Your Consciousness

Business as you would your life, for everything in life must come through your consciousness. To realize anything opposed to your ideals, to the realization of your life, to obtain health, hold the health consciousness; if you want to hold the prosperity consciousness, the opulence consciousness, hold the consciousness of success; if you want success, hold the consciousness of success; if you want to be happy, hold the consciousness of happiness; if you want to be efficient, hold the consciousness of efficiency, of executive ability. In other words, whatever ideas you wish to realize, whatever qualities you wish to establish, to realize, whatever things in your life, hold the consciousness of these things in your life, hold the consciousness to all attainment. This is the only way to them. Your consciousness is the sum of all that you can be, or can achieve.—Success.

MONTREAL GIRL SAYS TANLAC IS SIMPLY WONDERFUL

Hasn't a Trace of Former Trouble Left and Feels Like a New Person.

"It was certainly a happy surprise to me when I saw Tanlac was restoring my health," said Miss Roy, 3 Hotel de Ville St., Montreal.
"For a year and a half, before I saw Tanlac, my health was simply ruined. I slept so fitfully I gained no rest and I woke up morning after morning tired out. My nervous system collapsed and I would jump at the noise. I frequently turned on the light and I could hardly stand the smell of food cooking. My conscience seemed to get worse constantly and I worried all the time."
"Well, the first thing Tanlac did for me was to give me a splendid night's sleep. Then all my troubles gradually disappeared, my nerves got back and I could enjoy a good night's sleep. My whole system is now in excellent condition and I'm enjoying the best of health. Tanlac is certainly a wonderful medicine."

Tanlac is sold by leading pharmacies everywhere.

move the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the "Cascarets" straighten you out by The mother, for instance, who herself to "fall asleep" she has does not sleep at all, warm is ready to call her.

Some people can "see" their minds to call them at a certain as surely as an alarm clock.

Safeguards Against Insomnia.
We have no reliable record as to the length of time a man can go without sleep at all. There are plenty of stories of centuries ago, when a favor-ate method of torture was to keep a prisoner awake till he died, but it is, of course, impossible to check any of the details.

We do know, however, that continued sleeplessness will bring on a sort of delirium. One experiment was made within the last few years. Some members of a university staff were kept awake for ninety hours. One quite unexpected result was that when they were allowed to go to sleep, they made a perfect recovery after only a quarter of the sleep they had lost.

That is, supposing that in an ordinary ninety-hour period they would have taken thirty hours' sleep, at the end of the exceptional strain they only required the usual eight hours—for all that they had lost—to bring them back to the normal.

Quite probably this ninety-hours was sitting on to something like the limit of absolute sleeplessness, often they have a night without a wink of sleep, it isn't true. They have very badly, and only for a minute or two at a time, but they have slept.

Probably the record for this sort of sleeplessness was that of a woman for two whole weeks.

Only
us at a time. As a e got into such a terrible time, day and
"awake sleep."

Insomnia in the Brain.
ne very common thing that starts nia is this: For some quite good n—loathsome or trouble or some-—you miss your right's sleep. tly you did sleep a little, but ell yourself you did not "sleep a e."

next night you begin thinking how dreadful it would be if you didn't sleep that night either—how wouldn't be able to do your work next day, and so forth.

If you remind yourself that, even though you are not actually asleep, you are getting as much good out of just lying in bed resting, and that it by accident. To dream the winner of a horse-race no more proves the prophetic value of your dream than the chance picking of a winner in your waking consciousness proves the prophetic value of your conscious thought.

It is merely a coincidence.

Nor is that horse's victory the origin of your dream beforehand. More likely the origin is a possibly unconscious wish that something like that might happen.

The meaning of a dream is seldom what it appears to be on the surface; the obvious interpretation is not often the correct one. And for that reason the attempt to interpret dreams by people other than those who have qualified by long and patient study on scientific lines is likely to result in nothing but ignorant and totally misleading guesswork.

NOTHING TO EQUAL BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Mrs. Alfred Naud, Natagan River, Que., writes:—"I do not think there is any other medicine to equal Baby's Own Tablets for little ones. I have used them for my baby and would use nothing else." What Mrs. Naud says thousands of other mothers say.
They have found by trial that these Tablets always do just what is claimed for them. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach and thus banish indigestion, constipation, colic, etc. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Women and Tree Planting.

The women of the Prairie Provinces have energetically taken up the subject of tree planting, which is one of the reasons for the steady development of this work. Aside from the cash returns which shelter-belts give on prairie farms they add much to the appearance and comfort of the home and this side appeals especially to the home-makers.

There are still 20,000,000 square miles of the earth's surface that have not been explored.

BITS OF
HUMOR
FROM HERE & THERE

Kind of Kind.
Old Scot—"Dinna cry, ma wee laddie. If ye dinna find yer penny afore dark here's a match."

