

LITERARY.

AUTUMN RAIN.

Dear to me the constant p'ashing
Of the rain-drops falling fast, And the dripping leafless branches Waving in the autumn blast,

I have listened to the murmur Of the quiet autumn rain, As it fell with ceaseless patter
On the tinkling window pane

Pride and Jealousy,
Or a Wronged Husband.

Continued.

Clemency Mabrook was the only child of an early widowed mother.
Reared in adversity, her childhood's days had been dimmed by the shadow of genteel poverty, which had served to chasten the natural brightness of her temper.

John Rudderforth was the managing clerk in the large banking establishment of Mr. Samuel Babington, and had filled that office with strict integrity for many years.

Huge Sherwood, the cousin of Grace Babington, was undeserving the almost suffocating lightness that Grace ever affected to feel towards him.

The banker was one of those men on whom the sun of prosperity had shone to steadily and long, that he had at length become an infidel to the belief that it was ever doomed to set.

commercial citadel. Still, public confidence in the bank remained unshaken.
The good name and religious faith so honestly preserved in the past inspired confidence in the future; but, alas! the stately vessel was gliding over sunken rocks to overwhelming quicksands.

At length the oft-predicted crisis became imminent. One of the most important firms in Manchester suspended payment, and Mr. Babington, who was their principal correspondent, was included in a personal claim; he had drawn bills of exchange at short sight which it was now imperative to meet.

The shadow deepened on Mr. Babington's face when he entered the library, and saw at a glance the expression of despair so forcibly depicted in his honest friend's countenance.

'Those papers,' said the clerk with firmness, 'demand your instant perusal.'

'No, John, no, was the petulant reply;
'not now, another time. I am unequal to such a task.'

'You have made a summy, John?' enquired the banker.

The clerk handed his master the particular document, and as his eyes glanced over the figures, a marked transition from passive heedlessness to alarm and terror was visibly perceptible.

'What is this?' he exclaimed in a hoarse whisper; 'my assets six thousand pounds short of my liabilities? it cannot be.'

'It is true,' said the clerk; and I have included in those assets some doubtful debts.'

'But here I perceive, said the banker, catching, as he thought, at a gleam of hope, 'that you have valued the Ashdale estate of two thousand pounds less than it cost me.'

'In making a forced and hasty disposal of it for ready cash, no other result can be calculated upon,' replied the clerk.

'But might I do mortgage it for a sufficient sum to meet my payments until the end of the month?' urged the banker despondingly.

'You would but augment the evil, and favor a few creditors at the expense of too many,' replied the clerk.

'True, true,' said the banker with moaning anguish. 'I have gambled with the future too long, to long.' He drew the paper from him and covered his face with hands that trembled, at length he asked in a tone of hopeless agony. 'What is to be done?'

BEWARE OF AMERICAN
COUNTERFEITS

I most respectfully take leave to call the attention of the Public generally to the fact, that certain Houses in New York are sending to many parts of the globe SPURIOUS IMITATIONS of my Pills and Ointment. These frauds bear on their labels some address in New York.

I do not allow my medicines to be old in any part of the United States, I have no Agents there. My Medicines are only made by me, at 533 Oxford Street London.

In the books of directions affixed to the spurious make is a caution, warning the Public against being deceived by counterfeits. Do not be misled by this audacious trick, as they are the counterfeits they pretend to denounce.

These counterfeits are purchased by unprincipled Vendors at one half the price of my Pills and Ointment, and are sold to you as my genuine medicines.

I most earnestly appeal to that sense of justice, which I feel sure I may venture upon asking from all honorable persons, to assist me, and the Public, as far as may lie in their power, in denouncing this shameful fraud.

Each Pot and Box of the Genuine Medicines, bears the British Government Stamp, with the words "HOLLO-WAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT, LONDON" engraved thereon. On the label is the address, 533, OXFORD STREET, LONDON, where alone they are manufactured.

Holloway's Pills and Ointment bearing any other address are counterfeits.

The Trade Marks of these Medicines are registered in Ottawa. Hence, any one throughout the British Possessions, who may keep the American Counterfeits for sale, will be prosecuted.
