

THE ACADIAN.

Honored and Respected.
(Hortonville, Wis., Record.)

Hortonville and vicinity never experienced so great a loss through the death of a person as now in the death of Henry D. Hardacker, M. D., which occurred Sunday afternoon, March 25th, 1900, at 3:30 o'clock. The doctor had been in rather poor health for some time, but always faithfully and promptly attended to all calls made upon him until in June, 1899, he became so ill that with a painful stomach trouble and he was compelled to relinquish his practice and himself receive medical aid. Throughout the long nine months of his sickness, all that professional skill and kind and careful attendance were capable of rendering for the restoration of his health was done with unceasing and untiring devotion. Contrary to the hopes of all, and contrary to all human efforts, his constitution, which was so shattered and overworn, could not be restored, and the repeated relapses made it apparent to everyone for several months previous, that death was imminent. Hence it was that when death finally came, it caused no surprise in the community but everyone regretted his early demise.

Henry David Hardacker was born in Muskego township, Waukesha county, Wis., April 16, 1846. His father with his family came to a farm near Hortonville 52 years ago. Nine years later the father died, leaving the family in a condition such that only those who have seen it through can appreciate it. He was not alone, but Harry met the new experience with a courage and perseverance beyond his years. It is needless to say he succeeded. Soon he was able not only to care for himself, but to render assistance to other members of the family.

In the spring of 1867 he entered law school as a student, determined to qualify himself for a professional life. While many in the university manifested experimental qualities, he manifested only such qualities as win the mastery. He had no desire to rely upon him. He studied law at Lawrence in 1872, and at once began the study of medicine with Dr. Stansbury, of Appleton. In 1873 he entered the Medical college of Chicago, from which he graduated in 1875. After receiving his diploma he located at Seymour, but six months later came to Hortonville, where he has continued for 25 years.

As a practitioner he was kind and attentive, and successful beyond the average. We never knew a physician so universally loved and whose sickness and death were so deeply mourned.

As a citizen he was intelligent and patriotic. He was the ardent friend and advocate of educational interests of the village.

As a friend he was kind and true. Charity was a cardinal virtue in his life, going day by day or night to treat the poor as promptly as he went to the home of wealth.

In his home life he was without a fault, kind and true as a husband and father. A wife, two sons and a daughter are left to mourn.

The funeral took place from his late residence Wednesday forenoon. The services were conducted by Rev. J. B. Cole, pastor of the Methodist church, assisted by Mrs. Griffin and Cooper. At the grave the impressive ceremonies were in charge of the Modern Woodmen, of which society the deceased was also largely represented from neighboring towns. The attendance at the funeral was probably the largest ever seen in Hortonville. The offering of flowers was great, and a sweet token of the esteem in which his friends held him.

[The subject of the above sketch was a nephew of Mr. Norman Hardacker, of Grand Pre. His father, James Hardacker, left here when a young man.—Ed.]

AN EASY WAY TO SAVE MONEY.

DIAMOND DYES
Used by All Economical Women.

Don't throw away your old blouse, skirt, waist or dress simply because you are tired of the color or because it is faded or soiled.

Buy a ten cent package of Diamond Dyes and with little work you can produce a garment that looks like new.

If you make over clothing for yourself or the children, be sure to dye it with the new colors of the Diamond Dyes.

By virtue of its unique qualities, Diamond Dyes and no others. Direction Book and Card of 48 Colors sent free to any address. Wells & Richardson Co., 200 Mountain St., Montreal, P. Q.

Prince of Wales May Visit Canada.

The Montreal Star publishes the following from its special correspondent, London, April 7: "Although no definite statement has yet been made it is generally believed that the Prince of Wales will certainly visit Canada during the coming summer. The idea to do so was suggested some time ago, and has been further quickened by the success of the Queen's visit to Ireland."

"The crazy attempt on his life at Brussels will also, it is probable, still further influence him to a Canadian trip as showing that he does not entertain any fears from travelling abroad."

"The desire of Canada to entertain the prince is strong, and a further expression within the last few days. His Royal Highness is said to have received assurance from Sir Wilfred Laurier, that the whole Dominion will welcome him."

C. C. RICHARDS & CO.

Dear Sirs—For some years I have had only partial use of my arm, caused by a sudden attack. I have used every remedy without effect. I am in constant search of MINARD'S LINIMENT. The benefit I received from it caused me to continue its use, and now I am happy to say my arm is completely restored.

