With the City Police

Juvenile Court occupied much of Magistrate Livingston's attention this morning, a couple of unruly youngsters being up on the carpet before him.

In the police court, the docket was a light one and a number of minor cases were dealt with in a hurry.

"If this man doesn't appear I will issue a warrant for him," said the Magistrate when the case of Edward Roberts, charged with neglecting to have sewer connection with a number of houses under his control, was called and the plaintiff was absent. Sanitary Inspector Glover stated that work had been started at some of the houses, but at others nothing had been done. The case was adjourned.

The case of Thornton's Limited, charged with a breach of the health by-law was again adjourned.

Ancient History.

"You are going into ancient history" said Magistrate Livingston, when the case of A. Holt, charged with breaches of the building by-law, as far back as April, 1909 was called. Holt faced two charges, one of failing to erect building according to permit and another of erecting a building without a permit. The buildings complained of are on Gilkinson St, and according to Building Inspector Bennett, they art a disgrace to the city.

Magistrate Livingston wanted to know more about the buildings and how the permits were obtained, and he adjourned the case for one week with instructions to Mr. Bennett to look more fully into the case, and have the City Solicitor present to prosecute.

Not Crazy Now.

Norman Stewart, charged with being insane, who yesterday made charges of drugging against the police, said he felt better this morning. Drink, he believed, was responsible for what he told the Magistrate yesterday.

The accused appeared to be quite sane this morning and enjoyed a hearty laugh when the magistrate told him what he had to say in yesterday's court about the police.

"O, that was not so," remarked Stewart, and His Worship told him he could go.

After fifty years in the State prison at Hartford, Conn., Charles Gilbert of New Britain died last Tuesday, protesting that he was innocent, that his father was guilty of the murder of Henry Caldwell, recruiting officer and civil war bounty agent, in 1864. His father died several years ago and is alleged to have confessed the crime to another son.

CHINA PAINTING CLASSES LATEST

Technical Advisory Board Held Meeting Last Night.

The question of whether or not it would be wise to inaugurate classes in china painting in connection with the night course at the Collegiate Institute, was the chief item of business before the Technical board at the regular meeting last evening, and the session proved to be a decidedly busy one. The question was introduced by the application of Miss Watson for the position of teacher of such a class, her remuneration to be $5 per night.

The opinion of the board seemed to be that a class of this kind should be self-sustaining. Mr. J. C. Coles pointed to the fact that china painting was more of a hobby than anything else, while the present work of the board was practical and counted upon t ohelp the men and the women who attended the classes to improve their station in life and make a better living in future. For this reason, he thought that those who wanted to take up china painting should pay some additional fee to assist in defraying the expenses of such a class.

Other members of the board also expressed the opinion that a fee should be charged, but Mr. Clement said that he understood that the night course was to be a free one, and and for that reason he did not like to see a fee charged. He agreed with other members that china painting was simply a fad taken up by some people, and his opinion was that not one out of ten would follow it up with the idea of making a living out of it.

"I appreciate the art," said Mr. Clement, "but I think we could spend our time and money to more advantage."

Mr. Coles said that his second thought was that the board should consider all classes of people in the community regarding this question, because they were all paying towards the upkeep of the institution. He still held the opinion that the class should be self-sustaining, however.

Mr. Clement raised the question of the teacher. There were a number of teachers right in Brantford that he thought were just as good as Miss Watson. He could not see why the board should go outside for one.

None of the members appeared to know who Miss Watson was, but it was stated that she had been holding classes here for years.

It was finally decided that the board should advertise that classes will be held, if a sufficient number of students wish to attend, and it will depend largely upon the number sending in applications whether the scheme will be proceeded with or not. Twenty-five cents per lesson will be charged.

The question of a raise in salary for caretaker Liddler of the Collegiate who asks for $2 per night during the night class season, instead of $1.50, which was paid last season, was left over until another meeting, when more members would be present. Mr. Liddler claimed that he had three more rooms this year than last, and in addition he had to look after both upstairs and down. During the winter it kept him busy shoveling in coal to heat the place, and in muddy and wet weather his work was increased considerably.

Principal Burt reported that he was still busy at the work or organization but he expected to have a complete report to make next week. The number of pupils in attendance at the night classes this year compared very favorably with the number last year, but the students seamed to be taking their work more seriously and a greater number, he thought, would continue the course until the end of the season than was the case last year.

Those present at the meeting were Messrs Lahey, Hart, Adams, Clement, Ryerson, Palmer, Coles and Burt.

SPLENDID LECTURE BY REV. M'PHERSON

Lecturer at Park Baptist Church is Well Worth Listening to.

Last night, notwithstanding all the attractions in town, a fair audience greeted the Rev. Chalmers McPherson, who lectured upon the subject "The Humiliation and Glorification of the Son of God. We cannot do justice to his lecture in an ordinary report, because of the lack of space, and Chalmers McPherson must be heard by the people of Brantford to be appreciated. This, Tuesday, evening he lectures on "The Holy Spirit, The Christian's Constant Companion," and to-morrow, Wednesday, evening closes the series "From Dust to Glory." These lectures should be attended by all Christian people, and are exceedingly educating to all classes of people. Every student should listen to these lectures. Collection is taken up to defray expenses. Park Church hopes to see a large gathering this evening and to-morrow evening, to hear the Rev. Chalmers McPherson.

Quebec citizens will banquet Premier Borden on October 22.

THE FEDERALS KILL WOUNDED

Conditions Are Far From Good is Mexico as Yet.

[Canadian Press Despatch]

VERA CRUZ, Oct. 7—A report on affairs at the capital brought by Nelson O'Shaughnessy, charge d'affaires at the United States embassy in Mexico City, was laid before John Lind, the personal representative of President Wilson in an overnight conference. It was said that he brought no roseate picture of conditions at the capital, but reported assurances from the national palace that fair elections would be held and early pacification of the country accomplished.

A number of mining men who arrived here to-day from the State of Durango, assert that the Federal troops there have been acting with far more inhumanity than the rebels. They say that in pursuance of their instructions the federal soldiers kill all wounded rebels and that one man was dragged from the hospital immediately after one of his legs had been amputated and was placed before a firing squad and executed.

Speedy Trial For Murder

Henry Spencer Believed to Have Queer Disease of Brain.

[Canadian Press Despatch]

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—A speedy trial for the murder of Mrs. Mildred Allison Rexroat on December 25, was to-day promised Henry Spencer, whose confession of twenty murders, woven by an opium-clouded brain, dumbfounded the police. The authorities will continue to investigate his fantastic stories in the hope of establishing further facts. His admission of the Rexroat crime is substantiated by evidence. He is known to have committed many of the large number of burglaries he has confessed, and there is a possibility that he may have slain Mrs Annabel White last December. She was beaten to death with a hammer by a man who had rented a room and robbed

The remainder of Spencer's 20 "murders" are believed to be the dreams of a man obsessed by that form of insanity known as "stir simple," a delusion described as penitentiary insanity.
