

CARLIKE.

BREXIT, April 23.—The North German Gazette (Bismarck's Organ), in a further article on the possibility of war between France and Germany, says it has no doubt that France would take the first suitable opportunity to revenge herself upon Germany. The Gazette remarks, however, that if Germany should resort to such a course, it would be a grave and dangerous error, and that they have made great strides in military strength since the revolution.

Seven men-of-war have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness to sail from Constantinople at an hour's notice. An order prohibiting the circulation of Greek newspapers in Turkey has been issued.

Tuesday night the Turkish advance posts attempted to surprise the Greeks who had been engaged on the previous day in erecting earthworks within what is alleged to be a neutral line. Their effort was not successful, they being smartly repulsed by the Greeks who pursued the Turks and captured two of their guns. The Greeks then occupied three positions within Turkish territory which the Greek government has ordered them to evacuate.

King George is preparing to go to the theatre where 100,000 troops are in readiness for the beginning of hostilities.

THE DISASTER TO THE OREGON.

Shipping men of New York city are now certain that it was the three-masted schooner Charles H. Morse, of New York, built in Bath in 1880, which struck the Oregon that fatal blow, and soon after went down herself with all on board. The Morse is the only vessel not heard from of a great fleet of twenty schooners which sailed on March 11 from Hampton Roads, and every other craft likely to have been near the scene of the collision has been accounted for.

On board the Morse were nine men, all of whom were Americans. Of these the names of five are known, as follows: E. A. Hanson, Jr., J. W. Wiles, E. W. McMahon, Mr. Holland and Mr. Blaisdell. In addition to these five there were four other men whose names are unknown, all of whom lived in Maine. The officers of the Oregon said they saw no light lights on the schooner. This is commonly said by officers of ships that have been in collision with the Morse was fitted with the best of light and all modern appliances for securing her safety and that of her crew. It is unjust to the memory of these men to say that they were asleep at their posts or negligent in their duty. They had the right of way, and had a right to suppose that the steamer would keep clear of them.

THE STRY SUFFERERS.

YENNA, April 21.—The conditions of affairs at Yenna among the people who lost their homes by the great fire is most pitiable. Most of the victims are without food or means and are rendered desperate by the thought of starvation. Farmers in the vicinity have been visited by mobs of men, who have first demanded food and then, if refused, stolen it. The owners of farms are now compelled to barricade their homes as the only way to escape from being plundered by the mob, which on account of hunger is becoming uncontrollable. Numerous struggles for food resulting in bloodshed have taken place. All the public archives of Stry were destroyed by the fire. It will be necessary to ask grants of money from the Landtag Diet and Reichstag to relieve the distress of thousands of destitute people. Search for the remains of persons who lost their lives during the conflagration has been proceeding as rapidly as circumstances would allow. Thus far 68 bodies, charred so as to make recognition difficult, have been taken from the ruins. There have been 20 deaths in the fields since Sunday of invalids, young and old, who were taken out of the town to avoid the flames.

REBELLIOUS CONVICTS.

MONTREAL, April 25.—A very curious outbreak took place Saturday afternoon at St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary, Quebec, the convicts revolting against the authority of the guards. The first sign of insubordination occurred in the stone shed where about forty convicts were working under the supervision of six guards. When suddenly a man named Van, who was sentenced to seven years for escaping from prison, put up his hands and immediately the convicts stopped working, seized the guards, and simultaneously relieved them of their revolvers, and bound them. The revolt soon spread to another shed, where the same process was repeated. Chief Warden Laviolette then appeared on the scene and was also gagged and bound. Then the convicts went to the tailor's shop, where they endeavored to escape over the stone wall. Reinforcements of guards arrived and commenced firing with fatal results. A man named Corney was shot, the bullet went in at the back of his neck and came out of his mouth. Luckily, none of his convicts escaped, but all the ringleaders were strongly secured.

A TERRIBLE CALAMITY.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., April 20.—At six o'clock this morning the village of East Lee was inundated and devastated by the breaking away of the dam at Mud Pond reservoir, Mountain Lake, about two and a half miles from the village. The pond covered many acres of swamp and was increased from its original limited size by extensive dams, built by a club of manufacturers. It is a storage place for the water for East Lee village, whose half dozen paper mills are situated on its stream. The village got its first news of the accident by seeing the flood pour down its streets, the water being from four to six feet deep and bearing with it trees, parts of houses, and barns, fences, wagons, and every form of movable property. The people fled in the slopes of the valley along which the torrent was pouring, and saw their houses moved and tossed about like chips on a river. The flood passed East Lee and went on down the road destroying gardens, lawns, fences, and moving smaller buildings, though it had not the power to utterly wreck large houses. The damage done will cost up many thousands of dollars. As soon as possible the people went up the line of flood toward the pond, and found the ruin worse as they approached the starting point of the torrent. Three or four houses were wrecked and much stock is lost. Explorers have already found the bodies of nine persons and are searching for others. The scene is one of wild desolation and destruction, and the whole town of Lee is in a state of excitement.

Failing.

That is what a great many people are doing. They don't know just what the matter is, but they have a combination of pains and aches, and each month they give more.

The only sure remedy yet found is Davis' Quinine Iron and Wine, and this by rapid and thorough assimilation with the blood, purifies and enriches it, and rich, strong blood having to every part of the system repairs the wasted tissues, drives out disease and gives health and strength.

This is why Davis' Quinine Iron and Wine will cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, Malaria, Intermittent Fevers, General Debility, etc.

Geo. H. Davis, Esq.

Dear Sir,—In answer to your letter of inquiry relative to the benefit derived from Davis' Quinine Iron and Wine, allow me to say that I consider it a wonder, and the best tonic I have ever used, having tried several others without being benefited any. I was induced to try your Quinine Iron and Wine, and am now a new man, having gained by its use my former strength and activity, and as for my appetite, it never was better.

Very truly yours,

ELIJAH NAVES.

Davis' Quinine Iron and Wine is not a drink, it does not contain whiskey. It is a simple preparation of Iron and Quinine that causes no injurious effects. Get the Genuine. Ask for Davis' and take no other.