R. W. HARRISON,
Glasgow, Ont.

I know why we never sit down, mamma," said little George.

"Why is it, dear?" asked his mother.

"Because," was the reply, "they have pins in their wet tails and are afraid to."

When I change up the amount the carrier shipped it to fit and lost a quantity and now I am in trouble again."

"I'm sorry," replied the head of the firm.

"Dot added: "And for pity's sake, please, too, and let us have peace in the family."

Minard's Liniment Colds, etc.

From Pain to Health.

CHIPPEWA LADY TELLS A STORY OF SUFFERING AND RELEASE.

Suffered From Heart Trouble for Years—Her Misery Further Aggravated by Kidney and Stomach Troubles.

From the Star, St. Catharines, Ont.

In the village of Chippewa, and along the Niagara frontier, there is probably no better known or respected residents than Mr. and Mrs. David Schobel. Both of that of German descent and dispense of that old-fashioned hospitality so often found in the featherbed. To a correspondent of the St. Catharines Star, who recently called at Mr. Schobel's home, Mrs. Schobel related the following story:

"Years ago my physician told me I had heart disease. I have been troubled at intervals with palpitation and severe pain, and sometimes my heart would almost cease to beat. I would become dizzy, restless and frightened. At other times I slept badly and had trouble sleeping, which was a source of great trouble to me. I had to give up my work, and my health grew worse. My physician's treatment would some times slightly benefit me, then again I was worse than ever. Finally, after all hope was apparently gone and a large sum of money had been thrown away for medicines, that did me no good, a Dr. William Fink Pills, and I was told to take them.

"I had no desire to rely upon him, but Harry met the new experience with a courage and perseverance beyond his years. It is needless to say he succeeded. Soon he was able not only to care for himself, but to render assistance to other members of the family.

In the spring of 1897 he entered law school as a student, determined to qualify himself for a professional life.

While many in the university manifested experimental qualities, he manifested only such qualities as win the mastery.

He had no desire to rely upon him.

He studied law at Lawrence in 1872, and at once began the study of medicine with Dr. Stansbury, of Appleton. In 1873 he entered the Medical college of Chicago, from which he graduated in 1875. After receiving his diploma he located at Seymour, but six months later came to Hortonville, where he has continued for 25 years.

As a practitioner he was kind and attentive, and successful beyond the average. We never knew a physician so universally loved and whose sickness and death were so deeply mourned.

As a citizen he was intelligent and patriotic. He was the ardent friend and advocate of educational interests of the village.

As a friend he was kind and true.

Charity was a cardinal virtue in his life, going day by day or night to treat the poor as promptly as he went to the home of wealth.

In his home life he was without a fault, kind and true as a husband and father. A wife, two sons and a daughter are left to mourn.

The funeral took place from his late residence Wednesday forenoon.

The services were conducted by Rev. J. B. Cole, pastor of the Methodist church, assisted by Mrs. Griffin and Cooper. At the grave the impressive ceremonies were in charge of the Modern Woodmen, of which society the deceased was also largely represented from neighboring towns.

The attendance at the funeral was probably the largest ever seen in Hortonville. The offering of flowers was great, and a sweet token of the esteem in which his friends held him.

[The subject of the above sketch was a nephew of Mr. Norman Hardacker, of Grand Pre. His father, James Hardacker, left here when a young man.—Ed.]

AN EASY WAY TO SAVE MONEY.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES DISTEMPER.

Deceitful But Brave.

He had been out late. When he reached his residence, the clock was chiming 5. Heavy, weary, disgusted, he opened the front door with some difficulty and softly toiled up the stairs, entering the bedchamber with elaborate caution.

Thank goodness, she was asleep!

He dropped into a chair without taking off his coat or hat, began to remove his shoes. One he placed with great care upon the floor, but, alas, as he took off the other it slipped off his hand and fell with a loud noise.

"Wife!" awoke on the instant.

She looked at him and then at the sound that streamed through the blinds.

"Why, George, what are you getting up so early for?"

Talk about surprises!

"Why, my dearest," replied George, with the clearest enunciation of which he was capable, "I found I couldn't sleep, so I thought I'd get up and go out and take a walk."

And out the poor wretch went, dragging himself round wearily with an hour upon the verge of tears and torpor.

Gleaned by the Way.

Don't fool with a wimp as he is.

If you make over clothing for yourself or the children, be sure to dye it with the new colors of the Diamond Dyes.

