

We came here to be prepared for elevation; that unless after eight years of age baptism by immersion is adopted salvation is unobtainable; that the Gospel was unknown till introduced by Joseph Smith, and that millions of souls await in captivity redemption to be effected by the Latter day Saints, who have been gathered from many lands for this purpose, as well, to save themselves, and escape the dire woes and awful destruction soon to come on all the earth or Babylon; that the church has power to baptize for the dead, and thus redeem them. Elder Cum- ing in urging his hearers to liberality in assisting the Temple erection (as in order to carry out this idea the Temple must needs be built) vehemently exclaimed: "What! shall we play at swapping jack-knives with the devil and chasing pie- yunes to hell, or break our necks over a dollar, when such a responsibility rests upon us?" A belief in polygamy is some- of the so-called saints adhere to monogamy, while there are others who adopt the plurality system, that are so expansive in their affections that nothing less than a round dozen or more of wives can content their matrimonial desires. Most assuredly they have not been deceived into such a wholesale marital union by the enchan- cement of feminine charms. Enquiries as to the number of married Mormon males and females failed to elicit information; no one seems to know of perchance neither Apostles, Elders, Priests, Preachers, nor Deacons, are posted in the matter.

Sacramento, distant 105 miles, from the summit of the Sierras is located just be- low the confluence of the American and Sacramento rivers. One of the first things observable is the very large number of saloons and drinking places, most of which, as in other Californian towns and cities, conspicuously give notice that five cents is the price of certain drinks; some in- timate the frequent San Francisco fashion of courting custom by advertising free lunches; nearly all the groceries in the land sell wines and liquors, and as the result of all these temptations drunkenness prevails to a most melancholy extent. Sacramento, with its tree-lined streets, and numerous gardens, well stocked with handsome shrubs and flowers of surpassing luxuriant growth and lavish bloom, pos- sesses an attractive aspect; its streets form right angles, and are designated in a manner more practical than poetical; those running in one direction being alpha- betically named, and those in the other nu- merically. The capital is a noble structure, surrounded by what are scarce in California—handsome lawns; from its cupola there is an extensive view, with the snow-capped Sierras filling up the horizon in one direction, while the coast range of mountains forms the background in another.

Hard times, is the wail in California, no less loud than elsewhere. "Dull times, very dull," says the manu- facturer, the merchant, the mechanic, and the laboring man, and the prices at which various goods are offered tends to confirm the veracity of the statement. Dull, in- deed, when farm hands of quite com- mendable appearance, were met with, either working for their board or unable to procure even that meagre return for their toil.

THURSDAY EVE'G, JULY 4, 1878.

The Hon. Mr. Tilley.

We have every respect for the Lieut- Governor of New Brunswick, who has worthily discharged his duties during his term of office. These duties are not time the position is one of great respon- sibility, and Mr. Tilley has done his best to discharge his duty for the best inter- ests of the Province and Dominion. As a politician he has kept his personal character and integrity free from repro- ch, and it was not till after Con- federate that he allied himself with any political party as understood by us in the west. He was a member of Sir John Macdonald's Government during the huge bribe of Sir Hugh Allan was offered as a tempting bait, but Mr. Til- ley was so free from personal corrup- tion that he was not included in the list of those who were let into the secrets of this nefarious transaction. As Sir Hugh Allan put it, "he was one of the interior members of the Cabinet." Sir John, Langvign, Sir George Cartier, and Dr. Tupper were the principals, and it was left to them to carry through the Pacific Scandal without consulting Mr. Tilley, who, it is presumed, was unaware of the means by which, at the sacrifice of every sense of honor, they sought to win the elections of 1872. He may have been ignorant of the initial steps in connection with this shameful transac- tion, but he was not ignorant of the full revelation of the whole history of the Scandal, which ended in the resignation of the Government, and in his accept- ance, at the eleventh hour, of the Lieut- Governorship of New Brunswick.

We had at that time so much faith in his integrity and independence, that we did not believe he would, under any cir- cumstances, have accepted office at the hands of a disgraced Government when it was in its death throes. He did so, however, and though the appointment and its acceptance are open to objec- tion, we were inclined to pass these over, and rather to dwell on his official work, which has been conscientiously, honestly and faithfully performed.

No occurrence served to break this confidence until it was whispered that Governor Tilley was tampering with the enemy—in other words that he was in close alliance with Sir John and his friends. We find no fault with Mr. Tilley choosing his company. We have nothing to say about his protracted private conversations with Dr. Tupper. He had a perfect right to indulge in all these. But he had no right, while Lieut. Governor of New Brunswick, to receive a deputation of Conservatives—or Liberals either, had they offered such—or to consent, while exercising the office of Governor, to accept a nomination at the hands of any party. In so doing he lowered the office he holds; for while Governor he accepted a partisan nomi- nation, and by so doing reduced himself to the position of a partisan, and de- graded his office in the eyes of the people.

