

CANADIANS IN A FAR FLUNG BATTLE LINE

These photos came from six Canadians doing their bit in the wilds of British East Africa. The upper picture shows two of them guarding a recently arrested native spy, who has since been shot. The men, who are all members of the 26th Frontiersmen Battalion of the Royal Fusiliers, are Robert H. Rushion, Geo. Owens, of Alberta; C. E. McNally and J. Burkey, of Manitoba; E. B. McPherson of Saskatchewan, and H. Bright of Ontario. They are stationed in a wilderness of bush and sand, where comforts of all descriptions are few. They need mostly razors, a hair clipper, something to read and some writing materials.

SEVERAL SUCH INSTANCES

—Lack Neither Skill Nor Courage

London, Nov. 15.—(Correspondence Toronto News)—In the extracts from a Canadian Observer's Journal which a correspondent was fortunate enough to secure there were many memorable stories of the life of members of the Royal Flying Corps on the western front. To laymen, some of the battles against odds of four and five to one and some of the other thrilling incidents narrated, may have seemed to verge upon the romantic. They afforded the first real glimpse of war in the air. Since those extracts were published, there have been numerous incidents recorded of like adventures, but it is curious to read in today's Times of incidents which almost seem to duplicate Canadian Observer's experiences months before. By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cleveland, Ohio—"My left side pained me so for several years that I underwent an operation, but the first bottle I took of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound relieved me of the pains in my side and I continued its use until I became regular and free from pains. I had asked several doctors if there was anything I could take to help me and they said there was nothing that they knew of. I am thankful for such a good medicine and will always give it the highest praise."—Mrs. C. H. GRUFFITT, 7806 Madison Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

Hanover, Pa.—"I suffered from female trouble and the pains were so bad at times that I could not sit down. The doctor advised a severe operation but my husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I experienced great relief in a short time. Now I feel like a new person and can do a hard day's work and not mind it. What joy and happiness it is to be well once more. I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for the Compound."—Mrs. Ada Wilt, 190 Stock St., Hanover, Pa.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

"Unnamed Heroes of the Air," "Routine Deaths of Valor," "Some Typical Combats," The Times' special correspondent writes from British headquarters under the date of November 11:

In his last long despatch on the battle of Loos, Sir John French mentions that on one occasion a flying officer successfully beat off four enemy machines, and that on another occasion two officers engaged six hostile machines and disabled at least one of them. In the records, which I have been permitted to inspect, there are many counterparts to these feats of gallantry. Here is one striking example:

Five Took Turns at It.
An airman and observing officer when flying on October 28 at 10,000 feet in a Morane Parasol on escort duty to photographic reconnaissance noted an Aviatik 600 feet below them. As soon as they dived towards it and began to open fire the Aviatik turned towards its own lines.

The Morane was then attacked from the rear by two more Aviatiks, which both opened fire at 150 yards. Their fire was returned, and the two German machines then dived in opposite directions and made off. Meantime a fourth Aviatik opened fire on our airman from above and glided into the German lines with its propeller stopped. Finally, as our men were returning home, they met and chased a fifth Aviatik, which after about fifteen minutes was compelled to seek the safety of the German lines.

Another brilliant fight against odds occurred on November 4, when one of our machines engaged in a desperate observation flight was attacked by a large "pusher" machine and three tractor. The "pusher" after receiving one drum from our gun, flew off with two of its companions. Our men then maneuvered in their position, but the German machine followed, dived under the British, and succeeded in wounding one of
