GOVERNED BY HIS MAJORITY OF 42 VOTES DOWN OPPOSITION'S DUNDONALD RESOLUTION SIR WILFRID BURIES REAL QUESTION

Tries to Impress on House that His Lordship's Mission Was to Subvert Constitutional Government.

Ottawa, June 24.—(Staff Special.)—The dismissal of Lord Dundonald and the attendant circumstances were debated with untiring energy in the House to-day. Sir Wilfrid Laurier took part in the discussion. He went further than either Sir Frederick Borden or Hon. Sydney Fisher in justifying the action of the government. His strictures on the official career of Lord Dundonald in Canada were very severe.

He argued at length and with the aid of ponderous authorities that Lord Dundonald had violated the principles of constitutional government, and that the government had no choice but to dismiss him. Sir Wilfrid was fairly successful in burying the real question at issue, the right of the minister of agriculture to make places in the militia the prize of political favorites. His whole cry was the alleged attempt of Lord Dundonald to run the militia department independent of the authority of the minister of militia or any other member of the government.

He seemed to be anxious to make the house believe that Lord Dundonald's special mission in Canada was to overthrow constitutional government and to establish a military despotism. The weakness of Sir Wilfrid's position was in his failure to admit the fact that no matter how important or orthodox Lord Dundonald may have been his conduct does not lessen the offence of Hon. Sydney Fisher.

Application too Late. Sir Wilfrid made out an argument which would have supplied justification for the dismissal of Lord Dundonald several months ago, but he has no sound reason why the G. O. C. should suffer for the sins of the minister of agriculture. The subject of the government's plan of defence has been to obscure the issue raised by Hon. Sydney Fisher, by whipping up the cry of Dundonald's aggressions in the militia department.

Sir Wilfrid made an elaborate statement explanatory of his use of the words "stranger" and "foreigner" in referring to Lord Dundonald. With the aid of the dictionary and some other standard works he acquitted himself of the charge of using offensive language. Col. Hughes made a strong speech for which he suffered the penalty of a slang-whanging speech from Ben Russell. Dr. Russell read a number of the letters written by Sir Wilfrid from the South African war, which he gave the generals abundant opportunity for side-splitting mirth, were not clearly related to the question before the House, and he gave any answer to the argument advanced by Sir Wilfrid.

Hansard, Russell. Rufus Pope went after the member for Hants with weapons similar to those which had been used against his warrior colleague in the House. T. Chase Casgrain, Jabel Robinson, Andy Ingram and Mr. Hackett of P. E. I. also took part in the discussion. The House divided at 1:15 a.m. on Mr. Borden's resolution passing censure on the minister of agriculture and regarding the loss of Lord Dundonald to the Canadian militia. The resolution was defeated on a vote of 42 to 34.

Fisher to Resign. Col. Hughes expressed some surprise at the conduct of the opposition in the Dundonald matter. Having been caught red handed in the crime of meddling with appointments in the militia, it might be thought that Hon. Sydney Fisher would have admitted the gravity of his offence and asked pardon of the house and the people; but no, the government saw it was a case of hanging together or hanging separately, so they stood together and apparently gloried in their conduct.

The use made of Lord Dundonald's report, or at least those portions of the report which it suited Sir Frederick Borden's purpose to use, could not, Col. Hughes declared, be defended on any grounds. He demanded that the whole report be made public. Lord Dundonald had not violated the principles of constitutional government, Col. Hughes declared.

Mr. Fisher, speaking with pomposity and vanity had interfered with the G. O. C., and for his interference he should be dismissed from the cabinet. If Sir Wilfrid Laurier refused to dismiss his erring minister then the government should take action in the direction.

Col. Hughes made the statement that the Dominion government paid for the cabling of order-in-council resolutions to the English newspapers. He said also that the British press teemed every day with being circulated in the Dominion. Did the prime minister know that what purported to be Canadian opinion was being circulated in the Dominion by English newspapers by officials employed by Canada in the high commissioner's office? Much of the "big wash" printed in the London Chronicle and London News Co. Hughes traced to the same source.

Col. Hughes said if he had been in Col. Smart's shoes, the minister of agriculture would have got out mighty quick. The colonel blamed Col. Smart severely for not cleaning the decks long ago and exposing the minister of agriculture. Col. Hughes said that the local D. O. C. was overlooked by Lord Dundonald in the organization of the 13th Scottish Brigade, was refused by Col. Hughes. He showed that there was not a single recommendation that did not pass through the hands of Col. Roy.

Col. Hughes disposed of the government's contention that Lord Dundonald, not knowing the eastern townships, was unable to select fit and proper persons for the new regiment. Lord Dundonald at Victoria, B. C., instructed him to pick the officers. He relied on Col. Smart and Col. Whitely, men of experience and judgment, who are the best men available in the district. They might not have known the heifers as intimately as the militia officers of Victoria, Col. Hughes admitted, but they knew the free men.

"DEIL" DUNDONALD.

Dundee he is mounted, he rides up the street,
The bells are rung backward, the drums they are beat,
But the Provost, douce man, said "just e'en let him be,
The toum is weel quit o' the deil o' Dundee."