By virtue of its unique qualities, Diamond Dyes and no others. Direction Book and Card of 48 Colors sent free to any address. Wells & Richardson Co., 200 Mountain St., Montreal, P. Q.

Prince of Wales May Visit Canada.

The Montreal Star publishes the following from its special correspondent, London, April 7: "Although no definite statement has yet been made it is generally believed that the Prince of Wales will certainly visit Canada during the coming summer. The idea to do so was suggested some time ago, and has been further quickened by the success of the Queen's visit to Ireland."

"The crazy attempt on his life at Brussels will also, it is probable, still further influence him to a Canadian trip as showing that he does not entertain any fears from travelling abroad."

"The desire of Canada to entertain the prince is strong, and a further expression within the last few days. His Royal Highness is said to have received assurance from Sir Wilfred Laurier, that the whole Dominion will welcome him."

C. C. RICHARDS & CO.

Dear Sirs—For some years I have had only partial use of my arm, caused by a sudden attack. I have used every remedy without effect. I am in constant search of MINARD'S LINIMENT. The benefit I received from it caused me to continue its use, and now I am happy to say my arm is completely restored.

R. W. HARRISON,
Glasgow, Ont.

I know why we never sit down, mamma," said little George.

"Why is it, dear?" asked his mother.

"Because," was the reply, "they have pins in their wet tails and are afraid to."

When I change up the amount the carrier shipped it to fit and lost a quantity and now I am in trouble again."

"I'm sorry," replied the head of the firm.

"Dot added: "And for pity's sake, please, too, and let us have peace in the family."

Minard's Liniment Colds, etc.

On one evening little four-year-old Dorothy had failed to remember her father in her prayer because he had sealed her.

"You must pray for papa, too, Dot," said her mother.

"But I don't want to," replied the little girl.

"But you must, Dot," added her mother.

"Dropping upon her knees again, Dot added: "And for pity's sake, please, papa, too, and let us have peace in the family."

Minard's Liniment Colds, etc.

A well-known cleric was addressing a congregation of seafarers at a water-side.

Thinking to be impressive he pictured a ship trying to enter a harbor against a head wind. Unfortunately for the success of the metaphor, his ignorance of seamanship placed the ship in several singular positions.

What shall we do next? he cried.

Come off down the bridge, cried an old tar in disgust, an' lemme take command, or ye'll ave us all on the rocks in another second!

A CARD.

I, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the amount of a twenty-five cent bill.

After using three-fourths of content of bottle, they do not return Contaminated and Headache. I also warrant that four bottles will permanently cure the most obstinate case of constipation.

Satisfaction or pay back W.H. Engleman.

GEORGE V. BAND, Druggist, Wolfville, N. S.

Minard's Liniment Colds, etc.

I know why we never sit down, mamma," said little George.

"Why is it, dear?" asked his mother.

"Because," was the reply, "they have pins in their wet tails and are afraid to."

When I change up the amount the carrier shipped it to fit and lost a quantity and now I am in trouble again."

"I'm sorry," replied the head of the firm.

"Dot added: "And for pity's sake, please, too, and let us have peace in the family."

Minard's Liniment Colds, etc.

A well-known cleric was addressing a congregation of seafarers at a water-side.

Thinking to be impressive he pictured a ship trying to enter a harbor against a head wind. Unfortunately for the success of the metaphor, his ignorance of seamanship placed the ship in several singular positions.

What shall we do next? he cried.

Come off down the bridge, cried an old tar in disgust, an' lemme take command, or ye'll ave us all on the rocks in another second!

A CARD.

I, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the amount of a twenty-five cent bill.

After using three-fourths of content of bottle, they do not return Contaminated and Headache. I also warrant that four bottles will permanently cure the most obstinate case of constipation.

Satisfaction or pay back W.H. Engleman.

GEORGE V. BAND, Druggist, Wolfville, N. S.

Minard's Liniment Colds, etc.

I know why we never sit down, mamma," said little George.

"Why is it, dear?" asked his mother.

"Because," was the reply, "they have pins in their wet tails and are afraid to."

When I change up the amount the carrier shipped it to fit and lost a quantity and now I am in trouble again."

"I'm sorry," replied the head of the firm.

"Dot added: "And for pity's sake, please, too, and let us have peace in the family."

Minard's Liniment Colds, etc.

I know why we never sit down, mamma," said little George.

"Why is it, dear?" asked his mother.

"Because," was the reply, "they have pins in their wet tails and are afraid to."

When I change up the amount