

PARLIAMENT.

Item for One Hundred Thousand Dollars for Increased Accommodation at St. John

Bill Providing Pensions for Permanent Canadian Forces Passed in Second Reading

Read in the House—Yukon Public Works Committee

OTTAWA, April 29.—Before going into a supplementary lengthy address was given by Mr. O'Brien on the needs of the Yukon for larger grants for public purposes, and legislation was passed for increased accommodation at St. John.

Mr. O'Brien, in behalf of the government, stated that the Japanese must be kept out of the Yukon. He said that the necessity of a good understanding between England and Japan prohibited any harsh measures towards people from that country.

Sir Wilfrid claimed that the construction of the Yukon railway would have solved many difficulties in the railway system which Col. Prior had advocated for British Columbia. He claimed that if this had been done it would have secured the great trade now carried over the American road.

Mr. Borden, Halifax, took exception to the remarks of the premier about the Yukon railway. He asked the premier why it was that so many liberals had worked to defeat it. He also desired to know why the government had not accepted offers to build the road for one-quarter of the amount demanded by Mackenzie and Mann, and again without any subsidy.

Sir Louis Davies characterized both propositions as false. The discussion revolved itself into consideration of the features of the Stikine route railway.

The railway estimates followed. After dinner Hon. Mr. Blair was closely questioned in regard to prices paid for land at Levis for increased accommodation.

An item of $100,000 for increased accommodation at St. John was discussed.

Mr. Haggart asked for all papers connected with the expenditure at that port since Blair was in office. The minister of railways explained that the grant was for the construction of an engine house on the Yukon at St. John. The building will cost $30,000 and the lot $20,000. The lot is six acres in extent. Attention was called to the fact that the Toronto foundry bought 30 acres partly in Toronto for the same purpose. O'Brien claimed that the price was far higher than that paid in Buffalo, where land was sold for $1,500 an acre. Blair was asked to state the uses to which the land was now put.

Ganong explained that the land was used for gardening. Blair contended that the land had not been bought yet, but O'Brien submitted that the grant was evidence that somebody would get $20,000.

Mr. Haggart claimed that Attorney General Pugsley was interested in the land at St. John, and he argued that the land would never see the exchequer corner.

Hon. Mr. Blair, while not denying that Pugsley was interested, lost his temper and accused Mr. Haggart of unseemly conduct in making insinuations about the conduct of the railway department. At least Mr. Blair, one of the money, and her husband took the bank.

It was also reported that Blair had $500 with him when he left Boston last week. His wife states that he raised it on his life in the bank, no other source could derive such a sum.

The statement is true, and he pawned the security for safety to furnish the funds for abandonment of them. Her need be stated to illustrate the case.

At her house of John's is facing the future making plans whereby she and her boy.

for $1,100 for goods shipped by Mr. Wilson was paid for next day. The evidence showed that the accounts were certified in the most reckless manner.

The senate committee on banking and commerce met this morning and reported the bill to increase the capital stock of the Bell Telephone Company. The company won out against all opposition and the amendment to compel fixed and uniform rates was defeated.

Haggart, in speaking of Hon. Mr. Blair's intention to hand to the government, had referred to the property at Levis, which had been offered to the government at $2.00 per square foot. Other lands in close proximity have been bought for 40 cents per foot.

The house here adjourned to enable the members to attend the funeral of Mr. Blair. The funeral will be held at St. John's on Monday.

OTTAWA, May 2.—In the house today Hon. Mr. Borden, minister of militia, introduced his resolution to provide for pensions for the permanent Canadian forces. He submitted that it was sound principle and the country at large would approve of it. There are peculiar reasons why pensions should be granted. Regular forces were important in as much as they were in training schools for the militia. Therefore the best men should be selected and this could only be done by providing for men in their old age. Northwest Mounted Police pensions had been in force for 23 years and had only resulted in a charge of $1,200 per annum to the country. It was necessary to increase the pay to great pensions, and the latter alternative was better. After twenty years service the men would have something to look forward to. Experience had shown that officers had received gratuities amounting to thousands of dollars, but their wives and children were left in their old age. Often they applied for positions worth a salary of $125 per day, and this was not creditable to the country. To substitute pensions for gratuities will cost no more, but will guard against such results. Wives and children will also be protected by this simple act of justice.

The act will not be retrospective, as men who have retired received gratuities. The minister announced that in a few cases of extreme hardship it was proposed to pass special legislation. Mr. Kaubach, while opposed to pensions on general principles, congratulated the minister on this measure. A bill embodying the above provisions passed its second reading.

A bill to amend the post office act was introduced. It provides for opening dead letter offices in St. John and other cities, to empower the government to renew mail contracts for periods of eight years instead of four, and to appoint train porters to assist the mail clerks. The bill was passed.

Mr. Louis Davies' bill respecting the safety of ships, and amendments by Senate, were submitted. One change provides that prohibition as to deckloads shall only apply to vessels sailing in winter to the United Kingdom. This will allow vessels to carry deckloads to Mediterranean ports, Cape Town and Australia, thus placing them on the same footing as vessels from United States ports. Another amendment governing the class of goods to constitute a deckload, and how they should be loaded, was proposed by Davies as unnecessary to provide for at present. Deckloads can only be carried three feet high.

Mr. Roche, Halifax, suggested that this clause should be based on a sliding scale, so as to enable vessels with well deck to increase their deckloads. In regard to vessels not affected by the bill, the third amendment secures to captains the right to use their own discretion in loading. The fourth amendment abolishes disabilities on a vessel carrying deckloads to the West Indies.

The bill was reported. Consideration of the railway estimates was resumed. An item of $2,000,000 for rolling stock was taken up. It is to provide for 1,470 box and flat cars, 11 refrigerator cars, 20 locomotives, first class dining and sleeping cars, and a coach for the royal party.

Mr. Borden again urged the necessity of faster freight connection between the maritime provinces and that within the next few days the bill will be introduced in the House.

SHOT HIMSELF.

Geo. R. Wilson, III and Weary of Life.

Put a Bullet Through His Head Wednesday Morning—A Pathetic Tragedy.

The residents of St. Andrews street and vicinity were much startled and shocked Wednesday morning to learn that George R. Wilson, well and favorably known to all, had killed himself.

Deceased was a son of the late Frank Wilson, who died of consumption about twenty-three years ago. He was in his twenty-fourth year and had been married only about a year and a half to Miss Annie Grant, of Tyngemont Creek, St. John County. Wilson has been in poor health for a number of years, a constant sufferer, and there is no doubt that every effort was made to do the deed.

He was a plumber and tinsmith by trade, and worked with his cousin, John E. Wilson, galvanized iron and stove dealer, on Sydney street. The last work he did was on some government buildings at McAdam. He had previously been unwell and while up there was forced to come home, where he remained until his health improved, going back afterwards to finish the job. Since then he has only done a few odd jobs, being unable to stand a whole day's work, and since last fall he could not attempt anything.

Mr. Wilson has been treated by Drs. Inches and Berryman for consumption, and his condition was improving and under their care he gave up hope of recovery. He lives in the upper flat of No. 23 St. Andrews street, a house belonging to a Mr. Magee, a well known property owner of this city, whose son is at present conducting a commission business in Westmorland County.

Wednesday morning, shortly before 7 o'clock, Mrs. Wilson came down stairs to attend to her household duties, leaving her husband in his room sleeping peacefully. A few seconds later, while Mrs. Wilson was at the foot of the stairs, Richard Evans, who lives in the flat below, heard three shots fired in quick succession. He at once rushed upstairs and found Wilson lying on the upper landing with his head hanging over the edge of the stairs.
