Believes That Judges' Pay Should Be Be Increased.

The members of the Middlesex Law Association are of the opinion that the salaries of the judiciary are altogether inadequate, and should be increased. At a meeting of the association yesterday afternoon the question was fully considered and the feeling was general that salaries should go up, With the president, Mr. V. Cronyn, in the chair, the following resolutions were adopted and ordered to be sent to the Dominion Government, by the secretary, Mr. George M. Gunn:

"In the opinion of the County of Middlesex Law Association the salaries of the judges should be materially increased, for the reason that the salary now offered to judges is so small, that it requires such self-sacrifice on the part of men of ability and standing in their profession to resign a lucra-tive practice for the purpose of serving their country in this important department.

"Secondly, that the salaries of the judges of the court of appeal receiving, as they do, no circuit allowance, should be increased so as to make them not less than the judges of the high court of justice."

At present the four hundred men are employed nine hours a day, with the force in the machine and blacksmith shops working until 10 o'clock every other night, but the orders are so heavy that they cannot be filled as rapidly as desired. The great-er bulk of the work is in the freight department, where the last of an or-der of eight hundred flat-cars will shortly be turned out. Other important matters of business were the submission of an encouraging financial statement by the board of managers, the election of managers for the ensuing year, and a general discussion of the church's affairs In connection with the proposal to raise the pastor's salary, Rev. The primary class, however, had been enlarged, and to make room for it it was necessary to disband a Bible class of nine young men. The staff had not suffered so much as in past years. The financial statement showed receipts amounting to $120 29, and expenditures $101 85. Mission fund collections

Mrs. Wood read the report of the Ladies' Aid Society. The year 1902 had been one of the most successful years it had experienced, both in interest, and in a financial way. The financial statement showed receipts during the year, with $201 97 balance on hand, Jan. 1, 1902, of $678 36. The disbursements amounted to $30 76, leaving a balance of $642 60.

The report of the missionary committee was read by Mrs. T. B. Miller, and showed a decrease in the number of contributors by envelope of 12 and in noney of $42 44. The bank balance was $256. In the Dr. Robertson Northwest special fund there was a balance on hand of $25 22.

Miss Jean Reid read the report of the Victoria Mission Band, which show-ed that a successful and encouraging year had been passed. The Young Women's Home Mission Circle submitted a favorable report. It was read by Miss Bapty. The total contributions amounted to $147 11, which had been devoted to good works. The Young People's Society for Bible Study was represented by Mr. E. Atkins. The membership was 63. The amount of money raised was $77 52, most of which was disposed of to ad-

Mr. Hurkitt, secretary of the choir, reported that the choir, which had been organized as a society, was in a flourishing condition. The average attendance had been 22, with a membership of 28. During 1902, 19 members had resigned, but there had been 20 new members join last year. The unfavorable part of the report was that to the effect that the small number of anthems, 30, in the church library, necessitated their being sung so frequently that the congregation and choir grew weary of them. The above reports were all adopted without dis-

THE SEVENTIETH ANNIVERSARY.

At the conclusion of the reading and adoption of the above reports, Clark made a brief address. He sketched historically the origin of the church. It was 70 years ago the 17th of January since the congregation had been organized, so that the name of "First

In the year 1835 Mr. Proudfoot gave an account of his work, which was purely missionary work in the then village of London. The building was erected in 1895 and cost $1,200. "It is something to remember," said Mr. Clark, "that we have just passed the 70th anniversary. I trust the name of First Presbyterian will be deserved in other ways in the spirit that moves us, and the unity of our work. A project will be submitted that is of importance. I look to you confidently for your sympathy and support. I would like the diamond jubilee of our church find us, with the new and necessary improvements and the debt so far re duced, as firm as we stand today. There is not much change in our mempership. The Sabbath school report we need new equipment. The ladies' societies have prospered as they always seem to prosper. While it is regrettable that not so much money was received by the missionary committee, still we have been doing better, only distributing the money under different schemes. Making a comparison with other churches the past ten years it does no discredit to our church. The Mission Band has had a successful year. In the Young Woman's Missionary Society we have progressiveness; it can almost be said they lead the van. There is no part of church work that is brought to my notice that is more appreciated than the Bible Study class. Then in the choir report there's a point to meditate upon; we ought to be more generous with the musical library. I think you should give them your support during the coming year. The managers' re-port is an encouraging report. We have had a good year and we may look forward with courage to the year that is before us." CHURCH'S FINANCES IMPROVING.

Dr. J. N. Wood then took the chair and the secretary read the report of the board of managers. The total moneys received from various sources in connection with ordinary church work collectively amounted to $6,713 92, and were as follows: From envelopes, $4,758 35; open collections, $677 42 (these together make $5,435 77,an increase over 1901 of $158 78); from anniversary services, $1,151 88; balance from 1901, $41 44; from anniversary services of 1901, but late for report, $80; interest. $4 63; balance in treasurer's hands, $4 27—total $6,713 92. PRAISE FOR THE PASTOR.

