

Saints, if perchance some ritualistic minister—improperly calling himself priest—should make bold enough to hold service on a saint's day, so objectionable to Evangelicals. There is indeed much to be expunged from the Book of Common Prayer, so as to make that Church truly Protestant; as it stands now, it is neither cold nor warm!

TEA-MEETINGS, SOIREES, ETC.—The season or tea meetings and soirees in Protestant meeting houses is drawing to its close. But, nil desperandum! next in order will be strawberry and cherry festivals in the house of worship, with any amount of funny speeches and joke-cracking by soi-disant reverends, for the amusement of young and old—but mostly for the amusement of young, be they saints or sinners. We as Catholics look upon such uses of a Church as a profanity; but of course it is not so with our Protestant brethren, having nothing to remind them of God's peculiar presence in what they call their meeting house or tabernacle—nothing to distinguish it from any ordinary hall.

CIRCULAR LETTER OF HIS LORDSHIP THE BISHOP OF LONDON, TO THE CLERGY OF HIS DIOCESE.

REV. AND DEAR SIR,—We have the pleasure to announce officially to yourself and to the faithful committed to your care that in Apostolic Letters, dated Feb. 15th, A. D. 1879, our Holy Father Pope Leo XIII. has proclaimed a Jubilee for the Catholic world. This Jubilee was proclaimed in the Holy City on the approach of the first anniversary of his election to the Chair of St. Peter, with a view, doubtless, of commemorating that auspicious event, and of bringing down the abundant blessings of God on his Pontificate.

By the death of Pius IX. the Catholic world lost a Supreme Pontiff who was dearly loved for his great virtues, and endeared to the hearts of his children by his long, laborious life and unmerited sufferings; but Divine Providence, ever watchful of the interests of His Church, has provided in the person of Pope Leo XIII. a worthy successor of venerable Pius. The consummate prudence and far-seeing wisdom of our present illustrious Pope, his splendid abilities and eminent virtues will make his Pontificate memorable and glorious in the annals of the Church of God. We have reason to offer our heartfelt thanks to the Supreme Shepherd for having given to His Church such a ruler in such perilous times. Our Holy Father states in the following words his motives for proclaiming this Jubilee: "We feel how much Our infinity stands in need of an abundance of Divine graces to support Us in the arduous ministry which We sustain; the experience of every day shows Us how sad is the condition of the time in which We live, and to what tempests the Church is exposed in the present age, and We cannot but fear that greater evils are yet to come when We see the deterioration in the management of public affairs, the pernicious counsels of impious men, and the signs of heavenly wrath which has already fallen severely upon some."

He then goes on to state the special benefits to be derived from a Jubilee: "But inasmuch as the peculiar benefits of a Jubilee consists in this, that the stains of the soul are washed away, that works of penance and charity are performed, that the duty of prayer is more earnestly discharged, and as the sacrifices of justice and the prayers which are offered up by the united intention of the whole Church are so grateful to God and so fruitful that they appear to do violence to the Divine goodness, We must entertain a firm confidence that the Heavenly Father will regard the humility of His people, and, by modifying the evils which exist, grant the longed-for light and consolation and affliction. For it is, as was said by the same Leo the Great, our spiritual enemies are overcome by that correction of our faults which is due to the Divine grace, the strength of our corporal enemies also succumb, and they are overcome by our mendacity who were formidable to us not on account of their own merits, but of our faults. Therefore We earnestly exhort all the sons of the Catholic Church, and we beseech them in the Lord to join to Ours their prayers, their supplications, their works of Christian discipline and piety, and to zealously avail themselves, with the assistance of God, for the benefit of their own souls and the welfare of the Church, of the graces offered in the Jubilee in this time of heavenly mercies."

This Jubilee, proclaimed by the Vicar of Christ, is a call upon us all to cast off the works of darkness and to put on the armor of light, "to renounce the devil and his works and pomps," to mortify the flesh with its vices and consequences, and to consecrate ourselves anew to the work of our salvation and the service of our blessed Redeemer. The voice of the Sovereign Pontiff is the echo of that of Our Savior urging us to seek first the kingdom of God and His justice; to strive to enter in by the narrow gate and the straight way that leads to a life of unending happiness, to lay up to ourselves treasures in Heaven, where the rust and the moth cannot consume, nor thieves break in and steal. Let us exhort our beloved clergy and faithful people to sanctify themselves during this holy time, and to comply faithfully with the conditions of the Jubilee, so as to be partakers of its spiritual advantages, and to do all in their power to cause the love of God and Christian peace, fervor, and holiness of life, to flourish in every parish of the Diocese.

The Jubilee period extends from the first Sunday in Lent, which is the 2nd of March, to the first day of June, which will be Whitsunday, inclusively. The following are the conditions which are to be complied with in order to gain a Plenary Indulgence of the Jubilee: First. The faithful of this city of London shall visit devotionally, three times, St. Peter's Cathedral and St. Mary's Church. Outside of this city the faithful shall visit their parish churches six times. Secondly. During each of these visits the faithful are required to pray piously to God for some time for the prosperity and exaltation of the Catholic Church and of the Apostolic See, for the extinction of heresies and the conversion of all who are in error, for the concord of Christian princes, and for the intentions of his Holiness. Let any one should find it difficult to remember all these distinct intentions, it may be useful to remind your parishioners that it will suffice to offer their fervent prayers in general for all the intentions prescribed by the Holy Father on the occasion of the present Jubilee.

