Even Mr. Bryan would find it hard to remain neutral in our little police war! Talk of a uniform loaf of bread doesn't necessarily mean one with a wrapper on it.

The fare boxes in the "pay-as-you-enter" might be made with a larger opening, but think what fun you have shooting for the slot when there's a crowd getting in!

A Little Shell Game.

Announcement is made by the Standard that "local foundry will start making shells immediately." To really see how "immediately" it will be they should look up the files of the Times of a week or ten days ago.

Now that Mr. Horn has got a lawyer he's stopped his "tooting."

What a heap of abuse some people can let loose when they don't have to sign their names to a newspaper letter! It's refreshing to find a few who have the fairness to give their views over their own names.

The Dacia begins to sound like a false alarm.

One of the hardest blows the Germans have yet struck has been given by their brewers in raising the price of beer—but it is a blow beneath their own belts.

A post-impressionist artist in France has been excused from military duty because of mental deficiency. If he's one of those who have been making those futurist drawings, no one will question the statement.

There are many nice young women about town who are protesting against that 9:30 p. m. order ere the soldiers even more than the lads themselves.

Give Them More Rope.

Two citizens were discussing civic affairs the other day and one of them remarked: "The commissioners do not

St. John Lads Who Became Admirals of British Fleet

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 10.—Senator De Veber of Lethbridge, who is here for the session, sends confirmation of the report that Admiral Sturdee who sank the German squadron of the Falkland Islands, is a native of St. John and a schoolmate of his. In 1869 he states, four young residents of St. John left to join the imperial navy. One was Fred Sturdee, another was Fred Pike, cousin of the senator, and later an admiral, the third is now Admiral Sir Charles Drury and the fourth Ernie Simmonds now Rear Admiral at Malta.

"Sturdee," said the senator, "was a little fellow, when I left St. John to attend school. He was smart and stocky and a fighter. As near as I can remember, the boys all left about the same time to join the navy and they have all won for themselves positions of honor and trust."

Senator De Veber has possibly confused Admiral Sturdee with some one else, as the facts of the noted sailor commander's life do not agree with the statements made. Regarding the date 1869, Admiral Sturdee would then have been only ten years old, having been born in 1859. He was not a native of St. John but of England, though he had visited there frequently during his life. Admiral Drury has been dead for a year or more, but as regards the others, Admiral Pike and Rear Admiral Simmonds they are both former St. John lads.

Wm. D. Cummings' Letter Also Tells of His Chum, Shot at Salisbury Plain

Mrs. D. Cummings of 22 Forest street, has received with a letter from her son, William D. Cummings, who is with the D. A. C. at Salisbury Plains, or perhaps now in France, an excellent photograph of himself and his chum who was brought to London, but who was in St. John and went with the Canadian contingent. This chum unfortunately lost his life before reaching the front. It appears that an officer who had become insane at Salisbury Plain was using a revolver too freely and the young man received a wound from which he died.

A letter from William D. Cummings to his sister, dated January 24 at Salisbury Plains, tells that he was then suffering somewhat from the effects of inoculation. He tells of two sham battles in which the D. A. C. took part, and also adds that an unexpected snowstorm reminded them of St. John and gave them an opportunity to have a lively snow fight. The young man says he had the great honor to be shaken by the hand of the King and Queen and Lord Roberts. He asked to be remembered to the boys of the Old Every Day Club and to other friends in the city.

LETTERS FROM SOLDIERS

Mrs. J. Nottell has received letters from her son Driver Nottell, and her brother, Private Henry Briggs, who went over with the first contingent. Both wish to be remembered to their friends. Nottell's cousin, Michael J. O'Brien, of the A. M. C. writes from the front. The latter's brother, James O'Brien, is going to the front with the second contingent. Mrs. Nottell is anxious that English papers should copy the reference to Michael J. O'Brien as she has no word of his condition and is anxious to hear of him.

Mrs. John Earle of Douglas avenue has received an interesting letter from her son Ernest, who is with the first Canadian contingent. He was quartered at the Advance Medical Depot in Amorbury, Wilts, and wrote he was enjoying life there. He had been engaged for some time as chauffeur in connection with hospital duties, and with some six others was quartered in a private house, nicely furnished with all modern conveniences. It was a relief from Salisbury Plain which was most muddy and flooded with water in some cases.

The lawn in front of the house where he was staying was green, and he wrote "one of the boys mowed it today." The writer expected to visit London within a few days.

Mrs. George Bailey of 62 Kennedy street, has received an interesting letter from her son written from Salisbury Plain where he was located with the artillery. He wrote with thankfulness of the change from the tents to the comfortable homes in which they were billeted, remarking somewhat plaintively "It is nice to be clean again." The mud and rain was too much for many of the uniforms and a new issue was being made. Bailey describes some of the quaint village houses, some of them centuries old, "all with fireplaces and never a stove." He speaks of just having been inoculated again.

ST. JOHN MAN WRITES HOME OF WILD GERMAN STORIES

Attacks on Canadian seaports, invasions of Canada by German armies and similar yarns indicate the kind of war news which is being published in South America. Harold McLellan, formerly of this city, in a letter to a friend, received this morning, tells of the wild rumors which are being furnished by the newspapers in S. Paulo, Brazil, where he is located and which are given credence by the more ignorant classes. He remarks that the German banks are still open and doing business in spite of heavy runs on them. Mr. McLellan is connected with a realty development company in S. Paulo.

OPPORTUNITY'S KNOCK

When the national manufacturer advertises his product in this newspaper, opportunity knocks at the door of every retailer who carries the goods.

The manufacturer's advertising creates a definite demand. It inspires people with a desire to see the goods.

These people will be attracted to the store that shows them.

They will be customers not only for the manufacturer's goods, but also customers for the storekeeper's goods.

The modern storekeeper is alert to take advantage of the manufacturer's newspaper advertising.

In the slang of the day, "He boosts when opportunity knocks."

Government Meeting

A meeting of the provincial government has been called for Thursday morning here. The date for the opening of the session of the legislature will probably be announced.
