

"Show me the man who cares no more for one place than another, and I will show you in that same person one who loves nothing but himself."—Southey.

"We have then found out other things for our guardians against which they must by all means watch. Of what sort are these? Riches, said I, and Poverty—the one engendering luxury, idleness, and a love of innovation; the other, illiberality and mischief, as well as a love of innovation."—Plato.