Awa' to the hills, to the woods, to the rocks,
E'er I own a usurper, I'll crouch wi' the fox,
And tremble, false Whigs, the triumphant ye be,
You have not seen the last o' my bonnets and me.

ONTARIO MAY DEAL WITH BRITAIN IN MEDICAL DEGREE REGISTRATION

Colonial Opinion Asked by Home Government on an Important Proposal.

A bill has been introduced in the British House of Commons by a private member to enable the King to recognize any locally governed province, such as Ontario, as a separate British possession for the purposes of the Medical Act of 1903. The bill would enable the province to independently negotiate for reciprocity with Great Britain in the registration of medical degrees. This is one of the most important questions between Great Britain and the colonies, and it would appear that the home government are inclined to support the proposed bill if colonial opinion favors it.

HUGHES WAS WELL USED IN BYLAW CONSIDERATION

Board of Education Decide to Make Him Head of "Department of Inspection."

The consideration of the new set of by-laws for the board of education proved a long and tedious and bitterly-discussed proposition for the board last night at special meeting. A resolution of the board was not reached until 1 o'clock this morning. The duties to be allotted to Inspector Hughes were the chief source of discussion. Chairman Gooderham was successful in his working for a department of inspection, with Hughes as the chief, and evidently making a third man necessary.

MEANS JUSTICE FOR ONTARIO.

Dr. Emory, who is a member of the Ontario Medical College, and was president of that body two years ago, and consequently had devoted much attention to the matter, said: "I think it is a very good idea indeed. Ontario has for years ranked very high as regards the requirements of her curriculum and examinations, and the fact of the province not being recognized as a separate state in the matter of reciprocity with Great Britain in the registration of medical degrees, and any lowering of her standard would be regrettable."

WHY THE DELAY?

Among a score of leading physicians of the city several of whom were present at a meeting held for the purpose of the Ontario Medical Association in a central hall and also under special invitation of the Ontario Medical Association, Dr. Emory, M. L. A., on account of his official position as registrar of the medical council, did not care to speak for publication, and a few others were content with a general acquiescence to what has been already said.

WILL NOT GIVE PARK SITE FOR NEW C.T.R. STATION

Strong Feeling in Guelph Against Proposed Expropriation of Jubilee Park.

Guelph, June 24.—(Staff Special.)—A disturbing question in the Royal City now is: Shall the Grand Trunk be given permission to expropriate Jubilee Park for a new station? Upon this question the people are divided, but the opposition seems to outweigh that element in the community that favors giving the railway what it wants. City Solicitor Guthrie has secured an extension of time from the railway commission in which to prepare the case for the people against the big corporation. The railway commission visited Guelph on Thursday and looked over the grounds so as to be able to render an intelligent opinion on the merits of the case.

CASE WEAKENED.

While the opposition is determined to make a strong fight against the expropriation, its case has been greatly weakened by the action of the board of trade on Tuesday night. By a vote of 15 to 12 this body approved of the proposed expropriation. There were 40 at the meeting, and according to one of them the opposition arguments were applauded so generously that a number left the meeting in the mistaken belief that a resolution of the railway commission of the board to hand the property over for $5000 without going to arbitration would be allowed under. But the railway advocates remained and succeeded in passing the resolution. This was done by J. J. O'Brien, chairman of the railway committee. It set out that while it was their belief that the property was worth $15000, and while the present site was favored if large enough for the proposed station, it would be well to accept $5000 if the railway had to seek another site.

This seems like a humiliating position to take, in the opinion of many. Mr. Lyon asserted to-day that the board of trade would join the public in insisting on the present site if it is large enough, but the difficulty will be in showing that it is, since the main ground on which the railway applies for the park property is that it is not needed.

GIVEN FOR A MARKET.

Jubilee Park is a gore-shaped piece of property nine-tenths of an acre in extent lying just west of the present station. Along with the present station property, it forms a part of a strip given to the town for market purposes by the Canada Company. On July 9, 1829, the Canada Company obtained from King George III, a patent to 48,338 acres, comprising all the present City of Guelph and the adjoining township. In 1856 the Grand Trunk built here, and a portion of this property was decided to use it forever as a station.

The fact that the Canada Company gave the market grounds for park purposes is one of the strong arguments urged by the city against the expropriation. Can the railway commission override the condition upon which the grant was made?

NEW INSPECTOR APPOINTED.

Berlin, June 24.—(Special.)—At the county council to-day, upon the recommendation of School Inspector Pearce, the county was divided into two inspection districts and Fred Sheppard, teacher at the Berlin High School, is the new inspector.

FAIR AND VERY WARM.

(Meteorological Office, Toronto, June 24.—8 p.m.)—Fair weather has been almost general in Canada to-day, the exceptions being scattered showers in the Northwest Territories, the Lake Superior district and the southwest counties of Ontario. From Ontario to the Maritime Provinces it has been much warmer, except in the Gulf and the Gulf of St. Lawrence, where the winds have been of the sea. In Manitoba and the territories temperatures have been stationary or lower.
