bear for one's sake? Is it a great, vague, sweet terror, a wild and yet delightful risk? Is it to feel your heart leapt back and forth at the sound of a voice or a step, a name almost, to feel safe, quite safe and sheltered, near one, and happy at the very thought of him? Or is it to hate one's own petty and frivolous self and want to be better for his sake? Is that what you call love?—Maxwell Gray.

Are your joints lame?

Have you a weak spot, a place where cold and inflammation always settles? Whether it is in the neck, side, joints or limbs—the cure is simple—a good rub with Nerveine and then apply Nerveine Forous Plaster. These great rubefacients invariably cure strain, swelling, weakness and muscular pain. There's no mystery about this. Nerveine is the most penetrating of all ointments.

Gets where the trouble really is. Nerveine Forous Plasters are great healers and draw out congestion. Be sure you get the genuine, substitutes can't do the work.

Lay two thicknesses of news papers on the bed springs and then lay the mattress on the papers. This keeps the mattress from getting black marks on it. Sometimes it is easy weather the spring get rusty and it gets on the mattress, but if you use paper on the springs it picks up all the rust.

Many Sleepless Nights, Owing to a Persistent Cough. Relief Found at Last.

"For several winters past my wife has been troubled with a most persistent and sleepless cough, which invariably extended over a period of several weeks and caused her many sleepless nights," writes Will J. Hayer, editor of the Barley, Colo., Bulletin. "Various remedies were tried each year, with no beneficial results. In November last the cough again set in on my wife and my wife, acting on the suggestion of a friend, purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The cough was indeed marvellous. After three days the cough entirely disappeared and she has not manifested any return. This remedy is for sale by Read's Drug Store."

Bank Notes.

At length a senior officer comforted her by saying: "Do not worry, be careful, and you will become quite familiar with the feel of good notes. After the winter you touch bank paper you will feel a shiver as though you had touched a cold silver ball."

To Broil A Steak.

Few housewives understand the art of broiling, and consequently chops and steaks are often robbed of their delicate flavor by frying in a pan.

A steak or chop properly broiled should have a thin, well browned crust. Beyond this crust the meat should be red and juicy, hardly a shade less done in the middle than near the surface.

If the broiling is to be done on a range, have the fire very bright and clear. Open every draft, that smoke flames may be drawn up the chimney. Place the pieces of meat in the double boiler and hold it as near the coals as possible until the surface is brown, turning frequently. It will take three or four minutes for this. Now raise the boiler several inches above the heat of the coals and continue the cooking until the meat is done.

The boiler must be turned off. A good rule is to count ten slowly, then turn the boiler. A steak or chop will cook nicely in ten minutes. If liked well done, it should be cooked for twelve minutes.

HOUSE WORK

Thousands of American women in our homes are daily sacrificing their lives to duty.

In order to keep the house clean and tidy, women often feel weak or dispirited. It is often because of the strain of doing so much work which daily makes a burden on their health.

It is to these faithful women that Mrs. E. P. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound comes as a boon and a blessing. It is did to Mrs. W. B. Brown, of 109, Moreau St., Montreal, who writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"For years I was a great sufferer from female weakness, and despite every remedy given me by doctors for this trouble, I grew very weak."

"One day a friend advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I was so glad to find that it made me strong and well."

It acts at once upon the digestive and assimilative organs—it fortifies the stomach—makes the blood nourishing, gives it a rich red color, the best evidence of health.

"For ten years I suffered acutely from stomach trouble," writes Mr. Maxwell Tompson, of Toledo. "I always had a headache and dull feeling after meals. My appetite was poor, and I didn't relish food. It was all due to a weak, defective stomach. I read about Perrozene and ordered six boxes from my druggist. It was no time at all before I felt much better, and when all the Perrozene was used I really took a new lease of life. I am stronger, brighter, and feel more like work than before trying Perrozene. It is a splendid tonic, the best I ever used."

Perrozene is unrivalled in curing stomach ailments, try it and be convinced. Sold by all druggists in 50c. boxes.

Scalding the milk for custard pie adds greatly to its flavor. An addition of a teaspoonful of brown sugar or molasses is also helpful.

Strategic—"You are still trying to find the mortar?" "We are not exactly trying to find them," answered the Russian officer. "We merely want to learn their whereabouts and take precautions against their finding us."

Ask Yourself the Question.

Why not use Chamberlain's Pain Balm when you have rheumatism? We feel sure that the result will be prompt and satisfactory. One application relieves the pain, and many have been permanently cured by its use. 25 and 50 cent sizes. For sale by Read's Drug Store.

For That Terrible Itching.

