A CHAPTER OF ADVICE

TO YOUNG, OLD AND Middle-Aged Men.

How Youthful Dissipations Make Drafts Upon Old Age--The Language of the Passions.

"The good I do hath oft been evil spoken of by fools."
"A man without wisdom lives in a fool's paradise."

"Though I look old, yet am I strong and lusty, for in my youth I never did apply hot and rebellious liquors in my blood; nor did not with unbashful forehead woo the means of weakness and debility; therefore my age is as a lusty winter—frosty but kindly."—Shakespeare.

"Old age has the foundation of its joy or its sorrow laid in youth. Every deed, right or wrong, that transpires in youth reaches toward, and has a relation to, all the after-part of a man's life. A man's life is like the separate parts of a plant which unfold out of itself, every part bearing relation to all that antecede. That which one does in youth is the root, and all the afterparts, middle age and old age, are the branches and he fruits, whose character the root will determine. His body is placed in a world adapted to nourish and protect it. There are elements of evil in it if a man pleases to find them out. A man can wear his body out as quickly as he pleases, destroy it if he will.

"Every immoderate draft which is made by the appetites and passions is so much sent forward to be cashed in old age. We may sin at one end, but God takes it off at the other. Every man has stored up for him some 80 years, if he knows how to keep them, and those 80 years, like a bank of deposit, are full of treasures; but youth, through ignorance or through immoderate passions, is wont continually to draw checks on old age. Men do not suppose that they are doing it, although told that the wicked shall not live out half their days. Men are accustomed to look upon the excesses of youth as something hat belongs to that time.

"I do not object to any amount of gayety or vivacity that lies within the bounds of reason or of health, but I do reject and abhor, as worthy to be stigmatized as dishonorable and unmanly, every such course in youth as takes away strength, vigor and purity from old age. Every man that transcends nature's laws in youth is taking beforehand those treasures that are stored up for his old age; he is taking the food that should have been his sustenance in old age, and exhausting it in riotous living in his youth.

"I do object to a man's making an animal of himself by living for the gratification of his own animal passions.

"Upon an impression that youth is very much like wine, crude and insipid until it has fermented, and thrown down the lees, and the scum has been drawn off, the great body between sound and wholesome and beautiful. I am not one that thinks so. I think that youth is the plant life, and that every wart or excrescence is so much enfeeblement to its fruit-bearing power. I do not believe that any man is the better for having learned the whole career of drunkenness and lust or the dailyings of indulgences that belong to a morbid life. A young man that has got through these things may be saved at last. He has gone through an experience but for which his manhood would have been both stronger and nobler. Excess in regard to animal indulgence is bankruptcy in old age.

"The appetites of youth, which either in social or in solitary life drain down the vitality and impair the constitution, are so many insidious assults on old age. I would that the young knew how clearly these things are written. God's handwriting is very plain and very legible to those who have eyes to see. There is not an intelligent physician that does not read as he walks through the streets the secret history of the lives of those whom he meets, and that, too, without following them in their midnight career. I care not to have men come to me and state their secret courses; I can read it in the skin and in the eye.

THE LANGUAGE OF THE PASSIONS.

"There is not one single appetite or passion that has not its natural language, and every undue indulgence of that appetite or passion leaves that natural language, more or less, stamped upon the skin, upon the features, upon the expression of the face or the carriage of the body.

"There is always some token that tells what men are doing if they are doing anything to excess.

"Men think that if they commit their wickedness in secret places or in the night it is not known. It is known, although no man may ever say to them: 'Thou are guilty.'

"The use of stimulants in youth is another detraction from happinness in old age. Men usually take what they least need. In other words, we follow our strongest faculties and not our weaker ones, and therefore if men are excessively nervous they almost invariably seek to make themselves more so.

"I rejoice to say that I was brought up from my youth to abstain from tobacco. In rare cases, where there is already some unhealthy or morbid tendency in the system, it is possible that it may be used, with some benefit, but ordinarily it is unhealthy.

"I believe that the day will come when a young man will be proud of not being addicted to the use of stimulants of any kind.

"I believe that the day will come when not to drink, when not to use tobacco, not to waste one's strength in the secret indulgence of passion, but to be true to one's nature, true to God's law, to be sound, robust, cheerful and to be conscious that these elements of health and strength are derived from the reverend obedience of the commandments of God, will be a matter of ambition and endeavor among men."

"Bigotry with spiteful aim,
Doth sometimes try to smite the sage's eye,
And steal behind the steps of truth,
To cast a slur on sacred pages.
I wage my battle with a purpose keen,
Nor fear the hand nor tooth of jealousy."
—Lubon.

"If all the noble blood of Rome were but infused in some men's hearts, e'en then it would not make a wise man of a fool."—Lubon.

Man Creates His Own Diseases.

