

THE WAR IN EGYPT

THE REBELS, in great force, have taken positions immediately threatening the Canal. The English Admiral has occupied the water-works. He will not allow any interference from De Lesseps. London, Aug. 13.—Whatever differences of opinion may be entertained about the justice or wisdom of the British Government's policy in Egypt it is admitted that its preparations for doing any fighting, which it may be called upon to do, by land or sea, are most complete and effective. It is not too much to say that everybody, friend or foe, at home or abroad, has been taken by surprise by the energy Mr. Gladstone's administration displayed in this matter; indeed, had there been the least reason to anticipate this some months ago, there would, in all human probability have been no Egyptian crisis. Mr. Gladstone seems fully resolved to prove to all Europe that it will not do to jump to the conclusion that England will not fight because Liberals are in power. He is certainly not taking half measures, but in "doing the business once for all." It is reported, and the news is entirely credible, that Mr. Gladstone interested himself in selecting some of the corps despatched to the East, and it was owing to his advice that the Horse and Foot Guard were sent to Egypt. He, perhaps, wishes to show those massive warriors that their presence in London is not so indispensable as they fondly fancied. For the first time within my recollection of London the sentinels posted before the Royal Palace and public offices are not in red coats. The 6th Rifles having been chosen to mount guard, many people take riflemen for volunteers, the uniforms being practically the same. All the Guards are now away on service, either in Ireland or in Egypt. All the military critics on the continent, who usually name England's army and military system but to blame them, express surprise and admiration at the ease and rapidity with which she placed a large army in the field, while at the same time leaving strong defences at home. It is decidedly a feather in the cap of Childers, whose system of army reform, which was much ridiculed by general public and treated with unconcealed prejudice by the mass of "old school" military men, has proved a success, though subjected to a severe test before it has been fairly carried out.

New York, Aug. 14.—The Herald's correspondent reports that the Sultan is saying:—"The difficulties arising out of the breach between Abdul and the Khedive might easily have been arranged had not the appearance of the fleets aroused native feeling and destroyed my plans for the reconciliation of the opposing factions." The Sultan considered the bombardment most cruel and unjust. He said the English say there is no justice among us. Yet let us look at Ireland. England's Irish subjects are simply demanding the right which here in Turkey is universally granted to the people. Such troubles as Irish agrarian riots will be impossible in Turkey. England boasts of her superior justice, yet we have what she does not grant her subjects, an equitable land law under which farmers and even farm laborers are protected in their rights. I am sure that when all the facts are known in America and other impartial countries the action of England will be condemned as arbitrary and unjust. If England's object is to protect her own interests in India she has taken a wrong course. She never will be allowed by the other Powers to occupy Egypt alone. The intention and desire of the Turkish Government has been to maintain the status quo in Egypt.

The following letter was addressed by Arabi Pacha to Mr. Gladstone a few days before the bombardment of Alexandria, but did not reach his hands until after that event:—"To the Right Hon. Mr. W. E. Gladstone, M. P. Sir,—Our Prophet in his Koran has commanded us not to seek war nor to begin it. He has commanded us, also, if it were waged against us, to resist, and not the penalty of being ourselves as unbelievers, to follow those who have assailed us with every weapon and without pity. Hence England may rest assured that the first gun she fires on Egypt will abolish the Egyptians from all treaties, contracts and conventions, that the control and debt will cease, that the property of Europeans will be confiscated, that the canals will be destroyed, the communications cut, and that use will be made of the religious sect of Mohammedans to preach a holy war in Syria, in Arabia, and in India Egypt is held by Mohammedans as the key of Mecca and Medina, and all are bound by their religious law to defend these holy places and the ways leading to them. Sermons on this subject have already been preached in the Mosques of Damouss, and an agreement has been come to with the religious leaders of every land throughout the (Mohammedan) world. I repeat it again and again that the first blow struck at Egypt by England or her allies will cause blood to flow through the breadth of Asia and of Africa, the responsibility of which will be on the head of England.

"The English Government has allowed itself to be deceived by its agents, who have cost their country its prestige in Egypt. England will be still worse advised if she attempts to regard what she has lost by the brute force of arms and bayonets. On the other hand there are more humane and friendly means to this end. Egypt is ready still, my desirous, to come to terms with England, to be fast friends with her, to protect her interests and keep her road to India, to be her ally. But she must keep within the limits of her jurisdiction. If, however, she prefer to remain deceived and to boast and threaten us with her fleets and her Indian troops, it is here to make the choice. Only let her not undertake, as she has done, the patriotism of the Egyptian people. Her representatives have not informed her of the change which has been wrought among us since the days of Ismail's tyranny. Nations in our modern age make sudden and gigantic strides in the path of progress. "England, in fine, may rest assured that we are determined to fight, to die martyrs for our country—as has been enjoined on us by our Prophet—or else to conquer and so live independently and happily. Happiness in either case is promised to us, and when a people is imbued with this belief their courage knows no bounds. "AHMED ARABI."

exists between the Porte and Lord Dufferin respecting the wording of the proclamation against Arabi. Lord Dufferin desires to speak in simple proclamation in Turkish and Arabic and Arabi is not Ocheri, but an ambitious, lawless adventurer. "England insists upon commanding the Turkish troops," Ocheri stated the question will be brought before the Conference. The trade of declaring Arabi a rebel and authorizing an Anglo-Turkish military convention has not yet been signed. Constantinople, Aug. 14.—Osman, ruler of Borneo, a States in Soudan, has sent an emissary to Constantinople with a declaration that he refuses to recognize the Sultan as Caliph, because of his proposal to send troops to fight against the Mohammedans under Arabi. It is said the declaration of Osman has raised a great deal of anxiety to the Porte. An emissary will return with secret instructions from the Porte. It is believed Osman's action will be limited by the warriors of nearly all other States along the Nile.

WARNINGS.—Lung disease and rheumatism are perhaps the most obdurate maladies with which medical skill does battle. The latter, if less dangerous, in the more inveterate stages of the two. Both make their approaches gradually and are heralded by symptoms which ought to warn the sufferer of the approach. As soon as a cold or the first rheumatic twinge is felt, they who can be advised for their own good will try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, which gives a quietus to both the complaints, even in advanced stages, but the early use of which inwardly and outwardly is especially to be recommended, as all diseases are most successfully combated in their infancy. Piles, neuralgia, stiffness of the joints, inflammation, hives, tumors, and the various diseases and injuries of the equine race and cattle are among the evils overcome by this leading remedy. Sold by medicine dealers everywhere. Prepared only by NORTHROP & LYMAN, Toronto, Ont.

The rise in St. Paul & Manitoba stock is now attributed to the manipulations of gentlemen connected with the Bank of Montreal with what truth we are unable to ascertain. Several blocks of Commerce are said to have been taken for investment the past two days. The street could spare considerable "Commerce."

This afternoon stocks closed steady to firm. The only change since noon were as follows:—Ontario rose 1/2; Toronto 1/2; Richelieu 1/2; City Passenger 1/2; St. Paul 3/4; Merchants fell 1/4. Montreal closed at 212 bid.
