

CHAPTER IV.

From St. George's Cross to the Stars and Stripes — Unpunctuality — Incompetence — A wretched night — Colonial curiosity — The fashions — A night in a buffalo robe — A stage journey — A queer character — Politics — Chemistry — Mathematics — Rotten bridges — A midnight arrival — Colonial ignorance — Yankee conceit — What ten-horse power chaps can do — The pestilence — The city on the rock — New Brunswick — Steamboat peculiarities — Going ahead in the eating line — A storm — Stepping ashore . . . Page 59

CHAPTER V.

First experiences of American freedom — The "striped pig" and "Dusty Ben" — A country mouse — What the cars are like — Beauties of New England — The land of apples — A Mammoth hotel — The rusty inkstand exiled — Eloquent eyes — Alone in a crowd 90

CHAPTER VI.

A suspected bill — A friend in need — All aboard for the Western cars — The wings of the wind — American politeness — A loquacious conductor — Three minutes for refreshments — A conversation on politics — A confession — The emigrant car — Beauties of the woods — A forest on fire — Dangers of the cars — The Queen City of the West 104

CHAPTER VII.

The Queen City continued — Its beauties — Its inhabitants, human and equine — An American church — Where chairs and bedsteads come from — Pigs and pork — A peep into Kentucky — Popular opinions respecting slavery — The curse of America 116