

The Advance.

DOES not every person need the reading of a distinctively religious paper? We do not endeavour merely to send out a series of tracts, but to take up and treat every live question from the Christian point of view.

Our purpose is to meet the various wants of the family. Those who have long been subscribers are kind enough to say that few, if any, newspapers are on the whole so well adapted to this end. We do not propose to be of the "no opinion" sort. But if we differ from others at any time on subjects not involving good morals and the Christian faith, we are willing to present the other side by ably written contributed articles. We do not claim infallibility.

Why do so many Congregationalists and others, East and West, take the ADVANCE?

Answers: Some take it because of its fearless and outspoken position on subjects relating to governmental and national affairs; some because it is awake to all missionary interests; some because of its enterprise in gathering church news; some for its suggestive, terse, and practical Sunday-school lesson expositions; some for its outspoken advocacy of the cause of temperance; some for the soundness and vigor of its handling of all the religious discussions of the day; some for its Special Contributions from the best thinkers and writers of the country; some for the charm of its Children's Department; some for its stories; some for its innumerable hints and helps for the Christian life; some for other special reasons. Many also take it because it is the best family, religious, and literary newspaper they know of.

TERMS.—Three dollars a year in advance; to ministers, $2.20. But where pastors and people decide upon co-operation in order to put the ADVANCE, if possible, into every family, we make special terms.
