CHARGE WOMAN HEIR KILLED DENVER MAN

Sisters Accuse State Charity Worker of Poisoning J. S. Hoy.

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 8.—Henrietta White, the secretary of the State Commission for the Blind, one of the beneficiaries under the will of James S. Hoy, a Denver man who died on May 21, is accused of poisoning him.

The filing of the caveat action followed an announcement at the District Attorney's office last night that Frances McConnell, the City Toxicologist, had discovered the evidence of the poison known as strychnine or belladonna in the viscera of Mr. Hoy's body.

Declaring "certain circumstances bolster a theory of murder, but theory that would be hard to prove," A. L. Betke, Assistant District Attorney, announced that the State would endeavor to retain Earl A. Engle, Professor of Chemistry at the University of Denver, to make further examinations of the viscera to determine the amount of belladonna it may contain.

Efforts are now being directed toward learning where the belladonna was purchased and who bought it, Mr. Betke said. He added that the medical testimony at Tuesday's all-day examination of witnesses established that there was no need for the administering of belladonna to Mr. Hoy's case.

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 8.—The city council transportation committee last night refused to place the stamp of approval on plans recently submitted by Jas. A. Bower and H. D. Smith of the New York Trust Company for the construction of a $12,000,000 bridge to link Detroit and Windsor.

Wife Causes Arrest; Man Ends His Life

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Aug. 8.—"If you want to have me arrested again you'll have to dig my body out of the grave," was the substance of a note to his wife, penned by John Kristopal, 45, who was found asphyxiated by illuminating gas in his room on Feb. 16 last. Kristopal was arrested on a complaint by his wife.

When notified of his death, Kristopal's wife refused to have anything to do with the disposal of the body.

RULES PHONE TALK IS NOT EVIDENCE

Oklahoma Court Bars Wife's Words With Husband in Liquor Case.

While the premises of a person accused of violating the liquor laws in Oklahoma were searched by the authorities, his wife, in the presence of an officer, conversed over the telephone with a person supposed to be her husband. The officer testified as to what the woman said and it was admitted in evidence, but when the case went to the Court of Criminal Appeals, that tribunal ruled out this evidence and the opinion said:

"It certainly was not admissible as an act or declaration of a co-conspirator. The wife was not jointly charged with the commission of the offense, nor is there any evidence in the record of a conspiracy existing between husband and wife. . . . Neither was this evidence admissible as part of the res gestae.

That it was admissible as an act or declaration of a third person, made in defendant's presence and hearing, is more difficult of correct solution, but the court is firmly of opinion that such evidence was not admissible even on this ground. . . . While the statement of the wife in this instance was probably made in the hearing of defendant, can it be said to have been made in his presence within the meaning of the exception to the hearsay rule which means such a physical presence as affords the person intended to be charged by assent from silence an opportunity to deny the charge at the time. Here no such opportunity existed. . . ."

CHILDREN IMITATE VARIOUS NOISES

Doctor Says Healthy Baby Need Never Contract Crying Habit.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—Keep your child away from loud noises so that he is likely to imitate and it may never keep you awake by crying.

Doctor Eric Fritchard, medical director of the Infant's Hospital, Westminster, states that a healthy, well-managed baby need never contract the habit of crying at all.

His experience is that imitation plays an important role in the formation of habits and character of an infant. He had recently in the nursery training heard a child make a noise which was imitating the fop-horn which he had heard on board ship and hotel proprietors refused to keep him.

Another baby came under Doctor Fritchard's care because it made a noise like the whistle of a locomotive engine, a habit it had picked up from living near a railroad depot.

Car and Canadian Ale Seized in N. Y. State

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 8.—Policemen Dolan and Cragier seized a big automobile loaded with Canadian ale and treated two young men who were acting suspiciously around the car, which had been run into a local garage with a flat tire.

Twice they were called to the telephone and told that there were accidents in South Broadway. Then they were referred twice of $25 each if they would let the car out, instead they took the car to headquarters, where the cargo, valued at several thousand dollars, was unloaded. One of the two men said he had been sent to get the car by Mr. Douglas of the Bristol Garage in New York.

