Call For Men

The call for men has been so persistently advocated that I am surprised whenever I come in contract with a young man fit, not in the ranks. What is their better self or are they traitors their better self or are they traitors and a man? I am here found the man is the same to the deeper feelings and higher influenced by the tariff the contract with a state—but to the deeper feelings and higher influenced by the tariff the contract with a state—but to the deeper feelings and higher influenced by the tariff the contract with a state—but to the deeper feelings and higher influenced by the tariff the contract with a state work as akeing every man to end one it all mean? "There is danger in going, there is also danger in all walks of life, and a great majority of those who go will come back, and those who come forward now and voluntarily place their lives in danger for the good of the Empire can feel certain that the country will not forget them. The appeal is to all men. Thank God this is not a religious war. For the first time men of all creeds and color are fighting side by side for the common good.