Thirdly. A truly pious Confession and a worthy reception of Holy Communion. For children who have not as yet been admitted to their First Communion, Confession will suffice. Fourthly. One day's fasting and abstinence, except the days not included in the Lenten Indulgence, or those that are otherwise consecrated to fasting by the precepts of the Church. In the case of children, the aged and infirm, this fast and abstinence may be commuted into some other pious work.

Fifthly. The faithful are required to give some alms to the poor or in aid of some pious work, as may be suggested by the piety of each. We earnestly request the pastors to collect these alms and to send them, on or before Whitsunday week, to Mount Hope Orphan Asylum, to aid in the liquidation of the heavy debt that presses on that institution.

Sixthly. The Paschal Confession and Communion will avail for this Indulgence. Seventhly. The religious communities of nuns, and the pupils who board in their institutions, may perform the prescribed visits in their respective chapels.

Eighthly. For those who are detained in prison, and also for the sick, the Confessors are empowered to commute the visits into other pious exercises, such as shall be deemed expedient and suitable to their circumstances.

Ninthly. The Plenary Indulgence of the Jubilee may be applied by way of suffrage for the souls of the faithful departed.

Tenthly. During the time of the Jubilee Confessors have power to absolve in all censures, and in cases reserved to the Ordinary or to the Holy See, and to commute and dispense in vows or other religious obligations in the manner and with the limitations set forth in the Apostolic Letters of his Holiness proclaiming the Jubilee.

We earnestly advise the pastors of missions to hold pious exercises for some days in their respective churches, with a view of affording their people every facility for approaching the Sacraments. We require of them to invite some of the neighboring clergy to assist them in administering the Holy Sacraments during these days of devotion, so as to afford the faithful committed to their care the most perfect freedom in approaching the sacred tribunal of Penance. The faithful are granted, by the present Apostolic Letters, the privilege to choose as a Confessor any approved priest. On the occasion of the aforesaid pious exercises, pastors are empowered to give Benediction of the most Holy Sacrament on each day.

The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ and the charity of God and the communication of the Holy Ghost be with you all. (2 Cor. xiii.)

This Circular, together with the Apostolic Letters of his Holiness, shall be read in all the Churches and Religious Communities of the Diocese on the first Sunday after its receipt.

Given at London, under our seal and signature, and the counter-signature of our Secretary, this 12th day of March, Anno Domini 1879.

Wishing you every blessing, I am, Rev. and Dear Sir,

Yours affectionately in Christ,

+JOHN, Bishop of London,

By order of his Lordship,

M. J. TIERNAN, Secretary.

NOTE.—As there have been some doubts expressed as to whether the fast and abstinence requisite for the Jubilee may be observed in Lent, we are authorized by His Lordship the Bishop to state that the aforesaid fast and abstinence may be observed in Lent in this diocese, except on Wednesdays and Fridays, and Ember and Holy Saturdays.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.

THE Subscription of Two Dollars for the year 1879 will not be received with thanks. A receipt for each payment will be sent immediately.

A few of our original subscribers have not yet conformed to the rule of paying in advance. They are earnestly requested to do so at once. Their delay has been a source of considerable loss, which, if they understood the circumstances, they would be sorry to inflict on this undertaking.

INGERSOLL.

Free Press Correspondence.

Ingersoll, March 25.—The wages of the lands in the two families of this town have been reduced. The proprietors of these two institutions have come to the conclusion, or rather, as some people believe, affect to conclude, that the naughty National Policy is forcing them, in order to prevent disaster, to make their men work for little pay. The result so far is that the men belonging to Brown & Co's foundry are not working today, and, I understand, do not intend to work again until some more satisfactory arrangements are made in their favor. Noxon's men are working, but they are very much dissatisfied with the reduction. Some of the men were anxious to stop working, this morning, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced some time ago, and now that they are still further reduced, it is not surprising to learn the discontent caused thereby. The wages have been none too great at any time in either of the manufacturing, and it is believed by the men that the employers can well afford to continue the old rate of pay. I don't pretend to say, not knowing that the reduction is unnecessary, but it appears to me that many unnecessary and wrong things will be done for a little time hereafter that will be laid to the National Policy instead of the right cause. It is a famous chance for political men of the "Reform" stripe, but as quite a number are working at piece-work and making good wages, they could not be induced to quit. Brown & Co's men have been noticeable on the streets today in considerable numbers, and the stoppage of work is the talk of the town. What will be done is not yet known. Some of the leading workmen advise a return to work, and accept the fairest terms to be had, while, as is always the case in crowds of this kind, others wish to stand out for the old pay. The wages of the men working at the Noxon Works were reduced