SHERLOCK HOLMES AGAIN ON THE WIRE

HE ANALYZES THE EVIDENCE TO DATE

Mr. Borden Has Distinctly Repudiated Anti-Asiatic Policy.

(From Wednesday's Daily.) Precisely at 21:45, sidereal time, the radiator erupted with a geyser-like hiss, deluging the psychological editor with liquid pellets of heated water. In spite of this sudden interruption to his highly scientific studies, he immediately coupled up his aereographic receiver and transcribed as follows:

"Great Scott! Watson, why do you persist in interrupting me during a most delicate and difficult calculation? Surely my monograph on 'The popping of corks' is vastly more important than a most vulgar forgery—the latter, is of interest merely to you earthworms; whereas, the former, is intensely interesting to the world of spirits. The very purpose for which I am coiled up in throb of a Mumm's selected brut-

At this point the needle on the receiver ceased to be violently agitated; instead, it antispeakh ject of 'Mr. Barnard's state of mind.' "You ask, will he resign or not? This question involves a very evenly bal-anced calculation and resolves itself into the determining factor: is there more of the man or the lawyer about Mr. Barnard? If the man ates he will say 'As a man of honor I must resign, for, my own supporters and the Colonist practically admit the forged telegram gained me my slender majority; if the lawyer predominates he will argue 'let the other fellow prove will it have on his future as a tician? Simply this, if he retain s seat it will be a stigma on his whole political career, for however innocent he may personally be, there is a very black stain on the validity of his hon erable election; if you read up the biography of any politician you will assuredly find: his actions during the earlier portions of his political career are determining factors in the judg-ment of his fellow men. Mr. Barnard can absolutely disassociate himself from contamination only by resigning. By the by, Watson, one advantage of the spiritual aeon in which I am now living is the facility with which I can communicate with the sub-con essence of the departed. Last night I vibrated an ethergram addressed to Will Shakespeare, Poet's Corner, Westsing ass: not New Westminster-You people in the old country are filling up with so much Canadian geography that you are forgetting your own-I mean Old Westminster, just across the way from the Acquarium—What is that Methodist Sanctuary. As the needle reached this point the radiator emitted a sigh of satisfaction