Embarrassing Moment.
Podger (to new acquaintance)—I wonder if that fat old girl is really trying to flirt with me?
Cooler—"I can easily find out by asking her. She is my wife."

The Other Way.
The teacher had been talking about a hen sitting on eggs and, with the incubator in mind, asked if eggs could be hatched in any other way.
"Yes, sir," said an experienced person of nine. "Put 'em under a duck."

Quite True.
"Dolly," said her father, "your young man stays until a very late hour. Has not your mother said something to you about his habit?"
"Yes, father," replied Dolly, sweetly.
"Mother says men haven't altered a bit."

Exciting.
Betsey's grandmother had been reading to her the Bible story of the Creation. When asked by her mother how she liked the Bible so far, she exclaimed:
"O mother, I love it. It is so exciting.
You never know what God is going to do next."

Playful Firemen.
"These firemen must be a frivolous set," said Mrs. Dumpling.
"Why?" asked her husband.
"I read in the paper that after the fire was under control the firemen played all night on the ruins. Why didn't they go to bed like sensible men, instead of romping about like children?"

Retort Courteous.
Counsel for the prosecution had been bullying the witness for an hour, when he asked, finally:
"Is it true that there are traces of insanity in your family?"
"Very likely," answered the witness.
My grandfather, who was studying for the ministry gave it up to become a barrister."

Unpropitious Setting.
"Hum," said the magazine editor,
"this is going a bit too far."
"What's the trouble?"
"A chap who says he has received fifty rejection slips from me in the last twelve months states in this note that he'd like to meet me."
"Well, you might grant the poor devil an interview."

Poor Bride.
At the wedding breakfast the bridegroom, an exceedingly bashful young man, was called upon to speak.
Blushing to the roots of his hair, he rose, intending to say that he was no speechmaker. But unfortunately, he placed his hand on the bride's shoulder and stammered these opening (and closing) words:
"This—er—this thing has been thrust upon me—"

Clever Willie.
The teacher's patience was almost exhausted.
"Willie," she said, angrily, to a small boy at the foot of the class, "have I not said you before that you cannot take mules from oranges, or dogs from Fireside Joys.

ters fast,
Let fall the curtain, wheel the sofa round,
And while the bubbling and loud-hissing urns Throws up a steamy column and the cups
That cheer but not inebriate wait on each,
So let us welcome peaceful evening in.
O winter, ruler of the inverted year, I love thee, all unlovely as thou seemest.

I crown thee King of intimate delights, Fireside enjoyments, homeborn happiness,
And all the comforts that the lowly roof Of undisturbed retirement, and the hours
Of long uninterrupted evening know.
How calm is my recess, and how the frost Raging abroad, and the rough wind, endear
The silence and the warmth enjoyed within!

Mother! Move Child's Bowels With California Fig Syrup

Hurry mother! Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful to-day may prevent a sick child to-morrow. If constipated, bilious, feverish, fretful, if cold, colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good cleansing of the little bowels is often all that is necessary.
Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Feigns Death.

The death-feigning instinct is largely developed in some birds. The corncrake, for instance, has often been put in a sportsman's pocket, apparently quite dead, and, when his chance came has got out and escaped.

Surnames and Their Origin

LIVINGSTONE
Variations—Livingston.
Racial Origin—English.
Source—A place name.

Here is a family name which is likely to throw you off the track, first by its final "e," and secondly by the element "living."
It could be explained at the outset that the final "e" does not belong in the name, except as it has been sanctioned by long usage, for the original name was "ton," "don" or "tun," and which in those days signified a fortified place. The evolution of the name from "ton" to "town" is a natural process, for the towns of the towns of early days were, of course, fortified. In fact, it is the necessity for mutual defense that first drew men together in small fortified places.
The family name, therefore, belongs to those of those which have been upon place names, indicating the place or former home of the ancestors of them.

Livingstone, or Livingston, is a Scottish name. The name of the Scottish name of the place name was "Livingston" or "Livingston," made from the ending already referred to the given name of the founder chief, under whose leadership the town was built. This chieftain, "Livingston," lived about the year 1124.

BALDWIN
Racial Origin—English.
Source—A given name.

If you're given to poetic flights of fancy you may find much symbolism in the fact that it is the family name of Baldwin which the locomotive has made famous from one end of the world to the other, provided, of course, you know what the name of Baldwin means.

It means "swift conqueror."
It was, of course, in the first place, a given name. It was of Teutonic origin, and was brought into England by the Norman conquerors, who were Teutonic in blood and who, for the most part, retained their Teutonic nomenclature even after they had adopted their own language the Celtic-influenced Latin spoken by the natives of Northern France in the days when they first settled in Normandy; which was, roughly, the same period in which the Saxons of England at the time when the Normans arrived there.

"Bald-win" is a simple combination of ancient Teutonic words which are to be traced in so many of our given names to-day. "Bald" meant "swift" or "speedy" and "win" meant "conqueror." Our own modern word "winner" and the verb "to win" come from the same root.
