GOLDWIN SMITH'S VIEW.

In the By-stander papers in the Weekly Sun we find Goldwin Smith's opinion of the modern tendency of the pulpit to criticize Bible stories from the standpoint of modern science. This is it:

"Recent deliverances of our theological guides have been liberal in their tenor, apparently preferring Christian morality to ecclesiastical dogma as the foundation and the life of the church. There is a marked disposition to resign belief in the literal truth of the early chapters of Genesis, classing them with the cosmogonies of other nations, while asserting their superiority, about which there can be no doubt. The fall consequences of this concession to science and criticism are perhaps not clearly seen. Christianity as it came from the lips of its Founder was a moral, not a dogmatic, revelation. Each is eminently the character of this great manifesto, the Sermon on the Mount. Nor is there anything dogmatic, though there are forms of expression out of which dogma has been coined, in the epistles of St. Paul; passionate love of the character of the Founder and of the new morality preached by him are the pervading strain. It was in the Alexandrian school of Greek metaphysics that dogma, dogmatic controversy, and dogmatic decisions of ecclesiastical councils had their source. Then came the state in the form of imperial despotism, usurping control over religious belief, making orthodoxy loyalty and heresy treason, thus paving the way for dogmatic persecution, the Inquisition, and religious wars. The Reformation, while it cast off Rome and the Inquisition, did not emancipate Christianity from dogma. It left the churches divided, and they are to this hour, on dogmatic issues. In giving up the dogmatic basis and reverting to that of morality, the churches may find the way to reunion as well as to a renewal of life."

A CORRECT JUDGMENT.

The acquittal of Mrs. Kyle, after a trial, on a charge of murdering David Magee in Ingersoll last July will, we believe, be approved by a large majority of the people. Judge McMahon and the jury have made it plain that the sanctity of the home must be maintained. The case will serve as a deterrent to dissolute and desperate characters, of whom there are too many, who presume that a certain amount of freedom gives them a license to conduct themselves as they please in a home that they have once invaded. Magee, on the sworn testimony, had a bad record, and was a worthless, vicious fellow. The world is none the worse for his taking off. The taking of life is always deplorable, and nothing should be done to palliate or encourage it; yet at times it is justifiable. This appears to have been one of those times. The man was ordered away from the house, and when the revolver was shown, he turned, however, according to Mrs. Kyle's evidence, and was advancing towards her in a menacing manner when the fatal shot was fired.

Attempts to besmirch Mrs. Kyle's character were made by the prosecution, but whether the woman had made mistakes in life or not was held by the judge, and rightly, we believe, to have no bearing. In this instance she was defending her home and her honor, and no matter what her past, she showed a desire to live a life of rectitude. The world is particularly cruel toward a woman who falls, while the man responsible for, or a partner with her, in the wrong-doing, goes scot free in too many cases. Society will receive him; the church will receive him; but the woman is ostracized, and if received into the church as a penitent, is always under condemnation, and treated disdainfully.

Judge McMahon took the view that the woman was justified in shooting, and maintained that the evidence did not show that at any time she had been unfaithful to her husband. His ground was well taken and his judgment correct.

MOST VALUABLE RING EX A T

plain gold ring, with a cameo setting, which for hundreds of years was believed to be the wedding ring of the Virgin Mary and St. Joseph, and in 1486 Pope Innocent VIII. officially recognized its authenticity. It is now in the Imperial Museum in St. Petersburg, to which it was presented by General Gyrdow. He obtained it from some unknown source after the Abbey of St. Germaine des Pres, in which it was kept, was destroyed by fire. This ring is said to have wrought many miracles, cured the diseases of thousands of people, reconciled thousands of married couples who had quarrelled, and for centuries was one of the most revered objects on the earth.

Nervous, irritable people are very trying to live with; we speak feelingly. To all such we recommend "The D & L" Emulsion. It is prescribed by the leading physicians and used in the principal hospitals.

BOBOLINK CHIMES.

The chime of bobolinks hold.
A whirr of wings o'er clovered meadows,
The gleam of a harness and crown,
And low on the swaying maple
A bobolink settles down.
A chime as if from bells of silver
Over the clover soft doth float,
E'er yet the rapturous song-burst
Outpours from the feathered throat.
A whirr of wings, a gleam of yellow,
Faint-heard notes, and into the throng
Of clover heads gentle nodding
Drops softly the bird and song.
As Wordsworth saw in dreamy wakings
Daffodils nodding in seas of gold,
For me the hills and meadows will

THE THUMB STRING.

A Simple Little Trick Which May Be Made Very Puzzling.

This is a very simple trick, but by performing it swiftly you may surprise and puzzle a spectator very much.

Wind a piece of string about your thumb, thus: Let one end of it (A) drop between the thumb and forefinger of your left hand; then wind the other part, which you retain in your right hand, two or three times round your thumb; next make a little loop (B) with the same end, which hold between your finger and thumb.