Eczema, tetter and salt rhen keep their victims in perpetual torment. The application of Chamberlain's Balm will instantly allay this itching, and many cases have been cured by its use. For sale by Read's Drug Store.

Gas-poisoning from the gas engine has become so common that German authorities urge that cylinders of oxygen be kept near and that engineers be taught to apply inhalations to resuscitate victims.

Trials of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy are being made out free, on request, by Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. These tests are given to the people—without a cent's cost—the great value of this scientific prescription known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. Sold by A. V. Read.

"They say very few authors sleep more than seven hours a day."

"But think how much slumber they furnish other people."

According to an English wholesale toy dealer, diabolo is now a drug on the market. Hardly any one is buying the once popular game.

When Appetite Fails.

It is because your food does not digest properly. Your stomach, liver, and bowels need strengthening. Don't neglect the danger signal.

A man who was told by his physician that he could be cured of a serious disease if he would give up smoking, looked long at his cigar and slowly replied: "Doctor, I believe I could give up drinking if I really set myself to do it, but I can't give up smoking."

"Very well," said his physician, "get another doctor and die." The man did both.

'My Guests Touch No Wine.'

"The most effective temperance lecture I ever heard in my life was preached to me on New Year's Day," said a young man, recently, in our hearing.

"Why, Horace, where were you and who delivered it?" was asked.

"I was visiting in Philadelphia, and with my cousin, John Lewis, set out to pay a number of New Year calls. It is not the custom now, as formerly, to set out wine before guests, but it is still done sometimes. Our second call was at the princely home of Franklin Graves, of whom you have heard. His lovely daughter greeted us, smiling and beautiful, a queen among women. There was also an elegant assortment of choice wines which the father pressed upon the guests."

"Did you come to see papa or me?" was always the question asked of each guest, and, as far as I know, there was but one answer. "We came to see you." "My guests touch no wine," she said. "I have other refreshments provided for them. The wine glasses stood untouched, the fair young girl flitted to and fro among her guests, ministering herself to each guest, and, as far as I know, there was not a drop of wine touched by any of them."

"I have since learned that more than one young man began reformation on New Year's day, the result of that very call."

"My guests touch no wine." They were simple words, quietly spoken, but what did they not imply!

This Christian girl performed a service as faithfully as though the kingdom of God depended upon her fidelity. Perhaps it does!—Selected.

Sussex and the Scott Act.

A good many persons must have been a bit surprised when they saw, in the report of the Temperance Commission, that Sussex was included in a list of places in which the Scott Act was declared to be fairly well enforced. It is gratifying to note, however, that the temperance people of Sussex seem to have resolved to make good the reputation given their town by the Commission. During the past week or two there has been a revivification of the anti-liquor sentiment of the community, and supported by this sentiment, the officers of the law have taken effective means to make it uncomfortable for those engaged in the illicit traffic. A considerable quantity of liquor, seized under the Act, was on Christmas day conveyed, by a solemn procession, headed by ministers of the town, to the Kennebunk and dumped into the river. One prominent liquor seller, against whom a sentence of 30 days in jail stands recorded, is said to have disappeared, leaving his household liable for prison bail. It is said that throughout the country the law against liquor selling is at present being more effectively enforced than at any time since the war. It is matter for congratulation. If the people of the Scott Act counties will use the power which the law places in their hands, it will do more to prepare the way for a more stringent prohibition law than temperance organizations by anything else could do.—Neville Register.

Freed from Piles THE JOY OF IT.

The pain misery and despair of the sufferer from piles or hemorrhoids can never be described. Not only the intense itching and stinging, but only the relief of a medical operation, but the whole system seems to be undermined by the horrible disease.

The joy which cured one experience on being freed from itching, bleeding and protruding piles is sold in thousands of letters received in regard to

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment

You need not tell the writer of these letters that there is a case of piles which Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment will not cure, for they will not believe it. They also know how they suffered, and also know that this ointment cured them. It brings relief at once. 60 cts. a box, at all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Mr. John A. Messmore, Port Dalhousie, Ont., writes:

"For many years I was severely afflicted with piles and spent hundreds of dollars without obtaining the desired result. About a year ago I was cured by using Dr. Chase's Ointment. The cure was permanent, and I had comfort again."

Alcohol a Hindrance in Mental Labor.

Richard Dahmel, who is pronounced the greatest living German poet of the modern school, says regarding the use of alcohol:

"The poet and a tree is grown by its fruits, in a test one may well apply to stimulants. I am aware that it is claimed in certain quarters that the literary faculty—especially the imagination—is heightened by the use of spirits. My own experience has proved the opposite. I have attempted numbers of times to write poetry under the stimulus of liquor, but the next morning it appeared to be a mere wordplay, monstrous fancies, or morbidly, unconscious reminiscences."
