The big flood of last week calls to mind the big freshet in this county 38 years ago. O. H. Smith was post-master at that time, the post office being located in a building where the Geo. O. Smith store now stands. Mail was received over the C. P. R. at that time; also a stage was run from Houlton to Caribou, making two trips a week. The last trip the stage made on runners that year was on May 1—a day not soon forgotten, from the day invefeet of snow fell, pling itself into huge drifts. The sun came out hot and bright the next day, and the snow, aided by the warm rays of the sun, melted very rapidly, it being all gone in two or three days, the fing all gone in two or three days, causing a freshet fully as big as the one last week.—The American Republican.
