The House became attentive when Mr. Laurier, remarking that he understood the superintendent of the Printing Bureau was away, asked if he had leave of absence or if he had not overstayed it?

Sir John Thompson, although Mr. Foster was still on his feet, interjected that the superintendent was away, but he had leave and it had not expired.

"He has chosen a very busy time at which to go away," Mr. Laurier quietly remarked, and the Minister of Justice's response was that arrangements had been made to carry on his work.

There were in the lobbies yesterday disquieting questionings of Mr. Senecal's absence, and the House, during the few minutes' low-toned dialogue, felt as though inutes' low-coned dialogue, felt as though was on the brink of another outbreak. In a Short Time.

When Mr. Ives resumed the bindget debate he endeavored for a time to show that the interests of farmers and manufacturers are identical. He then hastened to deal a blow at the Americans by asserting that a population sufficient to consume our surplus products existed in Europe. The sea and the air, he declared with the voice of a strumper were not the sole property of the surplus products were not the sole property of the surplus were not the surplu

Part of the act relating to the declaration of British subjects would not come into force till January next, as the forms are now out and an immediate change would cause great inconvenience. The bill was read a first time.

DOMINION ELECTIONS ACT.

In introducing the bill to amend the Dominion Elections Act, the Minister of Justice said it proposed that deposits should be made in legal tender or in the bills of any chartered bank doing business in Canada. It was proposed to restrict the transfer of voters by way of agents to two in each polling booth. Provision was made in case of the loss of ballot boxes for taking evidence by the returning officer, and evidence by the returning officer, and thus the talk went on till the Speaker left the chair at 6 o'clock.

Mr. Ives continued to speak an hour after recess, and was followed by Mr. McMilan. He was astonished at the arguments which had been advanced to show that the National Policy had improved the country would be flooded with agricultural products from the United States if we had reciprocity even in natural products; that we would suffer from this as we had suffered from the influx of American manufactured goods before the National Policy was imposed. The member for Huron quoted strictions of the loss of ballot boxes for taking evidence by the returning officer, and in case of the loss of ballot boxes for taking evidence by the returning officer, and necessary machinery was provided for getting an order from the Superior Court judge compelling a County Court judge to make a recount where the aggrieved party was entitled to it. The bill was read a first time.

Sir John Thompson and to two in we would suffer from this as we had suffered from the influx of American manufactured goods before the National Policy was imposed. He held that our interests while we retained our national existence was to have the closest relations that we could with that country.

All the talk about honorable gentlemen opposite going to Washington was a complete humbug. There was nothing in it. (Cheers and laughter.) Unrestricted reciprocity would be one of the greatest blessings that could be bestowed upon the greatest of Canadi in general and the farmers.

Safe, Sure and Painless.

Whata world of meaning this statement embodies. Just what you are looking for, is it not? Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor—the great sure-pop corn cure—acts in this way. It makes no sore spots; safe, acts speedily and with certainty; sure and mildly, without in flaming the parts; prinlessly. Do not be imposed upon by imitations or substitutes.