In a general sense, disease is the legitimate and necessary results of the violations of the laws of our physical being—the conditions of health. It is reasonable to infer that there is no pain, sickness, and but few deaths which do not result from infringement of these laws—health being in a certain sense natural, and disease accidental, inflicted in the line of penalty. We may conclude that the great and good Father is best pleased with His children when they regard all of His laws, including, most certainly, the laws of the body, established for the regulation of that body, by a proper observation of which a natural condition of good health can be secured—our health being as certainly under our control, and to as great an extent as any branch of our business or employment, or our education—while disobedience, and consequent physical suffering and disease, not only are not in accordance with His pleasure and design, but such violations of His laws will constitute sin, as certainly as a violation of a moral law, both having the same divine origin.

The true condition of the advanced man is that in which his whole being is harmoniously developed, the body so cared for and fed that it will have some of the vigor and endurance of its original state, as he came from the hand of the Creator, when, as one of the best thinkers of the age in which he lived, Horace Mann, said 'of man before he fell, physically, by gross violations of organic laws, "He was so perfect in his bodily organs, so defiant of cold and hot, or drought and humidity, so surcharged with vital force, that it took more than two thousand years of the combined abominations of appetite and ignorance; it took successive ages of outrageous excess and debauchery to drain off his electric energies and make him even accessible to disease; then it took ages more to breed all of these vile distempers which now nestle, like vermin, in every fibre of the body!" Although sufferings, tortures and disease follow in the direct line of penalty for disobedience, a disregard of necessary laws of our being, these penalties are administered in mercy, what we call disease being, generally, only efforts of nature to avert the worst results of our wrong-doings and to improve the general condition of the system.

If our Heavenly Father punishes us for our physical sins, our reckless disregard of the physical laws which He instituted for the protection of our health and the promotion of our physical welfare He supplemented such penalties with reconstructive instrumentalities, recuperative measures, conducive to our real good. If we suffer, it is because we are wrong; we outrage our physical being. It would be blasphemous to charge the good Father with creating idiots, monsters, the physically dwarfed and diseased, surcharged with the overflowing rottenness of licentiousness, the gangrenous and the deformed, the blind and the halt, the thousands of the victims of degraded and vicious parents, in whom the foul emanations, in the form of malignant diseases, are constantly ottmalignant diseases, are constantly ott-cropping from week to week, rendering mortal life but a series of fearful plagues and epidemics, the diseased bodies scarcely being capable of containing the constant stream of foulness which naturally flows from a vicious and licentious life down to a sin-cursed progeny. No, if we suffer, it is because we procure sufferings, MAN CREATES HIS OWN DISEASES.

"Or as simple light answers as well for a hundred men as for one."

"Truth is heavy, therefore few care to carry it."

"Save the man in the boy."

Reason thus with Life: "If I do lose thee, I do lose a thing that has been trusted to my keeping."

"The gods are just, and of our pleasant sins make whips to scourge us."—King Lear.

MANY MEN

From the effects of youthful imprudence, have brought about a state of weakness that has reduced the general system so much as to induce almost every other disease, AND THE REAL CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE scarcely ever being suspected, they are doctored for everything but the RIGHT ONE. Notwithstanding the many valuable remedies that medical science has produced for the relief of this class of patients no treatment has as yet met with the extraordinary success of THE LUBON SPECIFIC MEDICINES. Out of thousands of cases treated by them Specifics fully 80 per cent. have been cured.

M. V. LUBON'S

Marvels of Healing and Kohinoor of Medicines

—KNOWN AS—

SPECIFICS NO. 8, A, B, C AND D

The Great Health Renewers.

M. V. LUBON'S Specific Medicines will cure the debilitating effects of youthful excess, overwork, confinement, worry, care, sedentary habits, excitement, etc. The above are more common causes of Sexual and Generative Diseases than is generally supposed, because the system is so run down that there is very little stamina or vitality to rely upon. If this weakness is allowed to go unchecked, the mind will become diseased, the eyesight will be impaired, and the vital forces consumed—thereby causing partial or complete impotency. Impotence is most common in men past middle age. It may come on as the second or third stage of Spermatorrhœa, or it may develop slowly or suddenly without any symptoms of Spermatorrhœa. It may be accompanied by various nervous and exhausting symptoms, or these may be wholly absent. If vital fluid is being lost, and the Impotence is due to the weakness thus caused, nervous exhaustion is sure to come, sooner or later. Young men who have endangered or injured their sexual power by abuse in early years, and older men who have exhausted themselves by later excesses, will find in No. 8 a complete and satisfactory cure.

