Corrected by "Fruit-a-tives"

St. Martin's, N. B.
"For two years, I suffered tortures from Severe Dyspepsia. I had constant pains after eating; pains down the sides and back; and horrible bitter stuff often came up in my mouth.
I tried doctors, but they did not help me. But as soon as I started taking "Fruit-a-tives," I began to improve and this medicine, made of fruit juices, relieved me when everything else failed."

THE PRINCE IS IN MONTREAL TODAY

Montreal, Sept. 2.—With the church bells ringing and hundreds of factory whistles blowing, a special train with the Prince of Wales on board steamed into Windsor station this morning from Ottawa. The prince will pass a few hours in this city today before leaving on his western trip. Most of his time here will be spent in an automobile tour of the city and this will conclude on Mount Royal, where His Royal Highness will be entertained to lunch by the corporation.

The tour was broken for a few moments at the home of Mederic Martin, mayor of Montreal, where a little nephew of his was presented to the prince a bouquet of flowers from the school children of Montreal and at the Cartier Memorial to be unveiled by cable by the king on next Saturday, where His Royal Highness was given a reception in the streets through which the prince passed were crowded with people who gave him a cordial reception.

Near Vladosta, in Georgia, there is a lake three miles long and three-quarters of a mile wide, with an average depth of 12 feet of water, which disappears every three or four years and then comes back again. It disappears into natural subterranean passages, taking two or three weeks in the process and leaving a beautiful sandy basin. After a month or so the water begins to come back, and in a couple of weeks is in the same old lake.

A little while before his abdication King Ludwig of Bavaria presented to the wine museum at Speyer several bottles of wine dating from 1540, 1633 and 1682. The museum contains a bottle dating from the days of Rome, found in a Roman grave, believed to be the oldest bottle of wine in the world.

A Kansas man says he has produced a "bugless potato" by crossing the potato vine with a weed that the potato beetle doesn't like. The vines are changed somewhat, but the tubers remain the same as ever.

Two hundred and fifty miles of British War Medal Ribbon are to be issued to the men and women entitled to these decorations through recent edicts of the King.

WOULD REMOVE UNJUST SLUR OF CATTLE EMBARGO

Proposal to Give Canadian Cattle Clean Bill
TO HEAL ANCIENT SORE

Suggests Means Reconciling Justice to Canada With Domestic Policy of Great Britain

London, Sept. 1.—An agricultural correspondent, writing in the Morning Post on the subject of the Canadian cattle embargo, has this to say:—

The three most important questions raised by the controversy over Canadian cattle are these: Can we in justice to Canada exclude her stores from the ground of disease? If not, are we justified in excluding them as a matter of domestic policy? If so, can policy and justice be reconciled?

No country in the world can show a clearer record of health among its cattle than Canada. Continuously over a long period her cattle have been exceptionally free from disease. While Great Britain and Ireland, during the past twenty years, have suffered from several outbreaks of foot-and-mouth, Canada has suffered from none. It is, therefore, not unreasonable that she should be treated on an equal footing with the present exclusion is based. To the Dominion government it is an unjust "stigma," an underserved "blemish" on conditions of which they are legitimately proud. A home-grown example illustrates the grievance. A mother proud of the scrupulous cleanliness of her home, asks the master of an elementary school to admit her child. He refuses on the ground that he fears the introduction of ringworm. If, in fact, his child was already full, and the decision would be accepted. But the ground on which it is based is not rational. The practical grievance—always the hardest to bear—is a gratuitous exclusion. That is the position of Canada when her cattle are excluded on the ground of fear of infection.

It is true that the United States are not free from infectious disease, and that Canada's long frontier makes with that of Canada. An export trade in live cattle might encourage smuggling along the border. Against this risk the master of a planning guard himself in his careful statement in the House of Commons in the summer of 1917. He restricted his remarks to cattle "born and reared in Canada and leaving that country for the first time by direct shipment to a British port." So limited, we cannot, in justice into into him. The practical grievance—always the hardest to bear—is a
on the ground of fear of infection.

Of the other hand we are entirely justified in excluding Canadian stores as a matter of domestic policy. It was admitted by the Canadian representatives at the Imperial Conference in April, 1917, that the Mother Country is absolutely entitled to decide this question for herself.

During the war, had tonnage