The adoption of the first clause was moved by Mr. Ed. E. Reid, who stated replies to two questions that might arise, the first that of whether Mr. Clark was deserving of the increase, and the second as to the financial position of the church. In regard to the first he thought that after the expressions of the congregation last summer nothing more need be said, while the report showed that the church was able to pay the extra $200 per annum. The board, he said, were a unit in favoring the increase. His remarks were greeted with applause

In seconding the adoption, Principal Merchant said: "All the reports this evening have been received with gratitude and pleasure, but we must remember that the First Presbyterian Church owes most of its strength and power to the pastor. (Applause.) There is no doubt as to that. If any evidence is needed we have only to refer to the resolution passed at the special meeting in September. I feel that I took an active interest then in retaining Mr. Clark. We all spoke out strongly by words, but there are other ways of showing our appreciation of him-and we have a chance to do it." His statements were loudly applauded, as were also those of Mr. Stuart, and the recommendation was unanimously carried by a standing vote. Rev. Mr. Clark then rose to reply. He said: "I do not feel like taking up your time, but I want to be honest and straightforward about this matter. In the first place I want to say that the congregation have always treated me generously. In the second place, I think the salary is no larger than you gave me when I came here in proportion to the revenues. And I do not think the salary is out of proportion with those of my professional brethren throughout the country. Since Sunday I have thought this matter over seriously. Now, there have been calls that the congregation have known nothing about. Within a month of the call to Vancouver I received an offer to be a candidate for a pulpit paying $3,000, with a free manse; I was also asked to be a candidate for a church in the United States where the sal ary would have been double that. I refused them. I love this church and congregation. I shall be content to live and die as its pastor. If the revenues fall I suppose my salary shall fall. I shall do my best, as I have done my best to earn it. I have considered the matter seriously, and I believe I am doing the right thing in accepting the increase, and I thank you very sincerely for your kindness. You don't know what strength it is to me in 1902 to educational and other instito see such men and women as we have in this congregation, and I hope 000,000.

WILL ERECT NEW SCHOOL. On a motion being made to adopt the second recommendation of the board,

Dr. Merchant was asked to speak to the question. Dr. Merchant explained that the building as far as size was concerned was entirely inadequate. Sabbath school teachers had long ago agreed that classes should be taught in separate rooms, and such should be provided. The heating was defective, too. This question was a serious one. The problem, he thought, was, "How we are to hold our young men." A class of nine or ten had been disbanded for the above reasons. One thing he was proud of was that one-fifth of the members of the Sabbath school were members of the church. The growth of the church depended upon the nurture of the Sabbath school. There was no more self-sacrificing part of the com-munity than the great army of Sabbath school teachers.

One or two others voiced the same sentiments and the clause was adopted unanimously. The third recommendation was also adopted. The managers' report was adopted.

The question then arose as to the first steps to be taken in regard to the new building. Mr. Clark pointed out that there were two ways in which the building could be paid for, first, to borrow the money and add to the debt, or, second, make an appeal for subscriptions and anniversary collections thereafter on the line of the century fund. The latter method he favored. The opinion, however, was that this should not be considered until after the preliminary steps had been taken. A motion was made that Dr. Wood Dr. Merchant and Mr. W. C. Ferguson B. A., be a committee to get estimate. and report to the board of managers. An amendment was moved by Mr James I. Anderson and seconded by Mr. John Cameron, in which they bot! strongly urged that the matter be left in the hands of the board of managers and sessions to report upon. Their amendment finally prevailed.

ABOUT THE CHOIR.

A motion made by Mr. Stuart that Miss Mowat be given an increase of $25 per year, being the amount by which last year her salary was reduced, owing to church finances, gave rise to a lengthy discussion of choir matters in general. In order to include the above amount the motion was made that the estimates be $675 for choir purposes. This carried after a discussion of matters pertaining to the choir library chiefly. In regard to the latter Dr. Arnott said he thoroughly that there had been no new anthems in twelve years, and purposed presenting a half-dozen to the choir, a statement that was appreciatively received. The organist, Mr. W. C. Barron, also addressed the congregation on choir economics in a pleasing manner. A vote of thanks was tendered the choir, the Sabbath school teachers, the ushers, the pew-steward and other of-ficials of the work. On behalf of the choir Mr. Barron made a suitable response. Mr. Allen asked for assistants as pew-steward. Mr. Ed Reid was ap-pointed to act jointly with him. In reference to the reduction in the grant to Chalmers Church, the board was ordered to reconsider the matter. Before closing Mr. John Cameron paid a tribute to the ladies, suggesting that their advice be obtained in matters of mural decorations in the