Symptoms for which No. 8 should be used: Emissions, day or night, flushing and chilliness, stupidity and tendency to doze or sleep, mental hebetude, failing memory, lack of power of application or energy, restlessness, pain and smarting in passing urine, pain in the kidneys, headache, pimples on the face or body, itching or peculiar sensation about the scrotum, thighs, legs, anus, etc., wasting of the organs, stringiness and softening, etc., etc., sluggish bowels, pains in the head (front, top and back), dizziness on stooping over or kneeling, specks before the eyes, erotic dreams, melancholy (developing sometimes into insanity), numbness of arms, hands, feet or legs; twitching of the muscles of the eyelids and elsewhere, timidity, deposits in the urine, troubled breathing, loss of will power, bashfulness, burning of the face, palpitation of the heart, early loss, fear of impending danger or misfortune, tenderness of the scalp and spine, sudden sweating, sudden nervous trembling, weight on the brain, weak and flabby muscles, desire to sleep late in the mornings, failure to be rested by sleep, sleepiness and torpor the day after a nightly emission has occurred, the oozing of a thick white fluid from the urethra when constipated or straining at stool, is almost always the result of abuse or excess, and unless cured, almost invariably results in complete or partial impotency, and frequently in insanity and death. The loss often occurs during the sleep or at the stool, and even from the slightest cause. Sometimes the escape is imperceptible. Indigestion, innutrition, emaciation, shortness of breath, palpitation, nervous debility, want of energy, vertigo, want of purpose, dimness of sight, dulness of hearing, aversion to society, blushing, want of confidence, avoidance of conversation, desire for solitude, listlessness, and inability to fix the attention on a particular subject, cowardice, depression of spirits, giddiness, excitability of temper, moroseness, etc., are all symptoms of this exhaustion. Subsequently the yellow skin reveals the bones, the sunken eyes are surrounded by a leaden circle, the vivacious imagination becomes dull, the active mind grows insipid—in short, the spiritual or vital force, having lost its tension, every function wanes in consequence.

No 8 acts upon the brain, mind, blood and the nervous system. Man, young or old, who has/set business cares and worries, mental trouble, overwork and constant brain wear and tear, confinement or long hours in unhealthy offices, lack of exercise and the like ruin their previously good constitutions; or those who, through youthful abuses committed in ignorance or later excesses from unbridled passions, will find in No. 8 a true friend.

Facts for Men Who are Weak, Nervous and Debilitated.

Atrophical Consumption or General Debility

Is the result of defective nutrition, arising from depression of the nervous and muscular powers, but in the majority of cases it arises from self-abuse or the ERRORS of youth. The habit to which I allude is termed self-abuse; and why it is not more noticed by physicians as a powerful cause of bodily decay is a matter of much astonishment. It is far more common than some imagine. It is not confined to the youth of one sex only. It is not confined to the great and affluent of the world; it is common alike to rich and poor, to the young as well as those of RIPER YEARS. It is in vain that mock modesty attempts to throw a veil over THAT PRACTICE, which is the most dangerous because hidden in SECRECY, because medical men have not the courage to utter its very name. Thus is humanity betrayed, and thus are the health and happiness of thousands sacrificed to a FALSE DELICACY. The whole of this page would not suffice to tell the sad tale of sufferings entailed by this solitary vice. The following extracts will show the opinion of high authorities on this subject:

There is a vast deal of injury done to individual health by the abuses and excesses of the PRODUCTIVE FUNCTIONS. The primitive fathers and physicians have duly noticed the evils to which I allude. It is all very well TO DECLAIM AGAINST A NOTICE OF THEM, but justice, morality and the preservation of health, as well as the perpetuation of the human race, DEMAND IT. There are ignorant, intolerant bigots and fools who are unable to appreciate the importance of the subject. TISOT observes that THIS HABIT causes a decay of all the intellectual faculties; loss of memory; continual anguish; the bodily powers decay and the poor victim becomes afflicted with melancholy. Those who have given way to this deluding HABIT, STOP, before the whole frame is destroyed: it soon brings on all the infirmities of the most languishing OLD AGE and renders its victims indifferent to the amusements and duties of life. This habit deadens all the life and spirit of youth; its votary becomes like a faded rose; a tree blasted in its opening bloom; a wandering skeleton, nothing remaining but debility, LIVID PALENESS, a withered body and a mind overwhelmed with wretchedness. Nature becomes exhausted; it is the wreck of youth and hope and life, together blended in one awful destruction. Let not PRUDERY turn aside at these details, for it is often the good and INNOCENT who fall victims to these miseries. I have had access to various hospitals in FRANCE, where I have seen poor humanity in some of its most revolting forms. I could not behold without shuddering, on passing through the "Lazarus" ward of the great hospitals at Vienna and Paris, the utter wreck of folly's THOUGHTLESS victims. Let all young men avoid this vice of which I write as they would shun a nest of hornets. The effects of this habit are often unperceived or unnoticed BY THE PATIENT, and that for a considerable length of time, although its premonitory symptoms may often be seen by others for many months. In most cases the patients are PALE OF COMPLEXION, SLIGHTLY EMACIATED, SOMETIMES HAGGARD cropping from week to week, rendering mortal life but a series of fearful plagues and epidemics, the diseased bodies scarcely being capable of containing the constant stream of foulness which naturally flows from a vicious and licentious life down to a sin-cursed progeny. No, if we suffer, it is because we procure sufferings, MAN CREATES HIS OWN DISEASES.

"Or as simple light answers as well for a hundred men as for one."

"Truth is heavy, therefore few care to carry it."

"Save the man in the boy."

