

THE ANNUAL ADDRESS
OF THE
CONFERENCE
TO THE

MEMBERS OF THE CHURCHES UNDER ITS CARE.

VERY DEAR BRETHREN,

With renewed and undiminished pleasure, as the United Pastorate of the Church, we again address you on the occasion of our assembling together in Annual Conference. The relations between you, the members of the Church of the Lord Jesus Christ, and ourselves, are of the most spiritual, endearing, and important description. Upon the mutual confidence, sympathy, and co-operation of the ministry and membership of the Church depends much of its prosperity; and, we assure you, dear brethren, that, next to the smile and blessing of the great Head of the Church, we derive confidence and strength from the many evidences you have given that we have a place in your affections, an interest in your prayers, and that your hearts are fully enlisted in the awfully important and blessed work in which we are engaged. We again salute you as partakers with us of the precious faith which saves, and of the things which accompany salvation; and ever pray that you and your families may abound more and more in all the blessings of the Gospel, and that your influence and services may continually help forward the cause of true religion. May we all rejoice together in the day of the Lord Jesus!
