Miramichi- Advance. OHATHAM, N. B., - SEPTEMBER 22, 1898, - Espiny Forest. Mr. P. Anderson Graham, in Longman's Magazine, mentions the regretta-ble fact that all but the commonest wild flowers are disappearing from Epping forest. Not only do the urchins pluck them, but the venders who go about the suburbs offering roots and flowers for sale carry them off wholesale. The primrose has in this way been practically cleared out of the forest, so has the once common Solomon's seal, and the foxglove and others are very nearly extinct. If the anemones, blue-bells and violets still survive, it is only owing to the fact that they grow in such astonishing numbers that the arm-fuls carried away make no difference. The most obviously thriving and multiplying quadrupeds in the forest, Mr. Graham mentions, are the rabbit and the squirrel. Hares occasionally make their form in the heather or fern. The small carnivora are as plentiful as might be expected where vermin are protected as much as game. Stoats and weasels are the most common. So far the rarer marten and polecat have not been tempted back to their old haunts. Foxes are occasionally to be seen. Mr. Buxton introduced a few pairs of hadgers 10 or 12 years ago, and they have bred and prospered. Rats, mice, moles and "such small deer" have a happy time of it in the woods. Sabbath Worship of the Shakers.

"Sabbath worship is usually conducted at the public church, where visitors from the world are free to attend," writes Madeline S. Bridges of the Shakers of Mount Lebanon, N. Y., in The Ladies' Home Journal. "Four sisters and four brethren stand in the center of the room and form a double quartet. The Shaker dance, so miscalled, is in reality a more or less stately march, in which all the members join—the brethren in a procession, two by two, followed by the sisterhood in like order. They move in step to the hymns they are singing, either slowly or quickly, as the measure of the time demands. The ritual is of the simplest—testimony of faith fervently uttered by those who feel impelled to speak, a few earnest words of exhortation from the elders, the march and the singing of hymns. "Something curious in regard to these Shaker hymns is the fact that they are claimed to be largely inspirational—the music and words come together 'as gifts,' and frequently to those who are not musical. For instance, very often a tap will sound on the door of a musical sister and an unmusical sister will enter with the announcement, 'Sister, a song has just come to me. Can you take the words and note it for me?" Irish Relations A curious peculiarity of the Irish naure is the wide limits to which relationship is extended. "Do you know Pat Meehan?" a peasant was asked.

in the archives of the Spanish navy— the bills of payment of the crews who composed the caravels of Christopher Columbus. The sailors, according to their class, received from 10 to 12 francs a nonth, including their food. The captains of the three large caravels had each 80 francs a month. As for Columbus himself, who had the title of admiral, he was paid 1,600 francs a year. No Chance to Get Old.

The most important island in the Caary group is Tenerife, whose famous intain is known to navigators as one of the most imposing landmarks in the world. The mountain rises 12,182 feet above the sea, the peak having the form life in Tahiti. Now, did it or did it of a sugar loaf. Considering the fact that the island is itself a mountain, springing almost perpendicularly from the ocean, the bottom of which is six the ocean, the bottom of which is six miles below, Tenerife is the loftiest peak in the world. Beside it Mont Blane is a pygmy. Cotopaxi, Kinchinjunga and Mount Everest dwindle by the control of school activities of young people of which the enthusiastic teacher of science is not slow to avail himcomparison. While all the islands are volcanic and all contain evidences of very recent action, Tenerife is the only one which still continues in eruption.

The action of the most astonishing facts of the time is the ingenuity of boys in constructing electrical apparatus, with one which still continues in eruption.

The summit of the mountain is a circular wall, inclosing a crater a mile in diameter and over 100 feet in depth. From the offing, and even from the sea-shore, the sides of Tenerife seem as who last year was the despair of his norths and over that time un though carved by hand, but the im- teachers won deserved recognition in mense size of the mountain is in proportion to this crater, although it seems incredible to the looker on that at the mountain top there should be one of the largest craters in the world. The great crater of Tenerife has been quiescent ever since the island was rediscovered by Europeans early in the fifteenth century, but in scores of places on the mountain side there are smaller craters which continually emit sulphurous steams and gases and occasionally throw out small quantities of lava.

Russia.

The lack of machinelike discipline in the Russian soldiery is truly Asiatic, and so are the stagnation, patience, suffering and squalor of the people. In Russia they are drunken, instead of being gamblers and opium smokers as in China. The absence of a middle class and the gulf that takes its place are Asiatic conditions. In Russia no man except a member of the cabinet or a dipomat dares to discuss politics. In other Asiatic countries the people are not forbidden to discuss them, because they have never shown any inclination to do so. No more do the 119,000,000 muzhiks of Russia. Their intellectual activity never goes beyond the affairs of village, family, farm or employment. Their most active interest is in religion, but they make of that such a mere tissue of forms and mechanical or automatic practices that it is carried on without any more mental effort than the activity of a victim of St. Vitus'

Nature's Silver Works. The process by which nature forms such accumulations of silver is very It must be remembered that the earth's crust is full of water, which percolates everywhere through the rocks, making solutions of elements obtained from them. These chemical solutions take up small particles of the pre-cious metal which they find scattered here and there. Sometimes the solutions in question are hot, the water having got so far down as to be set boiling by the internal heat of the globe. Then they rush upward, picking up the bits of metal as they go. Naturally heat assists the performance of this operation. Now and then the streams thus formed, per-petually flowing hither and thither be-low ground, pass through the cracks or cavities in the rocks, where they deposit their loads of silver. This is kept up for a great length of time, perhaps thousands of years, until the fissures of the pocket are filled up. Crannies permeating the stony mass in "Why, he's a near relative of mine.

"When they arrived in France, after the publication of the book, their wives asked them very awkward questions, and they were kept in a stew for many months. The Milk In the Cocoanut, Every boy knows the three eyes to be found in one end of a cocoanut, and many a boy has bored these eyes out, or one or two of them, with the small blade of a pocketknife so as to get at the blade of a pocketknile so as to get at the milk in the cocoanut, which he has then drained out into a cup or drunk direct from the cocoanut itself. But there is a more fascinating way still of getting at the milk in the cocoanut.

By this other method the cocoanut is opened at the other end from the eyes. The cocoanut is struck all around gently and repeatedly with a hammer, or a stone will do, at a distance of about one-third of the way down from the top, about where the arctic circle would be on a globe.

A continual gentle tapping will finally crack the shell of the nut all around not in a line exactly on the circle per-haps, but pretty near to it. Morals and the Stage. Mr Albert Chevalier, the famous 'coster'' impersonator, was once the who had heard him sing his famous song, "My Old Dutch." The corre-spondent wrote that when he entered the theater that night he had intended o become divorced from his wife, owing to constant disagreements and trou-bles with her, but the song so affected him that he resolved to do nothing of the sort, but to make an effort toward a newer and better life. Mr. Chevalier stated that the note evidently came from an educated man, and he had every be-