Reason thus with Life: "If I do lose thee, I do lose a thing that has been trusted to my keeping."

"The gods are just, and of our pleasant sins make whips to scourge us."—King Lear.

MANY MEN

From the effects of youthful imprudence, have brought about a state of weakness that has reduced the general system so much as to induce almost every other disease, AND THE REAL CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE scarcely ever being suspected, they are doctored for everything but the RIGHT ONE. Notwithstanding the many valuable remedies that medical science has produced for the relief of this class of patients no treatment has as yet met with the extraordinary success of THE LUBON SPECIFIC MEDICINES. Out of thousands of cases treated by them Specifics fully 80 per cent. have been cured.

M. V. LUBON'S

Marvels of Healing and Kohinoor of Medicines

—KNOWN AS—

SPECIFICS NO. 8, A, B, C AND D

The Great Health Renewers.

M. V. LUBON'S Specific Medicines will cure the debilitating effects of youthful excess, overwork, confinement, worry, care, sedentary habits, excitement, etc. The above are more common causes of Sexual and Generative Diseases than is generally supposed, because the system is so run down that there is very little stamina or vitality to rely upon. If this weakness is allowed to go unchecked, the mind will become diseased, the eyesight will be impaired, and the vital forces consumed—thereby causing partial or complete impotency. Impotence is most common in men past middle age. It may come on as the second or third stage of Spermatorrhœa, or it may develop slowly or suddenly without any symptoms of Spermatorrhœa. It may be accompanied by various nervous and exhausting symptoms, or these may be wholly absent. If vital fluid is being lost, and the Impotence is due to the weakness thus caused, nervous exhaustion is sure to come, sooner or later. Young men who have endangered or injured their sexual power by abuse in early years, and older men who have exhausted themselves by later excesses, will find in No. 8 a complete and satisfactory cure.

Symptoms for which No. 8 should be used: Emissions, day or night, flushing and chilliness, stupidity and tendency to doze or sleep, mental hebetude, failing memory, lack of power of application or energy, restlessness, pain and smarting in passing urine, pain in the kidneys, headache, pimples on the face or body, itching or peculiar sensation about the scrotum, thighs, legs, anus, etc., wasting of the organs, stringiness and softening, etc., etc., sluggish bowels, pains in the head (front, top and back), dizziness on stooping over or kneeling, specks before the eyes, erotic dreams, melancholy (developing sometimes into insanity), numbness of arms, hands, feet or legs; twitching of the muscles of the eyelids and elsewhere, timidity, deposits in the urine, troubled breathing, loss of will power, bashfulness, burning of the face, palpitation of the heart, early loss, fear of impending danger or misfortune, tenderness of the scalp and spine, sudden sweating, sudden nervous trembling, weight on the brain, weak and flabby muscles, desire to sleep late in the mornings, failure to be rested by sleep, sleepiness and torpor the day after a nightly emission has occurred, the oozing of a thick white fluid from the urethra when constipated or straining at stool, is almost always the result of abuse or excess, and unless cured, almost invariably results in complete or partial impotency, and frequently in insanity and death. The loss often occurs during the sleep or at the stool, and even from the slightest cause. Sometimes the escape is imperceptible. Indigestion, innutrition, emaciation, shortness of breath, palpitation, nervous debility, want of energy, vertigo, want of purpose, dimness of sight, dulness of hearing, aversion to society, blushing, want of confidence, avoidance of conversation, desire for solitude, listlessness, and inability to fix the attention on a particular subject, cowardice, depression of spirits, giddiness, excitability of temper, moroseness, etc., are all symptoms of this exhaustion. Subsequently the yellow skin reveals the bones, the sunken eyes are surrounded by a leaden circle, the vivacious imagination becomes dull, the active mind grows insipid—in short, the spiritual or vital force, having lost its tension, every function wanes in consequence.

No 8 acts upon the brain, mind, blood and the nervous system. Man, young or old, who has/set business cares and worries, mental trouble, overwork and constant brain wear and tear, confinement or long hours in unhealthy offices, lack of exercise and the like ruin their previously good constitutions; or those who, through youthful abuses committed in ignorance or later excesses from unbridled passions, will find in No. 8 a true friend.

Facts for Men Who are Weak, Nervous and Debilitated.

Atrophical Consumption or General Debility

Is the result of defective nutrition, arising from depression of the nervous and muscular powers, but in the majority of cases it arises from self-abuse or the ERRORS of youth. The habit to which I allude is termed self-abuse; and why it is not more noticed by physicians as a powerful cause of bodily decay is a matter of much astonishment. It is far more common than some imagine. It is not confined to the youth of one sex only. It is not confined to the great and affluent of the world; it is common alike to rich and poor, to the young as well as those of RIPER YEARS. It is in vain that mock modesty attempts to throw a veil over THAT PRACTICE, which is the most dangerous because hidden in SECRECY, because medical men have not the courage to utter its very name. Thus is humanity betrayed, and thus are the health and happiness of thousands sacrificed to a FALSE DELICACY. The whole of this page would not suffice to tell the sad tale of sufferings entailed by this solitary vice. The following extracts will show the opinion of high authorities on this subject:

