NEW YORK MARKET SAW FLUCTUATIONS

Early Buyers Found Shares Soaring, But They Later Dropped

WAR NEWS RESPONSIBLE

Fact of Italy Entering War Had Big Influence on Stocks

NEW YORK.—Trading at the stock market at the week end was wholly influenced by character news regarding the European situation. Indications of the immediate entrance of Italy into the war brought urgent buying of war order stocks. Nearly all speculative interest was concentrated on those shares.

This buying was most important in crucible steel, which rose 4 3/8 points to 38 1/4, while gains of four points were made in Bethlehem Steel and Westinghouse. Substantial advances followed in Baldwin Locomotive, American Locomotive and Pressed Steel Car. Strength in these issues caused sympathetic advances in leading railroad stocks with Reading and Union Pacific moving up over one point, while Canadian Pacific advanced 1 1/2 to 160 1/2. Rock Island, which opened with loss of 7-8 at 18 1/4, moved up to above 20, but later lost the gain. Missouri Pacific opened down 3-4 followed by recovery of this loss.

War Order Stock. U.S. Steel, common, are now classed by the speculative element as being among war order stocks and the same buying movement which advanced Crucible Steel and Westinghouse were effective in forcing up the steel common from 53 3/4 to 55 1/4. Copper stocks were active and very strong, with Amalgamated advancing 1 point to 47 and American Smelting moving up 1 3/4 to 47 1/4.

The character of the market suddenly changed when the exchange on Rome strengthened following the publication of cables that the Austrian Government had submitted new propositions to Italy. These cables had a weakening effect on war stocks because fresh uncertainty was created. Reactions under two points quickly occurred on the active war stocks and during the last few minutes, materially reducing the advantage gained in the first hour.

JUST A FRAME OF BONES

Dr. Cassell's Tablets Cure When Cure Thought Hopeless.

A wasted wreck for eight years and weak as a baby.

Thought he was going into a rapid decline.

No treatment tried did any good.

New Health and Strength from DR. CASSELL'S TABLETS

"Had it not been for Dr. Cassell's Tablets I believe I should never have worked again; I hardly think I could have lived." These are the words of Mr. Ernest W. Barrett, of 32 Cecil road, Gloucester, England, a young man, now in the perfection of health and vigor. And he goes on: "The Tablets cured me of a long and serious illness when all methods had failed, and now I am as well and fit as anyone could wish to be."

"It is eight years since the trouble came on. I caught a cold, which turned to pleurisy and rheumatic fever, and for nine weeks I lay between life and death. When at length I could get down stairs, I was a wreck of my former self, wasted to a frame and weak as a baby. One day I was all drawn up, and if I tried to straighten myself the pain was intense. I used to hobble across the room, and my father to take me out just a little way, leaning on him all the time. But instead of getting better I got worse. I had the best advice, but all the medicine I took proved quite useless. It was thought I was going in a rapid decline, and that nothing could save me. I was just a frame of bones by this time, and I can't tell you how weak and miserable I felt."

"However, my father chanced to read about Dr. Cassell's Tablets, and got me some. I shall never cease to be grateful for the result. I began to mend almost at once. Slowly my strength returned. I brightened up, got an appetite, and it was just wonderful how I built up flesh. At the present time I am a little over the weight for my height, and in the very pink of condition. I have never had a day's illness since Dr. Cassell's Tablets cured me."

Now are good results like this wrought about? The explanation is this: Dr. Cassell's Tablets are composed of ingredients each one of which has definite restorative action on the nerve centres which control the various processes of life. As a result new vigor is put into the bodily organs, which that perfect efficiency which means health for the entire system.

WASTED TO A SHADOW through Stomach Disorder.

"I feel I could go out into the street and tell everybody I met about Dr. Cassell's Tablets," explains Mrs. Wood, of 22, The Green, Belgrave, Leicester, England. "I can wonder at her enthusiasm? Think of a mother who, believing her child doomed by chronic indigestion, finds a remedy which restores health and strength and complete."

