Remedy for Cabbage Worms.

Mr. A. S. Fuller, agricultural editor of the New York Sun, says that the following treatment cures the cabbage worm.

Proms and Color of Honey.

By the color of the honey and the aroma therefrom an experienced bee-keeper can determine the source from which it came.

Good and Bad Mothers.

The careful observer will note a great difference in sows in the care they give their piglets at farrowing.

servation, while those of the careless kind should be allowed to disappear from the farm, no difference how valuable their individual characteristics are.

Hiving a Swarm of Bees.

A farmer bought a patent hive, and, considering he had kept bees all his life, he asked him how he was to get the bees in.

THE ZADOC PINE LABOR UNION

When Zadoc Pine's father died, Zadoc found himself at the North Woods, a few miles from Slabee's Station, 21 years old, 6 feet 1 inch high, in perfect health.

He had gone through the history of the United States, and he had a hazy idea of geography.

When the old father was gone, when Zadoc had paid the last cent of his debt to the storekeeper at Slabee's, the storekeeper, Zadoc, had to get on his feet.

He turned away, and went in the other direction with his companions.

Two of the gentlemen laughed, but the one who had spoken, who seemed a dignified and haughty person, answered in a chilly and discouraging way.

He turned away, and went in the other direction with his companions.

He knew that the little northern railroad at his feet connected with the greater roads.

He knew that the great towns of the State were only a few miles to him.

"Third she is," said Zadoc. "Come up to-morrow morning."

Zadoc went back to Bryan's and went to bed in a narrow, close room, overlooking a hillside back yard.