There is a vast deal of injury done to individual health by the abuses and excesses of the PRODUCTIVE FUNCTIONS. The primitive fathers and physicians have duly noticed the evils to which I allude. It is all very well TO DECLAIM AGAINST A NOTICE OF THEM, but justice, morality and the preservation of health, as well as the perpetuation of the human race, DEMAND IT. There are ignorant, intolerant bigots and fools who are unable to appreciate the importance of the subject. TISOT observes that THIS HABIT causes a decay of all the intellectual faculties; loss of memory; continual anguish; the bodily powers decay and the poor victim becomes afflicted with melancholy. Those who have given way to this deluding HABIT, STOP, before the whole frame is destroyed: it soon brings on all the infirmities of the most languishing OLD AGE and renders its victims indifferent to the amusements and duties of life. This habit deadens all the life and spirit of youth; its votary becomes like a faded rose; a tree blasted in its opening bloom; a wandering skeleton, nothing remaining but debility, LIVID PALENESS, a withered body and a mind overwhelmed with wretchedness. Nature becomes exhausted; it is the wreck of youth and hope and life, together blended in one awful destruction. Let not PRUDERY turn aside at these details, for it is often the good and INNOCENT who fall victims to these miseries. I have had access to various hospitals in FRANCE, where I have seen poor humanity in some of its most revolting forms. I could not behold without shuddering, on passing through the "Lazarus" ward of the great hospitals at Vienna and Paris, the utter wreck of folly's THOUGHTLESS victims. Let all young men avoid this vice of which I write as they would shun a nest of hornets. The effects of this habit are often unperceived or unnoticed BY THE PATIENT, and that for a considerable length of time, although its premonitory symptoms may often be seen by others for many months. In most cases the patients are PALE OF COMPLEXION, SLIGHTLY EMACIATED, SOMETIMES HAGGARD and SICKLY in APPEARANCE. Their manners are shy and nervous, and they often have an air of timidity. They are at once restless and listless, and do not exhibit that interest in life which characterizes those not laboring under disease. They also complain of LOSS OF MEMORY. This HABIT is one of the most powerful causes of nervous and muscular debility. Among its final effects are found—LASSITUDE, WEAKNESS, DIMINUTION OF SIGHT, IMPOTENCY, BARRENNESS, PALPITATION OF THE HEART, HYSTERIC feelings in females, trembling, melancholy, etc. The stomach is disordered and its muscular action is destroyed; disturbing dreams prevent sleep; the whole body is enfeebled, particularly about the LOINS; decay and emaciation succeed, and finally, palsies, lethargies and atrophy. The spinal marrow wastes away, the mind and intellect languish and the poor creature perishes a miserable VICTIM.

First Stage.

The brain and nervous system begin to feel the effect. Memory and application, good judgment, decision of character and clear-mindedness are not what they were. Headaches are common, bashfulness and trepidation, especially in the presence of ladies, is the rule. The person feels clumsy, embarrassed and ill at ease. Sleep is sometimes poor, being disturbed by horrid dreams. Drowsiness and a tired, languid feeling in the morning and a disinclination to rise and go to work are certain signs of approaching nervous exhaustion. The eyes are dull and heavy. The pupils are unequal; often large, sometimes one large, one small. The hands tremble at times, and the whole person is absent-minded, melancholy and fears the jests and ridicule of his associates. The skin, especially of the face, becomes coarse and red, and covered with blotches and pimples. Twitching of the muscles of the eyelids and face is generally present accompanied by creeping sensations up the spine, flushing of the face, slight chills, dizziness and black specks before the eyes on stooping, and occasionally there are neuralgic pains about the heart. If unchecked the above-named symptoms rapidly merge into those of the Second Stage.

Here all the symptoms of the first stage are usually present but intensified. Weakness is more pronounced and the nervous prostration more decided. There are flushings succeeded by chilliness, tendency to fever or sleep. Mental dulness, failing memory, lack of power of application, energy or concentration, restlessness, headaches, pimples on face, itching and peculiar sensations, torpid liver, failing light, pains in the head, chest and limbs, dizziness on stooping, specks before the eyes, melancholy, sometimes insanity, nunbness (sometimes symptoms of paralysis), twitching of muscles, ending sometimes in epilepsy or St. Vitus dance, troubled breathing, timidity, indecision, loss of will power, bashfulness, burning of the face with cold-ness of hands and feet, palpitation of the heart, despondency, fear of impending danger, tenderness of spine, dryness of skin, nervous tremblings, noises in the ear, weight on the brain, loss of muscles, enfeebled by slight exertions, sleep does not refresh. Features emaciated and haggard. The eyes are dead, sunken and lustreless, though there is a look of wild unsettled fire that denotes approaching insanity. The heart beats irregularly. There is shortness of breath. The brain becomes more sluggish day by day.

