A MANY SIDED MAN

Mussolini, Premier of Italy, waited upon recently by a representative of the University of Bologna, who notified him of the University's desire to confer on him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws, made reply, "All right, but as I cannot accept a high degree which I have not earned, I will sit for examination." Told that this involved a legal thesis and discussion of it with leaders of the profession, Mussolini again replied, "All right, I will do it." A man of many attainments is Mussolini. He has been school teacher, butcher's boy, sailor, stone-mason's assistant, professor of French, journalist, soldier, member of Parliament, revolutionary leader and now at the height of his career he challenges world wonder by his declared willingness to undertake an examination in law, which only profound students of law would undertake. A many sided and truly remarkable man is the Premier of Italy.

James, of Richibucto. The buildings on the property have been completely renovated since the acquisition of the place by Mr. Hudson and the farm is in a splendid state of cultivation. A great many visitors come to the place from time

TOLD BY A CLEGGYMAN

"A strapping big fellow the other day brought a demure little lass to the parsonage in order that they might be joined in the bonds of matrimony.

In accordance with my custom, I turned to the bridegroom at a certain part of the ceremony and said: "This is now your lawful wedded wife."

"Trembling with embarrassment, as he had been from the outset, the big fellow turned awkwardly in the direction of the bride and said: "Pleased to meet you."