We had hoped for better things of Mr. Tilley. Naturally genial, kind-hearted and liberal, he filled with dignity and impartiality his high position, and had he refrained from meddling with politics till the expiry of his term of office, no one would have had the slightest complaint to offer had he gone back into public life. We do not see why ex-Governors should be debarred from going back into public life. There is nothing to preclude them, but they should before entering the political arena get quit of their office, and cease to be Her Majesty's represen- tative. As regards Mr. Tilley's connec- tion with Sir John Macdonald we have nothing to say. That is a matter of his own choice. But in coming out as the champion of the hero of the Pacific Scandal, he has to bear the full weight of Sir John's sins, and of the Tory policy. He cannot expect his old Lib- eral friends to support him any longer. He must take up Sir John's Protection policy, which in a Free Trade Pro- vince it will be hard to do. As a temperance man he cannot have any sympathy with the policy of the Opposition on this question, nor can he come out in Opposition to the present Government, who have given us the best temperance legislation we ever had. Clearly Mr. Tilley's position is a very anomalous one. He depends a great deal on his personal popularity. But then to balance that, he has to father and defend all the sins of the old Macdonald Government. He comes out besides, as a partisan, and on that ground he can only expect to get the Tory support, and to class himself at best with Tupper and Denville.

The New York World suggests that Lord Dufferin should be honored with the title of Marquis of Canada.

Mr. J. LORNE McDougall assumed his duties as Auditor-General on Wed- nesday.

The Hon. Mr. Cartwright has returned to Ottawa, cheered by the hearty re- ception accorded to him in Lennox.

A CONSERVATIVE demonstration held at Parkhill on Wednesday, was attended by something over 2,000 persons. Sir John Macdonald, Messrs. J. Burr Plumb, M. P., — Fraser, and J. J. Foy, ad- dressed the meeting.

LORD BEACONSFIELD looks a much younger man than he is; his walk is slow, but firm; his demeanor grave, without being gloomy; and it is thought that he carries his head somewhat higher in Berlin than he is wont to do in London.

We sympathize with the editor of the Stratford Herald when he says:—"The man who can smilingly go in on a hot day and start to talk politics to an editor, is a villain of so deep a dye that it were base flattery to call him a tree peddler."

occupation of Bosnia and Herzegovina by Austria will be permanent. We regard this as the wisest decision which the Berlin Congress has yet reached. The Sultan cannot restore peace and good government in that part of Europe, and Austria can and will. She has acquir- ed the reputation of ruling her provinces with prudence and wisdom, and can safely be intrusted with the re-organiza- tion of those bleeding districts.

LONDON ADVERTISER.—The return of the municipal assessment roll in all parts of the Province furnishes a basis for calculating the extent of the depres- sion which our Tory friends tell us this country is laboring under owing to the absence of a high tax tariff. To our surprise we find that almost without ex- ception every municipality shows an in- crease of wealth and population as com- pared with last year's returns—the aver- age increase of wealth being in the neighborhood of ten per cent. This does not bear out the Tory idea that the country is languishing.

The Winnipeg Standard says ex- Governor Morris's "prospects are not at all good in Selkirk; in fact, they are very bad. What is the matter in On- tario? Are none of the constituencies anxious to secure the services of an ex- Lieut. Governor? South Lanark, which it is believed, he would like to represent, is said to be ticketed to another member of the party; Marquette, which has been canvassed in his interest, will have none of him; and as for Selkirk only his evil genius could prompt him to do anything so suicidal as attempt to fol- low himself on these electors."

The Leeds Liberal organization have passed the following resolution on the occasion of Mr. Goldwin Smith's depar- ture from England:—"Resolved.—That this Committee, having learnt that Mr. Goldwin Smith is about to return to Canada, cannot allow him to leave our shores without placing on record its ex- pression of admiration of his great ability, and tendering its sincere and cordial congratulations on his increasing efforts on behalf of Liberalism in the past; deeply regrets the necessity he is under in leaving this country; and hereby conveys to him its earnest de- sire that health and prosperity may con- tinue to attend him in the future."

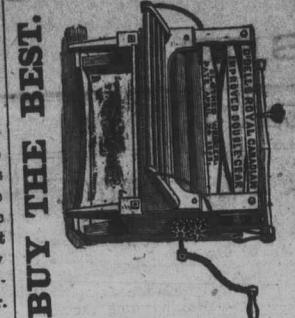

Montreal Cattle Market, MONTREAL, July 2.

The price of cattle in to-day's market ranged from 10 to 12 for common to really choice qualities. On account of the advanced rates asked for cattle last Monday week, several buyers went out into the country and bought pretty extensively at 4c laid down here, for very good cattle.

Never be ashamed of confessing your ignorance, for the wisest man upon earth is ignorant of many things, inasmuch that what he knows is a mere nothing in com- parison to what he does not know. But we apprehend very few are ignorant of the wonderful effects of the "Canadian Pain Destroyer," its a most sure and rapid cure for colds, rheumatism, pleurisy, colic, cholera morbus, and all summer com- plaints. Sold by all medicine dealers.