The Third Stage

is an aggravation of the two preceding ones. The mind is absorbed as much as it can be by the one idea of its wretched situation, and the sufferer is haunted by the thought that his condition and causes are known to the whole world, and that he is pitied or scorned by every person he meets. He is hypochondriac, and fearful suggestions of self-destruction ever and anon present themselves. The power of mental concentration is entirely gone, and the memory is so feeble that the patient continually forgets what he began to say. The dimness of vision is continual and so great as to be a material annoyance. The eyes are wandering or fixed on the ground, seldom venturing to meet the gaze of another. The ringing in the ears, pain in the head and over the eyes are almost perpetual and frequently accompanied by partial deafness. The heart is the seat of pain, fluttering and throbbing with violent and long-continued palpitation. His hands shake, limbs tremble, knees are weak, so much so that at times it is almost impossible to walk erect. He experiences an insatiable desire for sleep, and yet on retiring lies awake for hours tormented by his troubled reflections, and at last falls into an uneasy slumber of short duration, disturbed by wretched dreams. Hard red pimples appear on the face and forehead, scaly patches around the ears, nose and lips, a blotch or blush semi-circle shows itself under the eyes and there is a hollow mark from the inner corner of the eye in a slanting direction to the corner of the mouth. The skin is livid—in short, the spiritual or vital force, having lost its tension, every function wanes in consequence.

No 8 acts upon the brain, mind, blood and the nervous system. Man, young or old, who has/set business cares and worries, mental trouble, overwork and constant brain wear and tear, confinement or long hours in unhealthy offices, lack of exercise and the like ruin their previously good constitutions; or those who, through youthful abuses committed in ignorance or later excesses from unbridled passions, will find in No. 8 a true friend.

Facts for Men Who are Weak, Nervous and Debilitated.

Atrophical Consumption or General Debility

Is the result of defective nutrition, arising from depression of the nervous and muscular powers, but in the majority of cases it arises from self-abuse or the ERRORS of youth. The habit to which I allude is termed self-abuse; and why it is not more noticed by physicians as a powerful cause of bodily decay is a matter of much astonishment. It is far more common than some imagine. It is not confined to the youth of one sex only. It is not confined to the great and affluent of the world; it is common alike to rich and poor, to the young as well as those of RIPER YEARS. It is in vain that mock modesty attempts to throw a veil over THAT PRACTICE, which is the most dangerous because hidden in SECRECY, because medical men have not the courage to utter its very name. Thus is humanity betrayed, and thus are the health and happiness of thousands sacrificed to a FALSE DELICACY. The whole of this page would not suffice to tell the sad tale of sufferings entailed by this solitary vice. The following extracts will show the opinion of high authorities on this subject:

There is a vast deal of injury done to individual health by the abuses and excesses of the PRODUCTIVE FUNCTIONS. The primitive fathers and physicians have duly noticed the evils to which I allude. It is all very well TO DECLAIM AGAINST A NOTICE OF THEM, but justice, morality and the preservation of health, as well as the perpetuation of the human race, DEMAND IT. There are ignorant, intolerant bigots and fools who are unable to appreciate the importance of the subject. TISOT observes that THIS HABIT causes a decay of all the intellectual faculties; loss of memory; continual anguish; the bodily powers decay and the poor victim becomes afflicted with melancholy. Those who have given way to this deluding HABIT, STOP, before the whole frame is destroyed: it soon brings on all the infirmities of the most languishing OLD AGE and renders its victims indifferent to the amusements and duties of life. This habit deadens all the life and spirit of youth; its votary becomes like a faded rose; a tree blasted in its opening bloom; a wandering skeleton, nothing remaining but debility, LIVID PALENESS, a withered body and a mind overwhelmed with wretchedness. Nature becomes exhausted; it is the wreck of youth and hope and life, together blended in one awful destruction. Let not PRUDERY turn aside at these details, for it is often the good and INNOCENT who fall victims to these miseries. I have had access to various hospitals in FRANCE, where I have seen poor humanity in some of its most revolting forms. I could not behold without shuddering, on passing through the "Lazarus" ward of the great hospitals at Vienna and Paris, the utter wreck of folly's THOUGHTLESS victims. Let all young men avoid this vice of which I write as they would shun a nest of hornets. The effects of this habit are often unperceived or unnoticed BY THE PATIENT, and that for a considerable length of time, although its premonitory symptoms may often be seen by others for many months. In most cases the patients are PALE OF COMPLEXION, SLIGHTLY EMACIATED, SOMETIMES HAGGARD and SICKLY in APPEARANCE. Their manners are shy and nervous, and they often have an air of timidity. They are at once restless and listless, and do not exhibit that interest in life which characterizes those not laboring under disease. They also complain of LOSS OF MEMORY. This HABIT is one of the most powerful causes of nervous and muscular debility. Among its final effects are found—LASSITUDE, WEAKNESS, DIMINUTION OF SIGHT, IMPOTENCY, BARRENNESS, PALPITATION OF THE HEART, HYSTERIC feelings in females, trembling, melancholy, etc. The stomach is disordered and its muscular action is destroyed; disturbing dreams prevent sleep; the whole body is enfeebled, particularly about the LOINS; decay and emaciation succeed, and finally, palsies, lethargies and atrophy. The spinal marrow wastes away, the mind and intellect languish and the poor creature perishes a miserable VICTIM.

