HOMESTAKE GROUP. The Homestake Consolidated Mines, with a capital of £150,000, was organized for the purpose of acquiring the Homestake for the purpose of acquiring the Home-stake, Gopher, R. E. Lee and Maid of Erin claims, and us the result of D. M. Linnard's visit to England last winter. The holders of stock in either of the four companies are to be entitled to ex-change their stock for stock in the London company at the rate of 12½ cents per share. These claims are all located along one ledge, apparently the mother lode of the south belt, and they cover a little over a mile of it. Within this mile there are over 33 openings on the vein, all showing ore. The Homestake was purchased last August from the Spakene company, which had it made Maid of Erin were also secured from a Spokane company, and cost the present owners $51,000, the purchase having been made in October. In December last the Gopher, which intervenes between the Homestake and R. E. Lee and Maid group, was bought for $40,000.

This made the group cost its present owners $136,000, and in addition to the purchase price they have expended $47,000 in development work and improvements in the shape of machinery plants

There was no formality about the gathering; all seemed part of a happy, contented family, looking up to the genial tactful pastor as their head. Outdoor and indoor games, music—for the Congregational church is fortunate in the possession of excellent singers and instrumentalists—and the serving of seasonable refreshments filled out the pleasent evening, which it is perhaps y needless to say, passed all too quickly for those who for the time being were Step the guests of hospitable Mr. and Mrs. Ecowersft.

This ore could have been shipped at a small profit, but the policy of the owners has been to hold it, believing that by so doing they were saving money in view of the certainty of lower treatment charges and freight rates at an early date. The workings of the Lee and Maid developed considerable $20 ore, of which one car load was shipped to the smelter.