Mrs. Wood continued: "To me it is a marvel that medicine could do as these tablets did act for my child was to all appearances beyond hope of recovery. The beginning of the trouble was an attack of measles who had a year ago. My other children right, but the complaint got over it all trouble, which no treatment could relieve. Poor child! He could do nothing at all on his stomach. We had tried, of course, and returned. Whatever we gave him water, but even that came back, and he paid that the strongest purgatives had to be used. He was wasted to a perfect shadow, and so feeble that I sometimes thought he was dead. It was one night while lying up with him that I read about Dr. Cassell's Tablets. Next day I got some, and the result was so good that I saw I had found a real remedy. Soon my child began to eat, and rapidly he grew well and strong. Now he is brimful of life and activity."

BRITAIN'S GREATEST REMEDY Popularity New World-Wide

FALL WHEAT CAME THRU WINTER WELL

Grain Crop Gives Promise of Unusually Good Yield This Year.

MAY CROP BULLETIN

Warm Weather Brought Growth Forward and Vegetation is Week Ahead.

The following information concerning agricultural conditions in this province is contained in a bulletin prepared by the Ontario Department of Agriculture, based upon information furnished by a large staff of correspondents under date of May 15.

Fall Wheat. This important grain crop, with its largely increased acreage, gives promise of an unusually good yield should fall and winter weather prove favorable. It was evidently not much injured by the "heaving" during the very open weather of March and April. In fact, spring wheat, as a rule, is reported to be in better condition than fall wheat. Injury from insects, also, has been slight, only the barest mention being made of the presence of the wire-worm, cut-worm, or Hessian fly. A few patches of fields in low lying places are reported, the opinion is very generally expressed that the crop never looked better at this time of the year. Some correspondents are inclined to fear that growth has been rather too rank.

Clover. Nearly all the injury to clover occurred from drought either last year or the season before, as the crop wintered well. While some spring heaving was reported, it was not so serious as usual, and the compensated for by a very early start. The crop is now looking unusually well, to the point of catch at sowing. Taking altogether the May reports regarding clover are the most cheerful for years.

Vegetation. Unusually warm weather in April brought growth forward with a bound, and correspondents writing about the middle of May reported vegetation as being a week or two in advance of the ordinary, although the cold dip then prevailing had halted advancement. Cattle had been on the grass in some localities for a fortnight, with good picking.

Spring Sowing. Reports regarding spring crops are almost an unbroken chorus of praise for the excellent condition of the soil at sowing, and the generally successful nature of the catch. Sowing was unusually early in some localities, and in some of the spring grains were sown in some localities as early as the 1st of May. More land than usual is reported to be in the hands of the farmer, especially, will experience a considerable increase in acreage, judging by expressed intentions. On the other hand, potatoes are the most cheerful for years.

GUNS PROMINENT IN PRESENT WAR

projectiles can be heard coming thru the air. With but little practice the coming in their direction are going to fall well to the right of them. The bullet, which is a projectile loaded with high explosive and a charge of cordite, is fired from a gun, and the explosion of the cordite propels it forward and over a considerable space to the front. It is intended primarily for use against men and horses.

In the beginning of the war the high explosive shell, which is simply a projectile filled with high explosive which bursts on contact with whatever it hits, was intended to break down trenches, walls, buildings, or whatever cover troops might get behind for protection.

It has been found to be so powerful, however, that the artillery is using more and more of it and less and less of the shrapnel.

Damage Purely Local. While these high explosive projectiles are very powerful, the damage they do does not extend far from the centre of their explosion. They cannot penetrate a really strong building, such as the City Hall at Arras, or the tower of the Cloth Hall at Arras. A case is known of a fourteen-inch mortar high explosive shell which burst in a field alongside of a small farm-house. The hole it made in the field was about eight feet in diameter and about eight feet in depth. The edge of this crater was not six feet from the wall of the farm house.

While the wall of the farm house was shattered with earth from top to bottom, no other damage was done. However, had the projectile hit the farm house it would practically have demolished it.

