Civic Salary Increases - Another Sugar Beet Offer-Other Council Business.

Spite of the fact that the council opened earlier than usual, with an expressed intention to hurry through so as to allow the mayor and several members an opportunity to show their devotion to Ireland's patron saint by attending St. Patrick's concert at the Grand, was nearly 10:45 p.m. before an adjournment was moved, and therefore the anxious ones heard little of the concert. This, however, was not the business was gone through in a fairly expeditions made the council, as same argument applied to the tracking of Stanley street and of Beaconsfield fairly expeditious manner.

The evening's proceedings included the voting down of the proposal to have Springbank cars come back by Beaconsfield avenue, and an alternate suggestion which would allow of the double tracking of Stanley street was sent to No. 2 committee.

Other business included the passing of the salary increases, with two additions, the passing of charities grants as recommended, and the sending to the manufacturers' committee of the latest sugar beet proposition.

Those present were the mayor, Ald, Cooper, Dreaney, Jolly McMechan, Campbell, Abram, Winnett, Greenlees, Stevely, Beattle and Douglass, and Acting City Clerk Bell. COMMUNICATIONS.

John A. Moody, president of the London Sugar Refinery Co., wrote that owing to the limited time for the campaign of 1902-3, the company must act quickly. He therefore made the proposition that if the city gave a deed to 25 acres of land for a site, on the water front, in close proximity to the railroads, in the eastern part of the city, and exempt the said refinery for twenty years the company would at once close a contract with the National Construction Company of Detroit.

He said that if the council present session, other places would be only too glad to receive such a proposition.

THEY WOULDN'T ADJOURN.

After the communications had been read, Ald. Cooper moved that in honor of St. Patrick the council adjourn to meet on Tuesday night. Ald. Jolly seconded. The motion was lost, only the mover and seconder supporting it. NUMBER THREE COMMITTEE.

No. 3 committee's report was then taken up. The recommendation that the hours of closing billiard and pool en poppy, and one of the professors at rooms be extended till 11 p.m. on Saturdays was subjected to discussion. Ald, Jolly moved in amendment that the rooms be allowed to keep open till 12 o'clock from Monday to Friday night and till 11:30 on Saturday night. Ald. Greenlees protested against any change in the bylaw, saying the pool rooms were not desirable places to be kept open late, as they encouraged young men to loaf around till a late hour. The amendment was lost and the clause

"I take my pen in hand to inform you of the great cure effected by your medicines. Some time ago my husband was taken down with lung fever. It came on him with a chill in the night. It happened I had a supply of the medicine in the house at the time. I rubbed his chest and back with the Radway's Ready Relief. I gave him a teaspoonful in a little hot water to drink, to help warm and stimulate him, and in about half an hour three of the Radway's Pills. By the time the doctor came the next morning he was much better. The doctor wanted to know what I had been doing. I told him. He said that was good; that they were good medicines. Another case I had was with my little nephew. He was taken with the croup. I rubbed his chest, throat and back with the Ready Relief, gave him doses about an hour apart, followed it by a dose of pills. By the next day he was about all right. I have been using this medicine, with my family and neighbors, for about thirty years, and never knew it to fail. I would feel gratefully obliged to you to please forward me 'False and True.' for which I inclose stamp. You are at liberty to make use of this testimony as you may think proper. As for the danger on Wortley road he considered it largely imaginary. At the viaduct on Thames street, a much narrower one than that on Wortley also a very narrow passage, there had Thomas H. Smallman, vice-president of the London Street Railway, said he wished to submit a new proposition to the council. One of the sidewaks on Stanley street is of wood, is almost worn out, and will soon have to be renewed. By moving this sidewalk back to the fence line, room would be left for the double tracking of the street, while the roadway would also be wider than at present. In return for this privilege the company will deed to the city the lot purchased at

Almost a perfect circle, its base is nearly two miles in circumference and its slope, covered by a thick forest, extends gradually upward for nearly 1,400 feet, where it ends in a perfectly level plateau, entirely denuded of timber, of several acres in extent. Owing to the long continued drought,
