> An Earthquake in England. At 9.30 on Tuesday an earthquake snock was felt in the eastern counties of England.
> At Ipswich the walls of the houses were haken, plates were rattled and bells rung. people were thrown into such a state f consternation that business was suspended he shock was still more severe at Colchester. The concussion lasted half a minute. The first symptom was a deep rumbling sound, which was speedily followed by a quaking and shaking of all the buildings. The tall nimney stacks of factories fell, and other losty structures were destroyed. The spire of one of the largest churches in the city, 150 feet high, fell with an awful crash. In one part of the city a fire was caused by the shock.

In private houses tables and chairs were overturned, glassware shattered, and pictures and other ornaments fell to the floor. Men, women, and children rushed shricking into the streets. At Chelmsford one shock was so severe that he people were filled with terror. At the south end the earth trembled for miles around. The windows in many dwellings were broken and chimneys were demolished. At Maldon the town hall and private houses swayed. The wave passed from the south to north. In the Strand, London, the bus less houses were perceptibly rocked and the employés fled. The duration of the shock at pswich is estimated at three seconds. earthquake has caused a general feeling of Colchester was the centre of the disturbance. In some of the streets traffic is for-bidden, as the buildings are in a dangerous condition. The side walls of houses near Colonester were snaken out. At Ipswich a mansion was shattered and the railway depot partially destroyed. The damage at Colchester is estimated at £10,000. At Colchester a child was killed and a woman's skull was iractured. The woman is in a precarious condition. There were nany narrow escapes. The old parish church looks as if it has been bombarded. An invalid at Wivandve died from terror. The damage there will reach $4,000. At Coggeshail a number of school girls rushed panicstricken into the streets, and many of them were crushed.

Sue left a letter addressed to her mother, in which she says she is going to drown herself, as she cannot help stealing and doesn't want to disgrace her parents and friends. She had broken one of the strict rules of the convent. what one is not known, and had been punished for it. It is possible she may have drowned herself, but the general theory is that she has simply run away.

Some people lack tact. An Oregon widow received $500 at her husband's death on his accident insurance policy. This she devoted to the purchase of a mornment to the dear departed. Before it was erected, however, and three months after the death of No. 1, she took unto herself a No. 2. The day after the wedding the monument was delivered, and the lady, in whose breast conflicting emotions must have struggled, requested her new husband to have the stone taken to the cemetery. This he did, but on the following day a further request was made that he would be so good as to place it in position. This was too much. No. 2 felt that he had to draw the line somewhere, and he accordingly drew it at planting his predecessor's gravestone. A coolness now exists in the family. A Woman Shot and Killed by Her Husband

Boston, April 22 -- James Nichoison today called at a house where his wife has been living for the past three weeks. She asked him into her room. In a few moments a shot was fired. Mrs. Nicholson's brother rushed in and grappled with Nicholson, who had shot his wife in the shoulder. Her brother endeavoured to push him out of the room, when Nicholson exclaimed, "I might as well finish her," and fired again, killing her. The murderer escaped. The cause of the murder is unknown. The couple had not lived together for several months. Nicholion was addicted to drink. When the brother of the woman rushed into the room Mrs. Nicholson was sitting in a chim to be delicated to the control of the woman rushed into the room Mrs. Nicholson was sitting in a chim to the control of the rushed into the room Mrs. Nicholson was atting in a chair holding their infant. The Pope and Freemasonry. In an encyclical letter of the Pope, which will be published this week, Leo XIII. lays special stress upon Freemasonry and the means to be employed to defend "The City of God" against "The City of Satan." The following is a résumé of the letter :- The plan of the secret societies is no longer a mystery. It is a struggle against the Church, and the various Popes have very properly excommunicated Freemasons. Since 150 years the secret societies have increased frightfully, grave peril thus threatens society. The Socialist has his source of strength in Masonry. The Papacy is placed in an intolerable situation. Masonry DOES NOT AVOW ITS REAL OBJECT :

it deceives the innocent by a varnish of toler ation. The press, marriage, education, the sovereignty of the people, the atheism of the State, Radicalism, Communism, all tend toward a return of Paganism. Masonry flat ters princes in the hope of having them for auxiliaries. Governments should choose between Masonry and the Church, which sustains authority and inculcates obedience. DUTY OF THE BISHOPS. The Pope thus prescribes to bishops their duties: -First, by pastoral letters unmask secret societies and make people abhor them; second, extend Christian education; third agriculturists and workingmen to organize atsolic associations and conferences of St. Vincent de Paul; fourth, watch schools and exhort youth never to become members of any society without first consulting their priests. The Pope ends his encyclical by imploring the aid of the blessed Virgin.

There are rumours of the early retirement of Parnell from the leadership of the Nationalist party. Two reasons for this step are riven, one that he is tired of Parliamentary ife, the other that the party is wearied of him. His retirement is obstructed, however, by his recent acceptance of £40,000 of the people's money. The Queen has forwarded a letter to the