First Stage.

The brain and nervous system begin to feel the effect. Memory and application, good judgment, decision of character and clear-mindedness are not what they were. Headaches are common, bashfulness and trepidation, especially in the presence of ladies, is the rule. The person feels clumsy, embarrassed and ill at ease. Sleep is sometimes poor, being disturbed by horrid dreams. Drowsiness and a tired, languid feeling in the morning and a disinclination to rise and go to work are certain signs of approaching nervous exhaustion. The eyes are dull and heavy. The pupils are unequal; often large, sometimes one large, one small. The hands tremble at times, and the whole person is absent-minded, melancholy and fears the jests and ridicule of his associates. The skin, especially of the face, becomes coarse and red, and covered with blotches and pimples. Twitching of the muscles of the eyelids and face is generally present accompanied by creeping sensations up the spine, flushing of the face, slight chills, dizziness and black specks before the eyes on stooping, and occasionally there are neuralgic pains about the heart. If unchecked the above-named symptoms rapidly merge into those of the Second Stage.

Here all the symptoms of the first stage are usually present but intensified. Weakness is more pronounced and the nervous prostration more decided. There are flushings succeeded by chilliness, tendency to fever or sleep. Mental dulness, failing memory, lack of power of application, energy or concentration, restlessness, headaches, pimples on face, itching and peculiar sensations, torpid liver, failing light, pains in the head, chest and limbs, dizziness on stooping, specks before the eyes, melancholy, sometimes insanity, nunbness (sometimes symptoms of paralysis), twitching of muscles, ending sometimes in epilepsy or St. Vitus dance, troubled breathing, timidity, indecision, loss of will power, bashfulness, burning of the face with cold-ness of hands and feet, palpitation of the heart, despondency, fear of impending danger, tenderness of spine, dryness of skin, nervous tremblings, noises in the ear, weight on the brain, loss of muscles, enfeebled by slight exertions, sleep does not refresh. Features emaciated and haggard. The eyes are dead, sunken and lustreless, though there is a look of wild unsettled fire that denotes approaching insanity. The heart beats irregularly. There is shortness of breath. The brain becomes more sluggish day by day.

The Third Stage

is an aggravation of the two preceding ones. The mind is absorbed as much as it can be by the one idea of its wretched situation, and the sufferer is haunted by the thought that his condition and causes are known to the whole world, and that he is pitied or scorned by every person he meets. He is hypochondriac, and fearful suggestions of self-destruction ever and anon present themselves. The power of mental concentration is entirely gone, and the memory is so feeble that the patient continually forgets what he began to say. The dimness of vision is continual and so great as to be a material annoyance. The eyes are wandering or fixed on the ground, seldom venturing to meet the gaze of another. The ringing in the ears, pain in the head and over the eyes are almost perpetual and frequently accompanied by partial deafness. The heart is the seat of pain, fluttering and throbbing with violent and long-continued palpitation. His hands shake, limbs tremble, knees are weak, so much so that at times it is almost impossible to walk erect. He experiences an insatiable desire for sleep, and yet on retiring lies awake for hours tormented by his troubled reflections, and at last falls into an uneasy slumber of short duration, disturbed by wretched dreams. Hard red pimples appear on the face and forehead, scaly patches around the ears, nose and lips, a blotch or blush semi-circle shows itself under the eyes and there is a hollow mark from the inner corner of the eye in a slanting direction to the corner of the mouth. The skin is livid and clammy and digestion bad. It is hardly necessary to say that the functions of the nervous system are completely deranged, and that there are nervous twitchings of the eyelids, head and limbs. He is finally either hurried to a premature grave by consumption, epilepsy or apoplexy, or insanity taking the form of hopeless dementia removes him from his home to the insane asylum. It is safe to say that a large majority of cases of insanity are caused in this way. Many, owing to inexcusable neglect or false notions of delicacy, delay seeking proper medical relief till body and mind are irretrievably ruined. Pitiable is the condition of one who has reached this stage of the disease. In his system irritability has given way to torpor and sluggishness. He is on the brink of the grave or idiocy and insanity have him in their clutch. The tendency of nature is towards cure, but here it is towards deterioration. There is no chance here of the evil "wearing itself out." The only hope is in the salutary intervention of energetic, cautious and enlightened treatment.

Cure.