Now let go the end (C) and take hold of the end (A), which you must have left, about six or eight inches long, and you may make a spectator fancy you pass it through the loop, and take hold of it again when so passed through in the twinkling of an eye.

To increase the surprise you may make the loop as small as possible. This apparent piece of manual dexterity is performed by passing that end of the string marked A as quickly as possible around the top of the thumb, so as to come between the forefinger and thumb. It will thus get into the loop, and you will seem to have passed the end through it, much to the wonderment of the audience at the seeming impossibility of such a thing.

FORCE OF HABIT.

Grandpa's Shoes and a Little Sermon For Girls and Boys.

Ned was watching grandpa put on his shoes. "Why do you turn 'em over to shake 'em before you put 'em on?" he asked.

"Did I?" said grandpa. "Why, yes, you did; but I didn't see anything come out. I have to shake the sand out of my shoes most every morning."

Grandpa laughed. "I didn't notice that I shook my shoes, Ned, but I got the habit of shaking my shoes every time before putting them on when I was in India."

"Why did you do it there?" "To shake out scorpions or centipedes or other vermin that might be hidden in them."

"But you don't need to do it here, for we don't have such things." "I know; but I formed the habit, and now I do it without thinking."

"Habit is a queer thing isn't it?" said Ned.

"It's a very strong thing," said grandpa. "Remember that, my boy. A habit is a chain that grows stronger every day, and it seems as if a bad habit grows stronger faster than a good one. If you want to have good habits when you are old, form them while you are young and let them be growing strong all the while you live."—Mayflower.

A Monument of Gold.

If you should be fortunate enough to take a trip to China and visit Yangtse you would see a monument of which the Chinese are very proud. Well they should be, for it is the only one in the world of its kind. It is of pure gold and because of its great value is attached to the roof of the pagoda where it stands with heavy chains of strong iron. This monument is an object of great curiosity and because of its value—being worth a million dollars—has to be guarded night and day lest robbers take it away. Several attacks have been made upon the Brahmins who guard it, but so far it has been bravely defended by them.

An Obstacle Game.

Who can tell what an obstacle game is? It is great fun. Set stools, chairs, tables—anything that is an obstacle—in the most inconvenient places in a room. Let those who are to take part in the game have two minutes to get their bearings. Then they leave the room and come back in a moment blindfolded. In the meantime all the obstacles have been removed, but the warning cries of "Look out!" and the absurd attempts of the players to remember where the obstacles were make much fun.

A Problem in Three.

If three little houses stood in a row,
With never a fence to divide,
And if each little house had three little maids,
At play in the garden wide,
And if each little maid had three little cats,
(Three times three times three),
And if each little cat had three little kits,
How many kits would there be?

And if each little maid had three little friends
With whom she loved to play,
And if each little friend had three little dolls,
In dresses and ribbons gay,
And if friends and dolls and cats and kits
Were all invited to tea,
And if none of them should send regrets,
How many guests would there be?

Tea Flavor and Strength

THE greater body and richness of Indian tea when combined with the delicately flavored but thinner tea of Ceylon, produces that "rich fruity flavor" of Red Rose Tea—a tea that is strong and goes further—requires less to make a cup of equal strength than any brand of Ceylon tea alone.

Red Rose Tea combines the strength and richness of Indian tea and the delicacy and fragrance of Ceylon tea.

Red Rose Tea is good Tea

THE BEST THING THAT COULD HAVE HAPPENED.

Lord Thurlow, one of the ablest of English lord chancellors, was a most uncomfortable man to be associated with. He never learned self-control, and his explosions of temper on the slightest provocation were appalling.

On one occasion, however, one of his lordship's conferees, greatly daring, expressed an opinion of Thurlow's temper without violating courtesy, and with a wit worthy of Talleyrand, Lord Thurlow came late to an important cabinet meeting, and apologized for his tardiness by saying that he had a fracas with a cabman and lost his temper.

The colleague answered, quietly: "Lost your temper, my lord? I congratulate you heartily. I hope you may never find it, for it was the most villainous temper that I ever knew."

Wit should be used as a shield for defense rather than as a sword to wound others.

Tell me with whom thou art found and I will tell thee who thou art.

Use Armour's Extract of Beef in the Right Way.

Those accustomed to ordinary beef extracts and fluid beef usually use three or four times too much of Armour's. If a recipe called for one spoonful of salt and you put in 4, the dish would be briney.

ARMOUR'S is pure Extract of Beef—highly concentrated. One-quarter teaspoonful is sufficient to make a cup of beef broth, bouillon, etc., etc.

By the addition of a small quantity of Armour's Extract of beef you can restore the juices to yesterday's roast or give a rich, beefy flavor and color to gravies, sauces and left-overs that will make them appetizing and attractive. Sold by all Druggists and Grocers.
