Returning Prosperity.

It is most satisfactory to note the evidence on every hand of a steady. and progressive revival of industrial prosperity, especially in Canada. During the past week nearly every city in Canada showed a pronoposed advance in bank clearings. The only exceptions were Hamilton and London. In the other cities the advances ran from 12 to 47 per cent. Bank dep sits are also going ap During October money on deposit increased nearly $2,000,000, while savings deposits increased nearly $4.500,000. Banknote circulation for October showed an increase of $6,800,000 over the previous mouth of September. The tendency of the banks to meet the demands of ite. proved trade conditions is indicated by an increase of $3,300,000 in current and call loans.

At the same time the government trade returns indicate a very healthy condition of affairs in connection the version published in the World with our exports and imports. It with our exports and imports. World before its publication. The will be recalled that for some time World is one of the leading newsprevious to the recent business depression students of economic con- papers of the United States. It is ditions viewed with some misgivings the increasing predominance of im. ports over exports in our trade returns. The government reports for the incident it is scarcely believable October indicate what the borsemen would eall a reversal of form. Instead of the imports dominating the exports, our exports showed an in-crease of over $2 600 000, and a deorease of $5,221,000 in our imports, contributor, as was the London as compared with the corresponding month last year. In addition to that the aggregate for the month shows that a journal would publish an our exports to be considerably in excess of our imports. While for without having at least inquired into. seven months of the fiscal year im porte have decreased nearly $60, anthen icity of the article. While 000,000, our exports have only decreased about $12,000,000. All this indicates a healthy state of trade, and though the aggregate has must have contained some highly inbeen reduced some $73,000,000 it is temperate expressions of opinion chiefly in purchases abroad, which which would make it worth the account for nearly $60,000 000 of whole of the German foreign office to the total. Century Magazine, one of the highest the storm rasulting from the interview value to the Franch manufacturers. published in the London Daily Teleing competition with the agricultur graph, a report became current that ets of France by granting favors to the Century Publishing company had been paid $50.000 to suppress this latest interview. Whether or not this allegation is true' or whether the interview was to be published in a re edited form that would be barmless remains to be shown. The fact seems to be that the interview has been envirely suppressed .- Maanwhile the New York World alleges that it secured a copy of the interview which Dr. Hale had with the Emperor, and on Saturday it was published. A more impru. dent, or absolutely reckless statement coming from such a source gould scarcely be conceived. It not only con. tains insults to Britian, France, and Russia which are almost sufficint to create trouble of the most grievous nature, but seeks to represent Ger. many as being in alliance with the United States to protect the white races against the yellow peril. The interview reads as though i might be authentic in so far as it expresses the sentiment which it has long been sus. pected the Kaiser entertained, and would give credence to the belief that if the Emperor is mad there is method in his madness. Incidentally he says in effects that a Europian war is inevitable and that as Germany is ready for it he regards delay as a waste of time. The alleged interview sizes up the international situation in terms that must be regarded as fairly accurate, though it may be considered bia. sed as viewed from the German stand point. it is of such length and in such details that it can only be regard ed either as an astoundingly daring newspaper canard, or as the actual utterances of a monarch who has been preparing for a great war and is desermined to bring it on.

Following the publication of the aleged interview in the New York World there has appeared a state. ment from Dr Hale, who had the interview with the Kaiser on behalf of the Century Magazine, repudiating undoubtedly sensational, as most of the New York papers are, but pending further information in regard to that a newspaper with its reputation d ngerous matter without having article calculated to precipitate war and reasonably satisfied uself of the the representative of the Century repudiates the publication, it still remains that the Emperor, s deliverances on the Canadian representatives, who unintentionally, no doubt, failed to inform the French commissioners of all the treaty would mean. The situation is not one to justify the Canadian Government in taking a ballying attitude. The denunciation of the treaty of 1893, moreover, would neither improve the situation with France por help Canada in any way. The treaty of 1893, though not so long, has almost as much cope as that of 1907. It secures or the following articles, imported irect from Canada, the benefit of be French minimum tariff: Canued neate, condensed milk, pure, fresh water fish and cole, fish, lobeters and rayfish preserved in their natural orm, apples and pears, fresh dried or pressed, other fruits preserved, building timber, rough or sawn, wood pavement, staves, wood pulp (cellulose), tanning extracts, common paper, prepared skins, boots and shoes, furniture of common wood and wooden sea-going ships. This list covers the bulk of the articles of natural production in Canada in which an export trade with France s likely to be done. Moreover, it is provided that any reduction of duty granted by France to any other power on any of the articles enumerated shall be extended to Canada Canada is thus ensured 'most favored nation" treatment by France, as in turn she ensures the mme consideration to France in connection with the list of articles which she favors. If during the continuance of the treaty there has been less growth in the trade between the two countries than might have been expected, it is because bead." each maintains a fairly high rate of duties even on favored articles. In so far as such treaties go, that of 1893 with France provides for about as much as is likely to be obtained from any European nation.