The cure of this habit if often tedious. The vital energies must be thoroughly restored before the accumulated matter can be eliminated from the system. The great object is to strengthen the nerve and muscular systems and to CHANGE the morbid fluid, by which means alone can the nervous irritability be subdued. All those then who in ADVANCED LIFE feel the consequences of YOUTHFUL excesses, or YOUTHS who are suffering under a numerous TRAIN OF EVILS produced from the baneful habit already noticed, must have recourse to M. V. Lubon's SPECIFIC, which will completely remove all the symptons attending these complaints. Through the action of this SPECIFIC MEDICINE the nerves and muscles will regain their healthful tone. Under all circumstances patients must totally abandon every destructive habit, also stimulating drinks and everything which tends to debilitate the body. In long standing cases the patient can only expect a cure by due regularity in taking LUBON'S SPECIFIC. By its use all the nervous sensations will gradually go off, and those who have GROWN OLD BEFORE THEIR TIME will be restored to second youth. When the eyesight has been weak, limbs feeble, memory impaired, and even the mind decayed with the body, a course of this medicine HAS RENEWED THE WHOLE CONSTITUTION.

M. V. Lubon's Specific

Adapted for the cure of that class of disorders attendant upon the low state of the system, such as "SEMINAL WEAKNESS" produced by youthful excesses. It is a fact that no law of nature can be abused without entailing a fearful penalty. A man who has been indiscreet in early years or a victim to youthful follies, after a time finds that he is timid, nervous and forgetful. He loses confidence in himself, has emissions and bad dreams, pains in the head, jumps and starts in his sleep, blood rushes to the head, spots fly before his eyes, the face has a white pasty look, dark circles under the eyes, etc. Hundreds of men whose health is not good, who have a constant tired feeling, but do NOT IMAGINE they have seminal weakness, would be surprised if they put some of their morning urine in a clear glass to see in a few days a WHITE DEPOSIT showing they are losing semen daily.

IMPOTENCY usually manifests itself in the following symptoms: Loss of sexual desire or power, natural desire but not sufficient power, wasting of the organs, fetid perspiration, itching and peculiar sensations of the scrotum, etc. No man who is affected with any form of sexual disease should even think of marriage until every trace of his weakness has disappeared. There are very few cases of seminal weakness or impotency but what may be easily cured by my Specific.

M. V. LUBON'S Specific is an honest medicine and will remove those morbid desires which if not cured will surely lead you to ruin. If you have giveup the habit, but STILL FEEL THE EFFECTS OF THE VICE, this grand remedy will soon restote you to MANLY VIGOR. It will restore the organs to their natural condition and also give health and strength to the whole body. As you value health try it. It will lift you from a state of physical and mental degradation to the happiness and joy of robust and vigorous manhood. I receive a great number of letters from those who have been cured, but never under any circumstances do I make the contents of these letters known. No publicity will be given to correspondence from those who confide in me.

P. S.—Medicine sent SEALED AND SECURE FROM OBSERVATION.

Self-preservation is nature's first law. Not inferior to this law is that for the perpetuation of the race. Health is the gauge by which the prosperity of the people is measured. Trace the history of nations you will find that much of the crime, degradation and vice, which was the cause of their overthrow, was due to the ABUSE of the REPRODUCTIVE ORGANS. When the body is enfeebled the mind becomes enervated. The perfect development of the physical organs is essential to man's happiness. Those persons who have great muscular vigor are endowed with intense passions and unless restrained are very likely to lead to secret VICE. Alcoholic stimulants excite the animal and debase the moral nature; thus I claim that drunkenness is a concomitant of sensuality. If, therefore, by education or association the passions of a child be excited he should be taught to avoid these social or solitary evils. Man is a social being. Boys are more liable to be morbidly excited when excluded from the society of girls—and "vice versa." The influence of one refines and ennobles the other. Let children be taught to understand THEIR NATURES, and knowing them they will learn self-government. If man becomes deprived of this wholesome association, he sinks into self-indulgence and the brutality of savage life.

Obscene literature is a powerful agent of evil. A child may be born vigorous and strong, manhood finds him debilitated—the direct result of youthful indiscretion IGNORANTLY committed; often the effects of pernicious literature which has inflamed the imagination destroyed his manhood. Such persons are entitled to our sympathy. I am unable to describe the miseries which arise from pollution of the body. This vice is fearfully practised by those ignorant of its dangerous results. It causes insanity. Parents, it is your duty to see that this vice of masturbation is not acquired by your boys; watch them and warn them of their danger and folly. Many youths regard this vice as a manly accomplishment. The vice may also be inherited from the parents. The practice of onanism squanders the vitality and wrecks the constitution. Expend the semen and the vital force is exhausted. We must get acquainted with our sins if we expect to correct them. In all ages man has been influenced by passions; temptation has been put into his victims. Our Saviour says to all who are weary of excess or bowed down by passion, "Come unto Me and I will give you rest." That is, if you will try to reform and employ the proper means to that end. THE INDICATIONS of this vice in boys are impatience, restlessness, pallor, loss of flesh, a downcast look, loss of memory, feeble intellect, depression of spirits; sensitiveness and nervousness are indications of the loss of nerve power caused by this secret vice or habit.

A Young Man,

Twenty-four years of age, wrote to me on May 1st, 1889, and said that his body had wasted away to a mere skeleton. He