A favorite practice is to shell roads along which it is reasonable to suppose that men, food and ammunition must go to reach the trenches. The holes made in even a macadamized road, by shell fire vary from about two and one-half feet in diameter and one and one-half feet deep, to one ten or eleven feet in diameter and a fourteen-foot deep. In some cases engineer soldiers are kept fire in filling up the intervals of shell holes, and in some cases they are kept in filling up the intervals of shell holes, and in some cases they are kept in filling up the intervals of shell holes.

In some cases engineer soldiers are kept fire in filling up the intervals of shell holes, and in some cases they are kept in filling up the intervals of shell holes.

In a trench, as long as the men keep well down in it, they are quite safe from shrapnel fire. Even high explosive shells bursting just in front of or behind a trench do little or no harm. However, when one of them bursts in a trench or just on the edge of it a great deal of damage is done.

toes will be the one crop likely to have a reduced acreage, owing to the poor price realized for last year's crop.

Fodder Supplies. There will be a sufficient supply of grain, hay and other fodder to meet all demands. Up to that date practically no injury had been done by the light frosts since the surplus for market if the prices there pay better than feeding does. Of course there has been a pinch in some individual cases, but most Ontario farmers are now exporting wintering live stock. The matter of straw was felt in some localities, but the other fodders were well supplied. Peaches by the good corn supply. The early grass has been helping out the hay nicely.

Fruit. Correspondents making returns regarding fruit conditions up to May 15 report prospects as generally favorable. Peaches, cherries and plums had been in generous blossom, and in most instances had set safely, while apples and pears were coming into bloom, although not so profusely. ## Grow Corns If You Will But don't keep them

One can't deny avoid corns in these days of dainty shoes. But it's folly to keep them, pare them and doctor them.

A chemist has invented a way to tend corns quickly. It is known as Blue-jay. Attach it and the corn pain stops at once. Then a bit of wax—called B & B wax—loosens the corn very gently. In two days the whole corn disappears without any pain or soreness.

It seems magical. After a Blue-jay plaster is applied, the shoe can't hurt the corn. After 48 hours there is no corn to hurt.

Folks have proved this on some 70 million corns. They are removing in this way a million corns a month.

That's why corns are not so common as they used to be. Blue-jay plasters came—folks found them out—and half the corns that grow today are quickly ended by them.

WILLIAM MARCONI CALLED TO FIGHT

Inventor of the Wireless Returns to Italy for Military Service

RESERVE OFFICER

Part of Army to Help Allies Will Give Good Account

NEW YORK, May 22.—William Marconi, inventor of the wireless, called today on the steamer St. Paul in response to a summons from the king of Italy, to serve his term of military service in the Italian army. Mr. Marconi is a member of the Italian senate and an advisor of King Emmanuel. He is a reserve officer in the engineering corps. He said he expected to complete his term of service and return to America by next September, but would not venture a prophecy as to whether the war would end by that time.

"I suppose that I shall be called on for service," the inventor said. "It is fair to suppose that at least some portion of the Italian army will be despatched to the assistance of the allied forces operating against the Dardanelles, but I am speaking without any authority when I say this. Both the Italian army and navy are well equipped and I have no doubt they will give a good account of themselves."

KITCHENER WILL FIGHT TO FINISH

Refuses to Retire From War Office on Account of Criticism

GOVERNMENT SUPPORT

War Secretary is Fully Backed Up by Premier and Foreign Secretary

LONDON, May 22.—Lord Kitchener has refused to retire from the war secretaryship under fire. He has decided to fight his foe to a finish. His friends declared today that Kitchener had the full backing of Premier Asquith, Foreign Secretary Grey and Chancellor Lloyd George, the powerful "triumvirate" of the cabinet, and that they had endorsed his intention of staying in office.

Premier's Support. It was learned today that Kitchener's conference with the premier yesterday was due to the organized newspaper attacks launched against the war secretary. The premier told Kitchener that if he desired another post it would be given him, but that if he would retain the war portfolio he would be given the support of his colleagues.

Not Retiring. Kitchener is reported to have replied that at no time had he even considered retiring unless the premier had told him to do so.

Premier's Assurance. Today continued the make-up of the "new national cabinet" in the outbreak of a great political squabble are disappearing, and that the final cabinet details probably would be worked out harmoniously.