CAMPAGNS NEARING END

The four Opposition candidates in the city and Dr. Baxter and Mayor in the county will be elected. I base this confidence on the fact that a large number of former Government supporters have not only promised us their votes but are giving their services on election day. I have not been out around the province but I would judge from reports received at headquarters here that the Opposition party will be victorious."

L. P. D. TILLEY, K. C. "I have been through a great many campaigns but I can honestly say my forces never were better organized than in this one. It has been an inspiration to all of the candidates to have so many workers come forward and offer their services. I have seen all over the province an encouragement that will be returned by handsome majorities on Monday night and I am confident that the Opposition party will be victorious."

M. E. AGAR said that he had had a most unusual experience as a candidate, receiving such assurances of support that he felt that all the Opposition candidates in the city would be returned by a handsome majority. "The defeat of the Government," said Mr. Agar, "appears certain."

LEU COLONEL HARRISON: "The wave of popular sentiment is now so strong against the Government that I look for a majority of 5,000 in the city and the return of the Opposition party with at least 80 seats."

NOTED EXPERT HERE CHECKING UP MILK

Famous American Doctor Specially Examines Our Supply From Producers to Consumer—His Findings.

For a period of six days beginning July 31 and concluding Wednesday of this week, Dr. A. R. Ward of Detroit, one of the leading milk experts of the world and prominent in this connection throughout the United States, was in this city making an exhaustive investigation of the milk supply. In type-written report of 16 folios he thoroughly analyzes and explains his findings and comes to the general conclusion that Saint John has a protective milk supply of which any city might well be proud. He states it is one of the best on the continent and attributes the high standing to Government regulation.

FOUR CLASSES OF MILK. At the beginning of his enquiry Dr. Ward classified the milk in four divisions: (1) good milk, (2) milk of fair average quality, (3) bad milk, (4) very bad milk. His first exploration was on a milk train July 31 when samples were taken from 64 cans. He found about 80% good, 21% fair average, 2% bad and 14% very bad. The doctor claimed these were typical warm weather conditions, and second exploration of this test was made on the following day at a plant receiving train milk. Study of the whole day's supply was permitted with the following result—80% was good milk, 20% fair, 14% bad and none very bad. It was noted that 86% of the milk supply was from fair average to good and that only 17 per cent was classified as bad.

Dr. Ward claimed this was perhaps the most satisfactory test that had ever come to his notice in a wide experience and was illustrative of what could be accomplished by refusing to receive milk that failed to come up to satisfactory standard. In a test of county milk 98% graded from fair average to good, 7% was bad and 8% very bad. Dr. Ward claimed that in comparison to milk received by train the local county product was truly a flat shoe.

PASTEURIZING PLANTS. Dr. Ward states that one of the essentials to satisfactory milk supply concerns the facilities and methods employed in pasteurizing plants. He spent four days inspecting the plants which are pasteurizing the milk supply. At these plants the storage of raw milk at a proper temperature while awaiting pasteurization, the cleanliness and efficiency of the pasteurizing machinery itself, and the refrigeration of the bottled milk after pasteurization were carefully noted. He checked up some differences in conditions in the plants mentioned but found everything being carried out within the limit set by the regulation of the Department of Health.

TESTS OUR SUPPLY. Dr. Ward also visited 48 widely scattered grocery shops to examine milk vending conditions and found that in 25 shops milk was kept in iced refrigerators, in one shop the milk was not iced, in 15 shops there were no iced boxes, in 8 shops the milk was kept in a closet or on the counter and in 1 shop it was allowed to remain in its bottle crate. In the net 81 per cent of the shops visited icing regulations were being observed.

OTHER CITIES DOING IT. The fact that the milk supply of Saint John is pasteurized, with the exception of a small amount of certified milk, exceeds in importance all other facts regarding the quality of milk in relation to public health. Dr. Ward stoutly avers, Saint John is one of those Canadian cities like Toronto, Windsor, Hamilton, Ottawa and Saskatoon, where nearly all its milk is pasteurized. These cities have shown unflinchingly that the more advanced places adopt the measure. He says these objections usually come from people who have no training in health subjects. Pasteurization, developed in Europe as early as 1866, and was introduced into America in the early 80's. It has been subject to a persistent campaign of defamation from people interested commercially, and of recent years for political purposes. However, the scientific evidence is accepted as gospel truth illustrating the extraordinary susceptibility of the human mind to suggestion where food is concerned.
